THREE MEN ADMIT PART IN $4056 PAYROLL ROBBERY

They and Two Other Prisoners Are Said to Have Confessed Taking Auto Used in Holdup Aug. 21.

THIRD ROBBER ARRESTED TODAY

One Prisoner Tells of Getting Part of Loot—Several Are Wanted in Connection With Other Crimes.

Five youths, three of whom admit having taken part in the National Refrigerators Co. payroll robbery of Aug. 21, and four of whom admit that they participated in the theft of the automobile which was used in the robbery, or of other cars, were held today at Police Headquarters. Different ones among the prisoners also confess figuring in two other recent crimes.

Harry Schmelzer, 23 years old, of 3712 Olive street, who was recently an automobile demonstrator, was the first one arrested. He had been talking of the payroll robbery to his wife, Mildred Schmelzer, whom he married six months ago, and to others.

Schmelzer, when questioned by detectives, admitted that he stole and drove away an automobile from Seventh street and Lucas avenue the morning of Aug. 21, and that on the same morning, at 9:45, he and two companions held up Herman J. Hinsman, office manager of the National Refrigerators Co., at the Koeln avenue crossing of the Missouri Pacific tracks, after one of the robbers had lowered the crossing gates to bring Hinsman's car to a stop. The robbers took $4056.10 of payroll money from Hinsman.

Didn't Get Full Share.

Schmelzer said he was to have received one-fourth of the proceeds of the robbery, or a little more than $1000, but that he was unable to look after getting his share, as he was busy in driving the car in the flight from the scene of the robbery. He said that, at King's highway and Magnolia avenue, where they abandoned the car and separated, one of the others put a roll of bills into his pocket, saying that it was $1000; but he found later that it was only $400. He said he lost the money in gambling.

Roy Mills, 19, of 2628 Locust street, was arrested after Schmelzer had named him as one of the payroll robbers. He admitted taking part in the robbery and in taking the car, and he admitted also that he shot Stephen Hoffman of 4530 Davidson avenue, at Union boulevard and Lilian avenue, Saturday night. Hoffman is in the City Hospital, wounded in the stomach. Mills said he and David George Collins shot Hoffman, after a quarrel which resulted from a collision with Mrs. Hoffman on the sidewalk. He declared they were not trying to rob either of the Hoffmans.

Tells of Stealing Auto.

Collins, who is 18 years old, and who lives at 2401A Cora avenue, admitted being with Mills when Hoffman was shot, and he admitted also having had part in the theft of a Chandler automobile, last Tuesday, from King's highway and Westminster place. This automobile was stripped of its tires, and was taken to a shed in the neighborhood of Lilian and Emerson avenues.

The fourth of the prisoners, Christy Fisher, 22, a machinist, of 6044 Horton place, admits having had part in the theft of the Chandler car, and in the robbery, last Tuesday, of William G. Bowman of 5338 North Broadway, from whom $23 and his automobile were taken, at King's highway and Northland avenue. The automobile was used to carry the parts of the Chandler car to their hiding place, and was later abandoned.

Mills has also admitted having part in the Bowman robbery, and he said he got $600 in the payroll robbery, of which he had only a few dollars left, having spent the rest in a trip to Chicago.

Fifth Man Arrested.

Charles Clayton Adams, 20, who says his home is in Erie, Pa., and who was arrested today as a suspect in the payroll robbery investigation, confessed this afternoon that he had participated in the affair. Adams was arrested June 30, last, with Mills, at Sixth and Market streets, and charged with attempting to rob a drunken man. That case was dismissed. After his arrest today he told patrolmen he once served a 70-day sentence in Kansas City on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Schmelzer's police record shows that in 1913 he was cited before the Juvenile Court on a charge of stealing a bicycle and was discharged. In 1918 he was fined $25 in the Court of Criminal Correction on a charge of stealing a laprobe from an automobile.

'LIQUOR QUESTION AS DEAD AS SLAVERY,' SAYS GOV. COX

Question Is One of Law Enforcement Now, He Declares in Speech in Oregon.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—A statement that the liquor question "is as dead as slavery" and that the present question is one of law enforcement was made here by Gov. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, to a large audience at the Auditorium today. His statement was a reply to a question shouted from the gallery.

OLIVE THOMAS' DEATH RESULT OF ACCIDENT, DOCTORS AGREE

Due to "Poisoning Through Intoxication With a Sublimate," Conclusion at Autopsy.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The autopsy on the body of Olive Thomas, American motion picture actress, who died in the American hospital at Neuilly last Friday, was performed today by Dr. Paul, official physician of the city of Paris, in the presence of five American doctors.

Dr. Joseph Choate, who had charge of Miss Thomas during her illness, represented her family.

The doctors concluded that death was due to "poisoning through intoxication with a sublimate" taken accidentally.

Judge Pamart now has the matter under advisement and probably this evening or early tomorrow will issue a permit for removal of the body.

MAIL PLANES LEAVE 5 CITIES IN COAST-TO-COAST SERVICE

New York, San Francisco, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Chicago Terminal Points.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—An extensive daily coast-to-coast air mail service was opened today when planes left five cities for points across the continent. One plane will leave every morning from New York with mail for San Francisco, one from San Francisco for New York, one from Cheyenne, Wyo., to San Francisco, one from Salt Lake City to San Francisco, one from Chicago to San Francisco, every day except Sunday, and one from Chicago to New York every day except Monday.

The first of the Chicago planes to operate under the new schedule left here at 6 o'clock this morning for San Francisco piloted by J. P. Christensen. Each of the planes will carry 800 pounds of mail.

$896,925 LOAN TO TERMINAL APPROVED BY COMMISSION

Money to Aid in Meeting Maturing Obligations, Additions and Betterments.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Approval of a loan of $6,073,400 to the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co. and $986,925 to the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis was announced today by the Interstate Commersce Commission.

The loan to the Terminal Railroad Association is to aid in meeting maturing obligations and in making additions and betterments, the commission said.

It was said at the office of Henry Miller, president of the Terminal Railroad Association, that the Government loan was to cover improvements and betterments under way, such as extention of the Terminal machine shops in Brooklyn, the replacing of tracks and similar work.

Gen. Pershing's Sixtieth Birthday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Gen. Pershing celebrated at his home here today his sixtieth birthday, and, incidentally, the anniversary of the second day of the battle of St. Mihiel, the first all-American major offensive against the German army. Only members of his staff and a few guests attended the celebration.

MACSWINEY LOW ON 32ND DAY OF HUNGER STRIKE

Cork Mayor in State of Collapse and Suffering Severe Pains; Family Remains at Bedside.

10,000 IN GLASGOW HOLD DEMONSTRATION

Protests Made Against Imprisonment—Many Visitors Call at Brixton Prison, but Few Are Admitted.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, was in a state of collapse and exhaustion this morning at Brixton Prison, where he is continuing his hunger strike. This is the thirty-second day of his fast. MacSwiney passed a bad and restless night, according to a bulletin issued early today by the Irish Self-Determination League.

Mrs. MacSwiney, when she left Brixton prison last evening, told the correspondents that the Lord Mayor was still suffering severe pains. Members of the family were at the bedside all day, and a number of visitors from Cork called at the prison, but only a few of them were admitted.

Mrs. F. Sheehey Skeffington, whose husband was executed at Dublin, talked with some of the relatives within the prison, but did not see the Lord Mayor.

Ten thousand persons participated in a demonstration in Glasgow yesterday afternoon in protest against MacSwiney's imprisonment. A similar gathering was held at Bermondsey.

Appeal for Hunger Strikers.

Mrs. MacSwiney and the Lord Mayor's sisters, Mary and Annie, and his brother, Sean, have addressed an apeal to the American Ambassador and the heads of the other embassies and legations in London for submission to their Governments. It calls attention to the case of the Lord Mayor and that of the 11 hunger strikers at Cork, and expresses the hope that the united councils of the nations addressed "will prevent the tragedy now pending and thereby calm the peoples of the world."

MacCurtain's Murder Cited.

The letter deals fully with Mayor MacSwiney's case from the date of his arrest to the present time and says:

"The Lord Mayor MacCurtain was murdered for the same reason for which Lord Mayor McSwiney is being murdered now—because he was fighting for self-determination for his country. If the present tragedy is allowed to proceed we are confronted with the unparalleled crime of two Lord Mayors of the same city being murdered within six months of each other by a supposedly civilized Government.

"We are of the opinion that this is of grave concern for all Governments. Owing to the very close relations existing between modern nations, a Government outrage in one country reacts in another. It is clear to us that if the crimes now perpetrated in Ireland in the name of the English Government are tolerated the foundations of the Governments of all nations will be imperiled."

11 Hunger Strikers in Cork Jail Alive but Weak.

By the Associated Press.

CORK, Sept. 13.—The 11 hunger strikers in the Cork jail were still alive today, but all of them were materially weak. Two of the striking prisoners, Burke and Kenny, collapsed twice during the night, and their condition is causing especial anxiety.

Sean Kennessy, the 19-year-old youth whose condition has been grave for several days, remains in a comatose state, and in his semi-conscious moments refused to take the customary quantity of water. During last night he accepted only two sips.

All of the 11 strikers are becoming very restless, which, according to the doctors, is a new and not reassuring phase of their cases.

It was learned today that both the Government physicians, Dr. Pearson and Dr. Battiscombe, had received death threats.

6000 Attend Funeral of Slain Irish Volunteer.

By the Associated Press.

CORK, Sept. 13.—The funeral of Seumas Quirke, a young volunteer killed in Thursday's disturbances at Galway, brought out virtually every able-bodied man and woman in Cork yesterday afternoon. There was an entire absence of disorder. The military, as on the occasion of the funeral of the slain Lord Mayor MacCurtain here last April, remained in barracks.

Whether by accident or design, the hearse and company of uniformed volunteers heading the long procession stopped for a few minutes at the

THREE GARAGES TO ONE HOME BEING BUILT IN PITTSBURG

High Wages Permit Purchase of Autos, but Workers Find Building Costs Prohibitive.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—Three garages to one dwelling is the proportion in which buildings are being erected in Pittsburg, according to figures compiled by the bureau of building inspection covering the three important months of the building season—May, June and July.

High wages, permitting the purchase of automobiles by workers, is given as the cause of the enormous increase in garage construction while the high cost of building is assigned as the reason why more people are not building their homes.

Recent wage scales signed by contractors and the building trades give carpenters $1.20 an hour, bricklayers a substantial advance and hodcarriers $1 an hour, while laborers on building construction are to get 80 cents an hour.

In spite of the demand for houses, not a residence building permit has been issued in seven of the 27 wards of the city for weeks.

WOMAN MOVED SO CHILD MIGHT BE BORN OUTSIDE OF PRISON

Husband, in Death Cell, Not Notified—She Was Convicted of Murder.

By the Associated Press.

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Pearl B. O'Dell, Rochester girl, convicted of the murder of Edward Kneipp, a former admirer, and now serving 20 years in Auburn Prison for Women, was removed to a local hospital yesterday under a new State law in order that her child might be born outside of prison. Last night a girl was born.

The father, James O'Dell, is in a death cell in Sing Sing under sentence of electrocution. He was not notified.

STRIKING VAN TEAMSTERS CHALLENGE OWNERS TO DEBATE

Would Hold Event at Madison Square Garden With Third of Space Open to Public.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A unique suggestion for settlement of a labor controversy was offered today when the strike committee of the Van Teamsters' Union, Local No. 273, challenged the Van Owners' Association to debate the issues of the teamsters' strike, which started last week, in Madison Square Garden. The teamsters suggested that two-thirds of the garden be allotted equally to friends of the contending parties and the remaining third thrown open to the public.

MINE OPERATOR FOUND SHOT TO DEATH; WIFE ARRESTED

Mrs. Charles Dorman Refuses to Make Statement About Killing in Home at Treece, Kan.

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Charles Dorman, 24 years old, is held in the Cherokee County jail at Columbus, Kan., in connection with the death of her husband, a mine operator who was found dead in his home at Treece, Kan., early Sunday morning with a bullet wound in his head and another in his chest. Mrs. Dorma nhas refused to make a statement.

RENTAL ARBITRATION BOARD

Kansas City Body Will Try to Unite Landlords and Tenants.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—A board to arbitrate disagreements between landlords and tenants was recently appointed by the real estate board here at the suggestion of Mayor Cowgill. It is hoped that the board, which has no jurisdiction and must depend upon voluntary concessions to its rulings on the part of both landlords and tenants, may be able to straighten out some of the tangles over rental charged for houses and apartments.

Mayor Cowgill, in asking the aid of the real estate board, explained that he had recently been the recipient of many complaints from tenants, who declared they were victims of profiteering landlords. The Mayor explained that he has no legal authority to take any action in the matter of rental charges under existing law, but intimated that he would ask the next Legislature to provide laws dealing with the subject and perhaps providing for "fair rent" commissions with authority to act and to enforce penalties for "profiteering."

OIL MAN ROBBED OF $8000

Standard Superintendent Held Up in Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—R. E. L. Cockrell, tank superintendent for the Standard Oil Co., here, was held up on the street by two men in a motor car this afternoon and robbed of $8000.

PANAMA, Sept. 13.—The Prince of Wales, on board the British cruiser Renown, arrived at Panama this morning from Honolulu, whence he sailed Sept. 2 on his voyage home to England from Australia.

MAINE VOTE TODAY LOOKED TO AS AN ELECTION INDICATOR

Heavy Vote Expected, With Republicans Claiming Plurality of 30,000, Never Approached in 16 Years.

WOMEN ARE VOTING FOR FIRST TIME

Democrats' Campaign Has Not Been as Aggressive as Republicans' Because of Lack of Money.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Maine men and women are going to the polls today to elect State and county officers and Congressmen, after having been told through the campaign that the eyes of the nation are upon them to give the traditional indication of political sentiment in the country for the presidential election.

The weather cleared after Sunday's rain and indications are for a heavy vote. Both parties express confidence in the result. The Republicans claim victory by a 30,000 plurality. The Democrats indulge in no figures. The issues have been national, with chief emphasis on the League of Nations.

Women Vote for First Time.

For the first time women are voting in this State. Both parties claimed the support of this new element. It was estimated that 90,000 women had registered.

For Governor, Frank H. Parkhurst of Bangor, Republican, is opposed by Bertrand G. McIntyre of Norway, Democrat. All four Congressmen from this State are Republicans and three are standing for reelection. Congressman Louis B. Goodall is retiring in the First District and Carroll L. Beedy, County Attorney, is running for the Republicans against Frank H. Haskell, Democrat. In the Second District, Congressman Wallace H. White Jr. is opposed by Dr. Wallace N. Price. In the Third District Congressman John A. Peters has as his opponent Archie C. Towle, and in the Fourth District Congressman Ira G. Hensey is opposed by Leon G. C. Brown.

The polls will close everywhere at 6 p. m.

It is 16 years since the Republicans have rolled up a plurality even approaching the figure they claim for this year.

Democrats Short of Funds.

The Democrats have not waged as aggressive a campaign as the Republicans, pleading lack of funds, but, like the Republicans, have had the speaking services of some of the ablest members of the national organization.

Maine has gone consistently Republican in its State elections since 1882, except in 1910 and in 1914. The plurality has averaged about 18,000 and the tradition has been that 15,000 plurality pointed to success for the national ticket in November. The Republican plurality in 1916 was 13,830, but in November Hughes had only 5447 more votes than President Wilson in the State and the Democrats carried the country.

Record-Breaking Vote Cast in Bangor Up to Noon.

By the Associated Press.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 13.—Spirited voting characterized the election here today, women seeking to vie with the men in getting to the polls early. Up to noon the vote was a record-breaking one, in spite of rainy weather. Special women clerks were on duty at each voting place.

BROTHER AND SISTER ON WAY TO SCHOOL KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Girl Dies Trying to Drag Boy From Fallen Cable Carrying 2300 Volts of Electricity.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAMAR, Mo., Sept. 13.—Lottie Markwick, 15 years old, and Millard Markwick, 8, were killed by a live wire carrying 2300 volts of electricity this morning on their way to the Washington School. The accident occurred near the school grounds.

The boy stepped on the wire and fell. His sister took hold of him to drag him away. Death in both cases was instantanious. The children were late, the last bell having rung and were hurrying along the street.

VOLCANIC "SAFETY VALVE OPEN"

Scientist Not Alarmed by Activity on Italian Mountain Top.

By the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Sept. 13.—Volcanic activity recently reported at the top of Pizzo D'Ucello, near Spezia, is not believed to be of a true plutonic nature by Prof. Mallatina, director of the Vesuvian observatory.

He declared today that the appearance of tongues of flames and abundant smoke did not indicate that an active volcano had broken out, but that the mountain was simply a safety valve for the compressed gasses beneath.

MARRIAGES TO CAUSE PROBLEMS FOR THE ELECTION BOARD

Women Who Change Names After Registering May Have to Show Certificates.

Marriages and divorces between the registration now under way and the election in November are expected to raise knotty problems to be settled by the Board of Election Commissioners.

Chairman Arnold of the board today said there had been no official decision as to what would be done in cases where women change their names between now and election day, but that "some common sense plan" would be followed.

Arnold said that if, for instance, a woman registers as Mary Jones, but before the election marries and becomes Mrs. George Brown, she would be permitted to vote as Mary Jones on her showing of her marriage certificate at the polls on election day or upon her taking an oath as to her change of name.

Similarly, Chairman Arnold said, a divorced woman might be permitted to swear as to her change of status, or to produce her decree of divorce.

If a woman should register as "Mary Jones, 28 years old," and later should go to the polls with a marriage certificate showing that when married she gave her age as 34, the difference in the stated age might prevent her from voting if the judges and clerks should raise the question. By a strict interpretation of the law the difference might also make her liable to prosecution for perjury in misstating her age at the time of registration.

MARION HARDING RAILWAY CLUB HEARS FRONT PORCH SPEECH

Demonstration of Allegiance to Republican Candidate; Harding Approves Speaking Tour.

By the Associated Press.

MARION, O., Sept. 13.—A delegation of railway employes living in Marion and nearby cities marched to Senator Harding's front porch today in a demonstration of their allegiance to his candidacy and of their disagreement with the labor leaders opposing him because of his support of the Cummins-Esch act.

The delegation represented the Marion Harding and Coolidge Railway Club and presented him with a resolution adopted by the club declaring that their visit was in protest against misrepresentation of his position on railway labor. A speech by the nominee reiterating his faith in the Cummins-Esch measure was a part of the program.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—Approval of a speaking tour, likely to start early in October, has been given by Senator Harding, it is announced by Harry M. Daughtery, the Senator's pre-convention campaign manager, following a conference here yesterday with the candidate. Daughtery said the plan must be finally passed upon by New York and Chicago headquarters.

$2,225,000 TOO MUCH FOUND IN CHICAGO FEDERAL VAULTS

Investigation Started to Determine Source of Money of Which No Record Is Discovered.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Internal Revenue Department officials today began an investigation to account for the presence of $2,225,000 in the Federal Building vaults, with nothing on the books to show the source from which it came.

The presence of the surplus money was discovered when officials of a corporation, called in to explain why they had failed to pay $225,000 taxes, produced receipts showing they had paid. The money was found in the vault, but the Government's duplicate receipt had been lost and no record made on the books. Most of the $2,225,000 remaining unaccounted for is believed to have been collected as income taxes.

REFINERY PRICE OF SUGAR DOWN

Arbuckle Co. Cuts Granulated From 17.1 to 15 Cents a Pound.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Arbuckle Sugar Refining Co., today reduced its list price of fine granulated sugar from 17:10 to 15 cents a pound. All refiners in the market now are quoting this price, but most of the demand still is being supplied by second hand dealers at 14 to 14½ cents.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A reduction in the price of refined sugar to the jobber from 17 to 15 cents a pound was announced by the California-Hawaiian and Western Sugar Refining companies here today. An increase in raw imports was given as the direct reason for the reduction here, Hawaiian shipments being especially heavy.

Not a Day Missed in 37 Years.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 13.—Thirty-seven years in the Austin postoffice without missing a day from his post, is the record of Henry Bastian, who recently retired at the age of 73 years. Mr. Bastian said that he had not been sick a day since he began working as general delivery clerk in 1883, and since that time he has served at almost every desk in the office. He was assistant postmaster under three administrations.

REGISTRATION BEGINS FOR GENERAL ELECTION; NO RUSH OF WOMEN

Polls to Remain Open From 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. Each Day Up to and Including Thursday.

NEW VOTERS PARADE TO AROUSE INTEREST

All Citizens Must Register in Order to Be Entitled to Vote at November Election.

No indication of any early rush of women, to register as voters, appeared in a canvass, made at noon today by a Post-Dispatch reporter, of the first half-day's work in 14 precinct registration places, selected from the 600 in different parts of the city. Registration began at 8 o'clock this morning and will continue through Thursday, all the places being open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily. This is a new general registration, and all who are to vote at the election Nov. 2, women as well as men, must register at some time within the four days.

The canvass was made by telephone, and showed that in two of the 14 precincts no woman had registered up to noon, while in only one was the number of women registrants larger than that of men. The showing was as follows:

First Ward, Sixth Precinct, 8035 North Broadway, 20 men, 1 woman.

Sixth Ward, Third Precinct, 524 Clark avenue, 23 men, 1 woman.

Sixth Ward, Fourteenth Precinct, 304 South Jefferson avenue, 30 men, 20 women (18 of them negroes).

Tenth Ward, Fifteenth Precinct, 3701 South Jefferson avenue, 6 men, no woman.

Twelfth Ward, Third Precinct, 7111 South Broadway, 16 men, 6 women.

Fifteenth Ward, Eleventh Precinct, 2604 Park avenue, 14 men, 5 women.

Seventeenth Ward, Eleventh Precinct, 3028 Olive street, 10 men, 10 women.

Twenty-third Ward, Tenth Precinct, 4048 Olive street, 20 men, 5 women.

Twenty-fourth Ward, Seventh Precinct, 2450 Tower Grove avenue, 11 men, 6 women.

Twenty-fifth Ward, First Precinct, 4500 Manchester avenue, 10 men, no woman.

Twenty-sixth Ward, Eighth Precinct, 4558 Easton avenue, 8 men, 12 women.

Twenty-seventh Ward, Thirteenth Precinct, 4805 Natural Bridge avenue, 25 men, 10 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, Ninth Precinct, 5577 Delmar boulevard, 45 men, 12 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, Thirteenth Precinct, 5602 Etzel avenue, 24 men, 6 women.

This is the first registration of St. Louis women under equal suffrage conferred by the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Estimate of Registrants.

In 1916 the total registration for the presidential election, with only men registering, was 173,760. Chairman Arnold of the Board of Election Commissioners, has estimated that probably 180,000 men and possibly 60,000 women will register this week.

Special precautions have been taken by the city committees of both parties, men and women alike, to get their full voting strength on the registration books in each precinct. Precinct and block workers have been given lists of the persons in their assigned districts eligible to vote, and instructed to see that each one registers.

Women Urged to Register.

Efforts of the Republican and Democratic Women's City Committees are being directed primarily to obtaining the registration of those women believed to have definite party leanings. An equally vigorous movement to obtain registration of women irrespective of their politics is being made by the St. Louis League of Women Voters. Scores of meetings have been held under auspices of the league since Tennessee ratified the suffrage amendment, designed to cause women to avail themselves of the vote which now is open to them.

Information booths were opened by the league at 9 a. m. in four of the larger department stores, where women may learn how and when and where to register. They will be

All-Wool English Suits at $18 Each for the Employes of Deere & Co.

MOLINE, Ill., Sept. 13.

By the Associated Press.

TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED all-wool suits purchased in England for the employes of the various factories of Deere & Co., have arrived here. They are being distributed as fast as possible. The price of the suits will be $18, but they will be sold only to employes.

Hundreds of workers from other factories flocked to purchase them, but were refused. Employes of three other large industries here have obtained about an equal number of the suits.

NIGHT CARMEN AGAINST WAGE AWARD AS MADE

Members of Day Shift Tonight Will Pass on Increase of 5 Cents an Hour.

Members of the street car men's union who work at night voted today "not to approve" the recent award of 5 cents an hour increase in wages made by the Public Service Commission sitting as a board of arbitration. Members who work during the day will vote tonight.

H. R. Nelson, president of the union, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the men had another plan to suggest following the refusal of the commission to reopen the case. He said that he did not care to say what the plan was. The agreement between the United Railways and its employes, which terminated the 1917 strike, was that any wage controversy was to go to a board of arbitration composed of one member of the union, one of the company and one to be selected by these two. Receiver Wells, in this controversy, rejected submission to such a board, whereupon the men suggested the Public Service Commission and Wells acceded.

"We are trying to keep the men in hand," Nelson said. "About 50 or 60 motormen and conductors have quit the company at each of its 14 sheds within the last month. We object to the Public Service Commission award because the deciding vote of a 3-to-2 decision not to reopen the case was cast by Commissioner Kennish, a newly appointed member, who heard none of the evidence. He was not present during the arguments on the plea that he knew nothing of the controversy. Yet, when a deciding vote was necessary on the matter, he casts the deciding vote."

Supt. Butler of the United Railways, when told of Nelson's statement about carmen quitting the company, said today that the company had all the men needed to operate its regular schedule and denied that any unusual number of men were quitting. "We have men applying for work every day and are turning them away because we have full crews," he said.

REPORT THAT CHICAGO YARDMEN VOTED TO END STRIKE DENIED

President Grunau of Insurgent Union Says Vote Was 21,974 to 21,304 to Remain Out.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, one of the unions which called the switchmen's strike, April 1, today denied widely circulated reports that the strike had been called off. Strikers in other centers refused even to take a vote on ending the strike, Grunau said, while the men in the Chicago district voted 21,974 to 21,304 to remain out.

Grunau's figures are disputed by T. J. Meisenhelder, head of the yardmen in the Kansas City District, who is here. Meisenhelder says the Chicago strikers gave a majority of 1984 in favor of remaining on strike, but declined to say on what information he based his figures.

CARSON'S BIRTHPLACE BURNED

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, Sept. 13.—Castle Lambert House in Athenry, County Galway, where Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, was born, was burned today, presumably by Sinn Feiners.

Galway has been placed under the curfew law, making six Irish cities under this law.

Some Democrats Expect Part of Radical Vote to Go to Christensen or to Eugene Debs.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 13.—Gov. Cox has a good chance of winning Montana's four electoral votes, but, if he does, it will be by a close margin, and certainly by nothing as comfortable as the 30,000 plurality by which Woodrow Wilson carried the State in 1916.

Heart-to-heart talks with Democrats and Republicans of prominence at Billings, in Eastern Montana, and Butte, Great Falls and Helena, in Western Montana, lead to the conclusion that, while the Republicans are hopeful and the Democrats are by no means as cocksure as they usually are, the electoral vote will go to Cox.

The uncertain factors in the situation have absolutely nothing to do with the relative merits of Gov. Cox and Senator Harding, either as persons or exponents of party doctrines.

This State is much more worried about the sudden rise of the Nonpartisan League than it is concerned over the outcome of the presidential contest in the nation itself. Almost an exact parallel to North Dakota has bobbed up here and given every business man, whether he is a Democrat or a Republican, an anxiety that can only be understood when the havoc wrought by the Nonpartisan League with respect to political lines in North Dakota is studied.

For, while the Nonpartisan League captured the legal machinery of the Republican party in North Dakota, the same Nonpartisan League, plus the labor elements in Montana, seized the Democratic machinery in the State primaries this year and nominated their own man for Governor, B. K. Wheeler, formerly United States Attorney, whom the Wilson administration failed to reappoint when his term expired last year.

It so happens that Gov. Cox received Wheeler on the train while campaigning in Montana last week. Although this pleased the Nonpartisan League Democrats, it made the old-line Democrats and conservative elements in the State swallow hard.

The situation is so acute that, while the Democratic State ticket of Nonpartisan Leaguers has officially indorsed Gov. Cox, very much as the Nonpartisan group in North Dakota has formally approved of Harding and Coolidge, this has little bearing on what the rank and file will do.

For instance, while the Democratic politicians who had the party machinery wrested from their grasp at the primaries, may hesitate for reasons of expediency to say publicly they will support the Republican candidate for Governor, which is former United States Senator Joseph Dixon, the truth is the regular Democratic vote will be split and only a part of it will go to the Nonpartisan League Democrats.

Party Lines Disappearing.

Party lines are disappearing in the animosity the Democrats and Republicans cherish against the intrusion in Montana affairs of Townleyism or the North Dakota experiments in radicalism. It is bad enough to have three crop failures in succession, and it's hard luck to waste millions of dollars on seed and see the whole State retarded in its growth and development by factors over which there is no human control, but when a set of persons deliberately throw a monkey wrench in the struggling wheels of an infant State like Montana, the furrowed brows of the business men, big and little, the property owner and the pioneer, are thoroughly comprehensible. It hurts.

The Democratic press, which predominates in this State, is either lukewarm or hostile to the State ticket of Democrats foisted on the party in the primaries. For a while it looked as if the Nonpartisan Leaguers would select the Republican State machinery as their prey in the primaries just as in North Dakota.

There are some Democrats who are interested in national politics who think the affiliation with the Nonpartisan League absolutely assures the State to Cox. But there are others who wonder if much of the Nonpartisan League vote will not go to Christensen, the Labor candidate for President, or Debs.

In Butte, after talking with some of the radicals, the writer got the impression that a large vote would be cast for both Debs and Christensen if their names were placed on the ballot. It takes 5000 signatures to do this, something quite easy to get in the mining camps. But it would take connivance on the part of the Nonpartisan League and labor chiefs to start such a movement and the consequence might be fatal to the chances of Wheeler and the Nonpartisan League State ticket. For the latter cannot win the State by their vote alone—they must acquire at least half of the regular Democratic vote.

Wheeler's Attitude.

Anything that savors of a desertion of the Cox national ticket would be met by defections among the old-line Democrats who are holding their minds open on the subject of Wheeler's candidacy. Moreover, much of the Christensen or Debs strength is the normal Socialist vote. Probably at heart Wheeler isn't as dangerous a radical as the organization surrounding him. His radicalism is said to be the result of resentment over the criticism leveled at him while he was United States Attorney.

In the Democratic convention at Helena a few days ago, Wheeler went out of his way to say that he was and is a Jeffersonian Democrat and that he hoped the people of the State would recognize a distinction between a man like Senator Dixon, who, he alleged, had sought the Nonpartisan League indorsement by supposed communication with Townley in North Dakota and a man like himself (Wheeler), who, he insisted, had received the voluntary support of the Nonpartisan League.

The so-called flirtation between Dixon and the Nonpartisan League has been indignantly denied, while Wheeler's use of the word "voluntary" has been questioned by those who admit that he didn't go to North Dakota to get Townley's support, but effected an understanding which was far more important—with the labor leaders of Montana—upon which Townley has been relying for the creating of a farmer-labor alliance in this State that could carry out the Nonpartisan League program.

Of course, the radical movement is disconcerting, but Montana and North Dakota do not furnish the same opportunities for success to a radical program like that attempted by Townley.

For one thing, North Dakota is a homogenous unit of farmers. Here labor has an altogether different set of aims. Moreover, the big copper companies with billions in wealth and assets are not amateurs in the game of fighting radicals. They have a strange way of taking radicals to their bosoms and, while the business interests of North Dakota have finally organized to fight the Nonpartisan League and have already scalped a few State offices, the conservatives and money power in Montana is already well equipped to handle the Nonpartisan League, even if it should happen to get possession of the State Government next autumn.

Neither the Cox nor the Roosevelt trip set this State on fire with excitement politically. Criticism of the speeches and texts chosen for Montana was heard by the writer not only among Republicans but Democrats.

Radicals Weren't Won.

Some of the radicals who are supposed to be supporting the Democratic national ticket weren't won by Gov. Cox's boasts about his failure to use the bayonet to settle labor disputes. They are all inclined to regard Cox and Wilson as identical, and they would have really shouted for the Democratic presidential nominee if he had said he would free Debs and the other inhabitants of Federal jails.

Also, while Gov. Cox pledged himself to plead the Irish cause before the League of Nations if he were elected, the friends of Irish freedom declined to be satisfied with that and some of them announced that Cox wouldn't do. They haven't any assurance that Harding is any more friendly to the Irish than is Cox, but around Butte many Irish Democrats say they will vote for the Republican presidential nominee.

All these defections from the Democratic ranks are expected to be made up by the new votes that will be cast by former Republicans who are a part of the Nonpartisan League movement and who in their anxiety to put the said league in power will vote the straight Democratic ticket, presidential electors and all. Gov. Cox's chances of carrying the State are unquestionably better than those of Senator Harding.

Women Registering Here Today to Vote in November

When a Post-Dispatch photographer was taking this picture in the Seventeenth Precinct of the Twenty-eighth Ward, Mrs. Carrie A. Hartmann of 5793 Waterman avenue was signing the registration book and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Sarli, 5795 De Giverville avenue, was an interested observer waiting to register.

STILL FOUND ON FARM NEAR JEFFERSON BARRACKS

Owner, Arrested, Denies Knowledge of Outfit in Cave; Two Charged With Selling Liquor.

Prohibition enforcement agents, acting on a tip that whisky was being made near Jefferson Barracks, raided Peter Boris' farm and found a 30-gallon still in a cave, the entrance to which was concealed. The still was set up and, according to the officers, showed signs that it had been used.

Boris was arrested. He denied knowledge of the still. A warrant was issued charging him with setting up an unregistered still in violation of the Volstead act.

Henry Grupe and his bartender, Clark Walton, were arrested Saturday night at Grupe's saloon, 5300 Easton avenue. Prohibition enforcement agents reported they bought whisky from Walton after asking for "a shot." A quart bottle of whisky was seized for evidence.

POLES TO PROTECT JEWS

Army Ordered to Stop All Excesses Towards Jewish Population.

WARSAW, Sept. 11.—Newspapers here publish the following order signed by Chief of Staff Rozwadowski and addressed to the commands of all the armies:

"Headquarters is informed from various sources of complaints referring to bad treatment by our troops of Jews in localities retaken from the enemy. The command of all armies will immediately take steps to stop all excesses towards the Jewish population. It is absolutely forbidden to attempt mass revenge for the guilt of an individual and, if it happens, then the guilty must be tried. Orders will be especially issued immediately to the commands of the Second and Fourth Armies in the Wyszkow and Sokolow districts, where we are informed that troops have committed excesses."

ROBBERY CHARGE AGAINST MILES

Informations Also Issued Against Four Other Men and a Woman.

Informations charging robbery in the first degree today were issued against the following persons: James P. Miles Jr., 1518 North Jefferson avenue, son of Justice of the Peace Miles; Mrs. Florence Harris, 26 years old, 3825 Easton avenue, a waitress; George Harris, 29 years old, 1432 North Fifteenth street, a teamster; John Steffen, 29 years old, 1837 O'Fallon street, a "broker"; John Cuddy, 25 years old, 419 Wash street, a "saloon manager"; John McGuckin, 22 years old, 3121 Brantner place, a chauffeur.

The persons named were arrested early Saturday as they were about to enter an automobile outside the saloon of Walter Niehaus, 1325 North Grand avenue, just after the place had been held up and $179 taken from the cash register and the manager, Charles Garrison, 1102 North Taylor avenue.

5 HURT IN BLEACHER ACCIDENT

Three boys and two men were injured at 2:30 p. m. yesterday when the railing at the top of the bleachers at the Fairground baseball diamond, Kossuth and Warne avenues, against which they were leaning, gave way, causing them to fall 14 feet.

Man Found With Throat Cut.

REGISTRATION FOR FALL ELECTION ON THROUGHOUT CITY

open until 5 p. m. and will keep similar hours throughout the days of registration.

A number of precincts reported that women were waiting when the booths opened this morning, each anxious to be first to register. Miss Emma Bobb of 3830 Hartford street, for eight years assistant secretary of the Board of Election Commissioners, and considered well versed on matters applying to St. Louis elections, was first to register in the Twenty-fifth Precinct of the Thirteenth Ward, the booth being at 3874 Hartford street.

Woman, 82, First at Polls.

Mrs. Catherine Sebastian, 82 years old, of 2533 South Tenth street, was the first to register in the Ninth Ward, Twelfth Precinct, polling place at 1001 Sidney street.

An automobile parade, organized by the Women Voters' League, in which 75 cars, most of them decorated, participated, formed on Lindell boulevard at Grand avenue at 11 a. m., moved east to the Locust street cutoff, over to Locust, east to Twelfth street, and south to the city hall. After picking up Mayor Kiel and a number of city officials the parade made a circuit through the downtown section, disbanding at the Federal Building, Ninth and Olive streets, where there was speaking.

The yellow parasols used for many years in suffrage demonstrations appeared on many of the cars, yellow bunting and red, white and blue also being used on some of them. Most of the 36 states which have ratified suffrage were represented by cars, as were the Democratic League, the Harding-Coolidge Club, the Republical Women's City Committee, the Democratic Women's City Committee, the W. C. T. U., the Clotho Club, the W. C. T. U., the Board of Women's Religious Organizations, the upples School and numerous ward organizations.

Mrs. Harry E. Sprague, Republican president of the league, presided over the demonstration on the Olive street steps of the Federal building, which attracted several hundred persons, about evenly distributed as to men and women.

Kiel and Spencer Speak.

Mayor Kiel, the first speaker, welcomed the women into the "fold of politics" and urged them to register before they went home, telling them that "something may happen tomorrow to prevent you from registering before November."

United States Senator Selden P. Spencer, who spoke next, said that "equal suffrage means increased power in American Government, in that it has placed the compelling force of the votes of American womanhood back of purity in elections, humanity in government, welfare of children and women, advancement of education and other measures for human betterment."

United States Subtreasurer W. D. Vandiver, a Democrat, appealed to the women to "look to the time when we shall put an end to bossism and to unpatriotic methods of campaigning in politics and appeal to the wisdom, virtue and patriotism of voters." Vandiver said that the Government will benefit from expression at the polls of the voice of the intelligence, virtue and patriotism of American women, and that he would further increase their influence by making it impossible for ignorant, vicious and unpatriotic persons to participate in American elections.

Batum Under Quarantine.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—Batum, an important port at the east end of the Black Sea, has been placed under quarantine as a result of an outbreak of a plague there. Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, American High Commissioner here, has ordered that Americans must be vaccinated before being permitted to travel on board American destroyers to Black Sea ports.

TIME TO "JUNK" WAR MACHINERY

Details of Necessary Reforms in Business Conduct of Government Pointed Out in Oregon Speech.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—Outlining details of his financial policy, which includes proposals for a budget commissioner to act as an executive assistant to the President, and declaring the need for constructive measures for the development of Alaska, Gov. James M. Cox delivered an address here at noon today.

After discussing the League of Nations in terms of material results to the nation and pointing out that no readjustment worth while can come under reactionary guidance, Gov. Cox said:

"I have been amazed at the results achieved in our irrigation and reclamation projects, some of which I have seen for the first time in my pilgrimage to the Western coast, and I am appalled by the thought that selfish partisanship in the United States Senate, holding up by the heels the civilization of the world, would make it necessary for us to continue the building of big armaments when the amount necessary to expend in that program would increase the productive acreage of the United States by hundreds of thousands of square miles.

"When it is considered that the development of the Yakima Valley cost the Government only $10,000,000, approximately, and that the price of a modern battleship such as is being constructed today is $40,000,000, the average man can grasp the possibilities of a permanent peace and a complete disarmament.

"If we can stop building battleships and constructing agencies for the destruction of human life, we can turn our thoughts to the development of agencies for the conservation of life and the happiness of mankind.

Development of Alaska.

"And this brings us to consideration of one of the greatest immediate business potentialities in the development of the great territory to the north of us. The time has come to take the restraints off Alaska and permit the development of her resources. This should be done under governmental supervision, in a way which will guarantee the benefits of that great domain to the American public and insure for all time against the capitalization of any portion of those resources by selfish and sinister interests.

"It is appalling to think that the population of Alaska today has decreased in great percentage from that of five years ago, in the face of the construction of the Government railroad, which should have been the means of aiding development. Something is radically wrong with our treatment of the territory and that wrong must be remedied. I am not so sure but what the public domain of Alaska offers the means in some measures of the Government's payment of its debt to those who fought our battles in the world war. A well-planned process of development of Alaska should go hand in hand with the reopening of our western gateway of commerce.

"No plan of development should be undertaken in a haphazard way. Log-rolling methods of securing appropriations can no longer be condoned. Readjustment of affairs must contemplate readjustment at the head.

Return to Peace Basis.

"The demands of war brought us the necessity for departmental addition and extension at Washington. We must see to it at once that the failure of the last Congress is remedied as quickly as possible by the return to a peacetime basis and correction of long existing errors. Not only must we junk the machinery that came with war, but we must repeal the burdensome war taxes and definitely reduce the cost of Government in normal times.

"The administration of Government functions can be put upon an economical and efficient basis. Throughout my public life I have been interested in the organization and administration of great activities along approved business lines, or, in other words, in securing the maximum of effectiveness with the minimum of expense, and I am convinced from my own personal experience, as well as the experience of other states, that it can be done.

"We have applied business principles to all our other collective activities in social and industrial life. There is no reason why they cannot be applied to the Federal administration if we sincerely set our minds and consciences to the task.

For the Budget System.

"Our pre-war experience had already shown the necessity for adopting the budget system as the basis of public finance. Our experience during the war demonstrated that we should no longer delay in applying it to the national Government, and also showed that a business organization and administration of the Federal departments and bureaus is imperatively needed.

"An economical and efficient administration of Government business must be preceded by two measures. In the first place, there must be a business reorganization of governmental bureaus and agencies for the purpose of eliminating overlapping of functions and duplication of activities.

"It is reported that there are 14 distinct offices in the Federal establishment dealing with foreign trade; 16 offices having to do with engineering; 42 offices engaged in the compilation of statistical information, and 64 bureaus and divisions having to do with educational activity.

"Strictly service sections of the Government should be co-ordinated under one general head to the advantage of all departments. To do these things properly will require time for necessary investigation and study. A good beginning already has been made, however, by the work of the economy and efficiency commission under former President Taft, by congressional and private inquiries, and by the present committee on the reclassification of salaries of Federal employes. Constructive reforms may be immediately inaugurated and developed from year to year as investigation and study would indicate."

Gov. Cox declared that if elected he would ask Congress for authority to appoint a budget commissioner and would urge upon Congress the desirability of accepting the budget system and of creating a budget committee.

Budget Commissioner.

The duties of the Budget Commissioner, he continued, would be "to study methods of co-ordination of administrative activities and the needs of the various departments and agencies and also to analyze and make recommendations to the President on the estimates submitted by the heads of departments and bureau chiefs for transmission to Congress. Under the Budget Commissioner should also be grouped all the distinctly service branches of the Government that all branches may be served from one centralized administrative control.

"The need for such an official as the Budget Commissioner to advise the President and to work under his direction, is apparent from a financial standpoint. The President has charge of the largest business in the world, but his time must be devoted to the consideration and elaboration of policies and to reaching proper decisions upon many questions of grave national and international importance. He does not have time for detail. Under his direction and on the basis of general principles which the President would lay down, the Budget Commissioner would analyze estimates from the administrative departments and would also bring the result of his studies of economy and efficiency to the President in the form of concrete proposals upon which the President could act."

Concerning the proposed Budget Committee he said it "should receive the estimates for the regular Government establishment from the President, as well as all other measures requiring outlays, and should co-ordinate on a sound basis the work of Congress in raising and appropriating public money."

Gov. Cox is booked to make a swing eastward to Salt Lake City and double back to the coast to fill engagements in California.

Would Repeal Petty Taxes.

In a speech at Salem Gov. Cox said Ohio, in adopting its new Constitution, had followed the "Oregon plan" for popular referendums. The candidate advocated tax reduction and repeal of "petty and annoying" war taxes. The tax on fruit juices, which applies to Oregon products, was declared by the Governor to be "most unfair and an exhibition of sectional prejudice."

The Governor's inflamed throat was much improved by a rest and specialist treatment over Sunday, but he said he would follow the doctor's orders and make no outdoor or rear platform speeches for two or three days through Eastern Oregon and Idaho.

Gov. Cox is accompanied by a masseur to administer treatments to his throat prescribed by Dr. Charles T. Chamberlain of Portland, a son of Senator Chamberlain.

104.5 PER CENT INCREASE IN LIVING COST IN 6 YEARS

Report of National Industrial Conference Board Shows Food Prices Went Up 119 Per Cent in That Period.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Report of a survey of the cost of living contrasted with living costs of pre-war times, made public last night by the National Industrial Conference Board, shows that the increase in the six-year period ending July 1 has been 104.5 per cent. The summary shows an increase of 19 per cent in the last year and 5 per cent from March, 1920, to July.

The outstanding figures of the survey are that food increased 119 per cent in price in the six-year period; shelter, 58 per cent; clothing, 166; fuel, heat and light, 66 per cent, and sundries, 85 per cent. These percentages were derived from figures obtained from retail dealers in the commodities of life in cities of large population throughout the country and accordingly represent the price the consumer has to pay rather than the wholesale price of the product.

The largest increases in food prices in a six year period were in sugar, which climbed 382 per cent; potatoes, 368 per cent, flour 164 per cent; corn meal 133 per cent; rice 114 per cent; bread 113 per cent, had 112 per cent; lambs 109 per cent; hens 107 per cent; and pork chops 101 per cent. Detroit showed an increase in food prices of 138 per cent, which was the highest of the 39 cities in which figures were collected, and Los Angeles was lowest with 95 per cent.

Figures supplied by 361 real estate boards and brokers, chambers of commerce and civic organizations in virtually all cities, having a population exceeding 50,000, gave a rent increase percentage of 58. Eighty-six cities, among which were New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburg, Baltimore and Cleveland, showed increases of more than fifty per cent.

Under the heading of sundries, the board classified car fares, which increased in 120 cities and remained unchanged in 33. Hard coal prices increased 81.4 to 85.5 per cent, soft coal 103.1 per cent and gas and electricity for domestic use 15 per cent.

CURE SOUGHT FOR INVALID GIRL, 19, WHO HAS MIND OF CHILD, 2

Patient With Withered Body Hidden for 17 Years in Filth of Cellar.

By the Associated Press.

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 13.—Efforts to place Maria Zumback, 19-year-old invalid girl, hidden in a cellar for 17 years, in a hospital were unavailing today, as Joliet health and school authorities took steps to restore the stunned mind and withered body of the child through operations and scientific treatment.

Dr. Bernard Klein, expert diagnostician, and a corps of public health nurses visiting the home today where the child has been left pending action to place her in a Chicago sanitarium said that they would undertake the heroic task of restoring the subnormal child to health.

Because she contracted a disease of the spine when she was 2 years old, the 19-year-old girl, whose body has developed to the extent of that of a five-year-old child and whose mind has the response of a 2-year-old, was relegated to the cellar of her home where she lived in filth for 17 years. The girl, according to Dr. Klein, bears every indication of the absence of the essential thyroid gland.

GERMANS CURED OF BOLSHEVISM

Seventy Workmen Return From Russia After Two Months' Trial.

By the Associated Press.

SWINEMUNDE, Prussia, Sept. 13.—"Cured of Bolshevism" was the unanimous sentiment of 70 German workmen constituting part of a company which emigrated to Soviet Russia two months ago and who have arrived here aboard the steamer Regina.

The men returned from Kolomna, near Moscow, where they were assigned to factory jobs. They were expected to subject themselves to a rigorous communistic mode of living.

MORE POLLING PLACES WANTED

Kirkwood G. O. P. Asks Court to Increase Number.

The Republican committee of Kirkwood today asked the St. Louis County Court to increase the number of the city's polling places, now two, to three or four, because of the increased number of voters accruing through suffrage of women.

Presiding Judge Weithaupt said that similar requests were coming from other parts of the county and that it was probable that the court would increase the total number of polling places about one-third.

intersection of a by-road leading to the jail, and all eyes were turned in the direction of the huge stone building where the hunger strikers are quartered.

The streets of Cork and the long route to the cemetery were lined with spectators as the funeral procession, in which probably 6000 men and women, marched, passed. The Archbishop of Adelaide was among the high church dignitaries and hundreds of priests and monks making up the clerical contingent.

The only notes of color in the drab somber pageant were supplied by the Gaelic kilted bands, with bagpipes and muffled drums, which played unceasingly the plaintive Irish dirge: "Wrap the green flag around me, boys—to die—'tis far more sweet," and by little girls in vivid green mantles of the national costume.

TYPOTHETAE OF AMERICA OPENS CONVENTION HERE

Delegates Quick to Get Down to Business After Three-Day Session Is Begun at Hotel Statler.

The convention of the United Typothetae of America, national organization of employing printers, opened this morning at Hotel Statler and will continue through Wednesday.

This convention is a strictly business gathering, and little time was lost at the opening session in getting down to business.

William Green of New York, president of the organization, in his opening address advocated the standardization of sizes of paper, and of cylinder presses, as a means of dealing with the paper shortage. He mentioned, by way of denying it, the report that the Typothetae, as an organization, had agreed to the 44-hour week. He spoke against the policy of loading the market with an excessive quantity of machinery. The president's address was made after an address of welcome by Mayor Kiel.

Two of the most important reports of the first session were that of F. A. Silcox of Chicago, director of the department of industrial relations, on that phase of the business; and that of Joseph A. Borden of Chicago, general secretary, on the progress of the business educational campaign throughout the printing industry, known as the three-year plan.

Many Inquiries Answered.

Silcox, in telling of the service rendered by his department to the organization, in the past year, said 131 requests for information as to shop committees, profit sharing and bonus plans, had been answered; 58 requests as to apprenticeship, and 73 other requests bearing on labor subjects have been answered. Data on wages and cost of living, advice in wage adjustments and arbitration proceedings, drafting and interpretation of contracts, and preparation of arbitration briefs, have been other features of this bureau's work.

Secretary Borden said in his report that surveys, made in 88 cities, show that, on a total volume of printing business reported, amounting to more than $252,000,000, the printers on an average have made but 3½ per cent, or $9,000,000, net profit. "Had these printers been educated to a point of securing a profit commensurate with the skill and intelligence put into their effort," the report said, "they should have realized a profit approximating $52,000,000. In other words, these printers have sacrificed a profit to which they are justly entitled, amounting to $43,000,000."

More Money Made Here.

The secretary cited a report on St. Louis conditions in the printing business, contained in a letter from a member, which said that a survey, made here a year ago last December, showed that the printing industry here was giving the customers about $2,000,000, which rightfully belonged to the printers. "As a result of this survey," it was added, "practically all the printers signed up for the three-year plan, and during the past year, they have all made more money than they ever dreamed of making."

Affiliated organizations of the printing industry which are meeting here, simultaneously with the Typothetae convention, are the International Trade Composition Association and the Printers' League of America. The afternoons are given to the meetings of these and other groups.

WOMEN'S ROW CHIEF TOPIC BEFORE STATE DEMOCRATS

League Member Says Party Will Lose Votes if Women Must Obey Present City Committee.

ATKINSON PREPARES PLATFORM PLANKS

Declaration on Taxation May Be Evasive Because of Conflict Between Cities and Country.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 13.—Settlement of the controversy between the women members of the St. Louis Democratic League and the Democratic City Committee of St. Louis over the right of women to elect members of the Women's Democratic Committees appeared today as the most difficult organization matter to come before the Democratic State Committee when it meets tomorrow.

The women, who are demanding their right to work independent of the city organization, are arriving in Jefferson City prepared to play politics and tell the State Committee that unless the women are given a free hand and are not hampered by being controlled by the members of the city committee, they are prepared to oppose the ticket.

Miss Edna McGrath, one of the active workers of the Democratic League, said: "We know that the State Committee is with us and that it will want to seat the committeewomen we have elected. There is only one thing that might interfere with the carrying out of that desire, and that is a fear that the City Committee will lay down on the Democratic ticket if it is overridden by the State organization.

Importance of Women's Aid.

"We women have all that figured out. The City Committee may attempt that sort of a bluff, but we are prepared to tell the State Committee that if it does not recognize the women it will find in the election that the women are just as important to the realization of Democratic success as is the City Committee.

"We are fully decided that we are not going to be walked on ruthlessly to placate the City Committee and come back smiling. The women of St. Louis, represented by the women in the Democratic League, are important to the party and if the party wants the vote and support of those women it will have to recognize them. We will not work under direction of their City Committee as it is at present organized.

"Our committeewomen are elected in accordance with a call issued by the chairman of the State Committee and you may be sure we are not going to permit the City Committee to name committeewomen in violation of that call. We know our rights and we are going to insist upon having them."

Women Who Lead Fight.

Among the women scheduled to arrive this afternoon to have charge of the opposition to the City Committee are Mrs. Fred Reid, president of the Democratic League; Mrs. E. M. Grossman, Mrs. Maurice Murray, Mrs. E. T. Smith, Mrs. Frank Billups and Mrs. M. J. Gill. On the opposite side the women will be led by Mrs. W. H. Allen, wife of Judge Allen of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, and Mrs. R. E Oldfather, chairman of the Women's City Committee.

Atkinson, who is drafting the tentative State platform for the Democrats, was in consultation with State officials today. Hawes is interested in two planks in the platform, one for an indorsement of the $60,000,000 road bond issue and the other expressing sympathy with the Irish people in "their long struggle for self-government and the right of self-determination."

The Irish question is expected to meet opposition in the Platform Committee, though it is the expectation that the State platform will at least go as far as the party's national platform, which expressed sympathy for Ireland.

The taxation question, it appears, will be difficult of solution in both conventions. The Democrats are about decided to evade any specific stand on enforcement of the full-value assessment laws. Gov. Gardner, who stood as a member of the State Board of Equalization against his Democratic colleague and with Auditor Hackmann, a Republican, for full assessment, will not insist upon the plank, it was said today by Democratic leaders.

Evasion Possible on Taxation.

The Republicans have announced that they will have a full assessment plank, but, in view of the decision of the Democrats to evade the issue, there is much speculation as to whether the Republicans will take a definite stand. For years politicians have led land owners to believe that full assessment of property will increase their taxes, and there is no question that the full assessment idea is not popular in rural Missouri. However, in recent years there has grown up an understanding in St. Louis and Kansas City that they are paying something like 75 per cent of the cost of Government in Missouri, and that property out in the State is escaping taxation. This division between the city and country is worrying the politicians, and it is not improbable that both platforms will be evasive.

Arthur M. Hyde, Republican nominee for Governor, and Senator Spencer, nominee for re-election, are expected tonight.

Answerer of All Queries at Election Office Here Is Woman—Who Hasn't Voted

MISS EMMA J. BOBB...

Miss Emma J. Bobb, Assistant Secretary to Board of Election Commissioners, Is Regarded as Best Informed Person in City on Voting Questions.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

WOMEN have something to learn about the mere mechanical process of casting a ballot and qualifying to register, even now, with the long fight won and the franchise in their hands. Some of those who assume to be informed, the professional suffragists, teaching citizenship classes, do not know all that will be required of them—and registration for the November election started today and will continue through Thursday. This fact was demonstrated at a meeting the other evening where emissaries from the Women Voters' League were addressing social workers on how to instruct foreign-born women about registration.

The same may be said of some men voters. They do not know it all, judging by the number who call up the Election Commissioners' office and ask questions. Women, at least, may plead inexperience as an excuse for ignorance. And, women, here is another way in which you may score: If you meet with ridicule registration day when you come up against some unfamiliar technical detail, don't let them bluff you, don't admit your case is hopeless. Just point out to them this interesting fact, that the one person who knows probably more about election laws and rules in all their intricacies than any other person in this city—is a woman.

"Encyclopedia of Election Laws."

The person who is able to answer any question pertaining to elections, to whom the Election Commissioners themselves frequently turn for information when a precedent to govern some ruling is wanted, or when otherwise puzzled by an election question, is a woman—who hasn't voted yet. Indeed, a walking encyclopedia of all information concerning elections, a walking digest of all the statutes pertaining to elections, is Miss Emma J. Bobb, the oldest employe in the Election Commissioners' office except one, a stock man who has been there since the creation of the body in 1896.

Through the administrations of three Governors, that is to say, since Hadley's incumbency, Miss Bobb has held the position of assistant secretary to the Board of Election Commissioners. Meanwhile commissioners have come and commissioners have gone, some quite distinguished ones, but, as often has happened before in offices where men have absorbed all the glory, no doubt many of them have had to turn to a woman for instruction in the duties of their office.

To think of city hall employes as having soft jobs, basking in office at the expense of the poor down-trodden taxpayer is a fancy the taxpayer is wont to indulge himself in. But he'd gladly revise that idea with regard to one, at least, if he could watch Miss Bobb work. Answering two telephone calls at once, holding the two receivers alternately at either ear, talking first into one phone then into the other, while at the same time examining a letter from an election judge begging to be excused from serving—this feat Miss Bobb performed almost continuously while I was trying to interview her.

Many Calls for Information.

Voters were calling up to ask what precinct they resided in since the recent addition of 100 precincts in the city. Others wanted to know where their polling place would be located. Election judges were busy offering substitutes to serve in their places. One caller insisted that a polling place be changed to some other location. Whatever the question, whoever the questioner, a message to the Election Board's office goes first into the ears of Miss Bobb. And while Collector Koeln, Senator Kinney and other well-known politicians came in with matters to refer to Miss Bobb, not once did I observe her refer a question to another. Always she had the answer at her tongue's end.

Days just before a big general registration may be presumed to be unusually busy in this office, and I almost hesitated to unload some questions of my own on top of many others being asked her, but as she readily supplied the information sought and I was made to see that all through the year her post is no less a busy one. The office began getting ready for this registration last April, following the last election.

The entire city has had to be gone over and redistricted as to precincts since it is not advisable to have more than 300 voters to a precinct, and due to the new women voters, and increased population in certain districts the voting population has increased enormously.

This is quite a task since the new precincts must, at the same time, not be changed with relationship to the various districts, Congressional, Senatorial, Representative, to which they belong. Miss Bobb has had much to do with this work.

A reference to a ballot form brought the admission that the entire responsibility for the printing of the ballots in their correct forms, and a complicated system it is, in the hands of Miss Bobb.

Must Be Many Forms of Ballots.

How many experienced voters know that there must be as many forms of ballots as there are candidates on all the tickets? And that this is because the law says every candidate shall have an equal right to have his name printed at the top of the list of candidates under the title of the office he is running for? Miss Bobb also was able to supply the reason for this regulation.

"Where formerly ballots were all alike, a candidate, if he were so inclined, could say to an illiterate voter: 'Scratch all the names except the second from the top,' or wherever his own name might be located in the list," she explained. "One person must be responsible for seeing that the ballot forms differ in proper sequence, each candidate's name appearing at the top in regular rotation, and in this office this duty happens to fall to me."

A volume of several hundred pages containing a reprint of all the existing election laws, general as well as specific, from local to Federal, old laws and the most recently enacted, reposes upon her desk and it is said she knows it backward and forward, from cover to cover.

And with it all Miss Bobb shows no indication of breaking under the strain. She is vivacious, necessarily, but not lacking in poise, and one notes the marked deference with which her office associates, all men, adressed "Miss Emma." Her fluffy blonde hair and clear blue eyes belie the years she has been in office.

Status of Foreigners Discussed.

The questions I had to propound were some that arose at a meeting at the Y. W. C. A. International Institute, a social center ministering to foreign-speaking people living in the neighborhood of 2300 South Broadway. The fact that a married woman under our existing laws always is regarded as having the same citizenship as her husband, be she native born or only arrived in this country within the year, had been stated. Then the inconsistency of the law, which says that an alien-born man may vote on his first naturalization papers, his mere "declarence," as it is called, while his wife may not, even now that equal suffrage is supposed to be in effect, was discussed. The Board of Election Commissioners recently ruled such to be the case, but because she was unable to advance a reason for this ruling, the representatives of the Women Voters' League, instructing foreign-born women, was advising women married to holders of first naturalization papers to go with their husbands registration day and demand to be allowed to register anyway.

Who knows but a test case brought to trial might result in the Commissioners being overruled before election day, she argued, at the same time advising women not to be intimidated by "men who talk loud" and not to be surprised or dismayed when they encountered antagonism at the polls from the very men who in stump speeches had professed to be glad that women had come into their own politically.

I asked Miss Bobb about this and she promptly replied that women would not be allowed to register on their husband's first papers. Also she had an explanation of the reason therefor readily at hand. It may have been too complicated for me as she glibly rattled it off, but it is somehow due to the fact that the law permitting aliens to vote on first papers is a State law in Missouri and four other states, while the law under which women are admitted to full suffrage is a Federal law, an amendment to the United States Constitution. At any rate, you may take Miss Bobb's word for it, wives of holders of first naturalization papers will not be allowed to register.

Question of Widow of an Alien.

Another question discussed at the meeting was the citizenship of the widow of an alien. An American-born woman, the widow of a Mexican, was told she probably would not be allowed to register until she had resided in this country perhaps five years after her husband's death. Miss Bobb promptly laid her finger on the paragraph in the leaflet issued by this office especially for the information of all who desire or expect to register this week, which read, in effect:

"An American woman citizen who marries an alien forfeits her American citizenship. At the termination of the marital relation, however, she may resume her American citizenship, if residing abroad, by registering before an American Consul, or by returning to reside in the United States, or if residing in the United States at the termination of the marital relation, by continuing to reside therein."

Another question was as to the status of the wife of a man deprived of his ballot through his conviction as a felon or while a soldier or officer of the regular army.

The professional suffragist had declared unequivocally that the wife of a felon forfeited her right to vote as long as married women derive their citizenship only through their husbands. She said this point had been impressively brought out in a play written by prominent suffragists and presented at the Wednesday Club last season.

Miss Bobb, on the other hand, declares that the wife of a felon, no more than the wife of a soldier, who is not permitted to vote, forfeits her citizenship or her right to vote.

"The rule disqualifying a man convicted of a felony applies to his voting privilege, not his citizenship," she said. "Certainly a soldier is not deprived of his citizenship because for the time he is in military service he is disqualified from voting. The wives in either case remain citizens and are privileged to vote."

RAILROAD OFFICIALS TO DISCUSS CROSSING PLAN

City Proposes Viaduct to Eliminate Danger at Delmar Boulevard and Wabash Tracks.

Wabash Railroad officials today agreed to confer with President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service on the city's plan for eliminating the grade crossing at Delmar Station.

The agreement was made after Kinsey had notified the railroad that he had requested the City Counselor to expedite the plans by asking the State Public Service Commission to issue an order compelling the railroad to resume negotiations with the city, which were started July 23 last.

Following this notification, Nathaniel S. Brown, general solicitor for the Wabash, said he and officials of the road would confer with city officials at the City Hall in the afternoon.

The city's plan is to elevate the street at the Delmar station crossing and leave the railroad tracks at their present level. The street elevation, in the form of a viaduct, would start on Delmar boulevard at a point near Hamilton avenue and end near Rosedale avenue. The viaduct would be 22 feet above the level of the railroad tracks.

Would Cost Railroad $370,000.

The work would be controlled by the city and the railroad company would be required to pay $370,000, the estimated cost of the construction, while the city would assume the consequential damage to property, estimated at $100,000.

Kinsey also announced that the city and Rock Island railroad officials are negotiating for the elimination of the Rock Island tracks at De Baliviere avenue. This would be done by removing the Rock Island tracks north of Forest Park from a point near De Baliviere avenue to a point east of Clayton and rerouting the Rock Island passenger trains over the Terminal Belt line, over which Rock Island freight trains are now being moved.

Rock Island Would Use Belt Line.

Under this arrangement the Rock Island passenger trains would come into the city over the Belt line or be diverted to the Wabash right of way at Page avenue.

The city, if this plan is carried out, will condemn the abandoned right of way for street purposes and build a 100-foot boulevard from De Baliviere avenue to the city limits. Kinsey's outline of the plan says that the lots on Lindell boulevard, south of the right of way, are deep enough to be subdivided to provide building frontage on the south side of the new boulevard and that the benefits accruing from this acquisition of new building property would be great enough to offset the cost of the work. He has made no estimate of the cost.

FISHERMAN FINDS BODY OF DROWNED HEIRESS

Husband of Detroit Woman, Who Has Been Held on Suspicion, May Be Released.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The body of Mrs. Gertrude V. Kuehling, Detroit heiress, drowned when a canoe in which she and her husband, Roy Kuehling, were paddling on the Potomac Wednesday night capsized, was found early yesterday by a Maryland fisherman.

Kuehling, who has been held, probably will be released following an inquest.

Late Wednesday evening persons on the Virginia side of the Potomac, found Kuehling standing in about three feet of water beside an overturned canoe. He declared that his wife had disappeared when the canoe overturned, she having slipped out of a heavy fur coat.

The police obtained information, it is said, that on Tuesday Mrs. Kuehling telephoned to a Washington attorney that her husband had been abusing her, beating and choking her.

Mrs. Kuehling was one of the heirs of the $1,094,000 estate of Elizabeth Chapleton of Detroit. Several years ago she married Howard B. Osgood, a wealthy real estate broker of Detroit. After divorcing him in 1917, she was married to Kuehling. Osgood came to Washington immediately on receipt of the information that Mrs. Kuehling had been drowned.

When the body was found the face was so badly mutilated that identification was made only by a platinum wedding ring given to the woman by Osgood. The police are of the opinion that the injuries were caused by being swept against rocks by the tide.

THEFT OF PRIVATE STOCK OF LIQUORS REPORTED

Workmen at Residence of Robert Abeles Find Cellar Has Been Entered and Looted.

Theft of the private stock of liquors from the residence of Robert Abeles, 4728 Westminster place, a dealer in railroad ties, was reported to the police today.

The family is out of the city and the house is unoccupied at night.

Carpenters building a garage in the back yard discovered the kitchen door open upon their arrival at work this morning, and notified the police. Entrance had been gained through a cellar window, and two locks upon the door to the liquor room on the third floor had been forced and the liquor taken. Policemen were unable to ascertain how much liquor had been taken, but none was left in the storeroom.

SAYS WOMEN SHOULD VOTE

Cardinal Gibbons Says They Should Exercise Privilege as a Duty.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.—Now that women have been given the vote they should exercise this privilege, "not only as a right but as a duty," Cardinal Gibbons said to newspaper men today.

"While I always have been opposed to woman suffrage, because I felt that suffrage would withdraw from them the more delicate and more sacred pursuits of home life," said the Cardinal, "now that they have been given the vote, I urge upon all of them the exercise of that suffrage not only as a right but as a duty. They should exercise that duty intelligently. It is their duty, both to register and vote, and especially in the coming presidential election. They should vote for the candidate who will in their opinion contribute best to the material and social progress of the state."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN BOSTON

97 Cases in Massachusetts Cause of Concern.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—A spread of infantile paralysis in the vicinity of this city, which, while not an epidemic, yet constitutes a condition that has caused some concern among health officials, was announced by the State Department of Health today. A total of 97 cases in the State was reported with the addition of four new cases in reports received today. The number of cases is the greatest in this State since the epidemic of 1916.

Department of health officials this afternoon held a conference with the special commission on infantile paralysis of Harvard University to discuss the situation.

$10,000,000 Estate to Man Who Aided Erring Girl

Former Toronto Tea Salesman Sole Heir to Property of Mining Man Whose Daughter He Met in Saloon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—David S. K. Byrne of Montreal will soon enter into possession of the $10,000,000 estate of the late W. G. Byrne as the result of an incident which occurred 13 years ago and changed his name, his occupation and his station in life.

In 1907 Byrne was David S. Kidd, a tea salesman of Toronto, in Chicago on business. It was his custom to carry a Bible with him. In a saloon in the slums he was attracted by the beauty and intelligence of a 20-year-old girl who had fallen from her position as the daughter of a wealthy miner. The girl told him her story and he urged her to return to her family. Finally, drawing the Bible from his pocket, he read the story of Mary Magdalen. The girl was so affected that she promised to return to her home.

A few weeks later Kidd received a letter from the girl's father, W. G. Byrne, then of Baltimore, which said: "I want to support your undertakings. Help other women as you have helped my girl; go out among them and preach. I will stand by you. And because I feel so toward you, I ask that you change your name to Byrne."

Sole Heir to Fortune.

This Kidd did, and as further evidence of his gratitude, the father left him $425,000 in his will and directed that he be sole trustee for a $1,000,000 tabernacle and church. Kidd, thereafter known as Byrne, decided to become a clergyman, to carry out better the wishes of his benefactor.

Lucy Byrne died the year after Byrne had rescued her. Her mother and brother, George W. G. Byrne, were lost in the Empress of Ireland disaster in the St. Lawrence in May, 1914. Byrne thus became sole heir to the extensive mining and oil properties in Pennsylvania, Florida, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Spain and Australia.

Byrne, who is staying at the Hotel Imperial with his secretary, Leslie Lottridge, says that he has located property belonging to the estate in and near Pittsburg, valued at $1,200,000, and that he is going to Australia shortly to enter into possession of the properties there.

Byrne also said that his benefactor had expressed a wish that a mission be founded in Chicago in addition to the memorial hall in Toronto.

Value Estimated at $10,000,000.

The will was offered for probate in Hamilton County, Fla., where the elder Byrne died April 4, 1919. The will places the value of the estate at $8,000,000, but Byrne estimates that interest to the amount of $2,000,000 has accrued to it since it was drawn in 1908. The year required by law for the appearance of all claimants against the estate has passed and Byrne expects to receive his fortune in the near future.

Byrne has advertised extensively in newspapers in the hope that the widow and son of Byrne may have survived the sinking of the steamer, although they were booked as passengers and included in the list of victims.

GRACE BOTH BEFORE AND AFTER MEALS IN LONDON RESTAURANT

Aged Man "Takes Chair" and Calls Diners to Order Daily.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—In a small restaurant in Bird-in-Hand Court, Cheapside, in the heart of the city, where a "fish ordinary" is served as it was served in 1793, grace is always said before the meal commences.

A courtly old man of 86 receives the customer at the door and punctually at 1 o'clock he "takes the chair." When everyone is seated this white-bearded old man, Henry Shelton, rises from his seat, raps on the table and says quietly, "Ladies and gentlemen, grace please." Then there is silence, he bows his head reverently and adds: "For what we are about to receive may the Lord make us truly thankful."

When everyone is served (he carves the three courses of fish himself) he looks down gravely from his high-backed oaken chair and if one has the honor of knowing him he will raise his glass and drink with you.

At the conclusion of the meal he raps the table again and says: "Ladies and gentlemen, grace, please. For what we have received may the Lord make us truly thankful."

Every day for 24 years he presided over this meal table and it is claimed that this is the only restaurant in London where grace is said before and after meals.

MOTHER SUPERIOR AT MARYVILLE CONVENT DIES

Funeral of Madame Delia Jones, Member of Order of Sacred Heart for 60 Years, to Be Tomorrow.

Madame Delia Jones, 84 years old, for 60 years a member of the Order of the Sacred Heart, and for many years mother superior of the order's convent in Maryville, died today at 9 a. m. in the convent. The fiftieth anniversary of Madame Jones' final vows in the order was celebrated at the convent last April.

She was a sister of the late Dumont G. Jones, former business manager of the old Missouri Republican. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Jones, resides at 5826 Maple avenue.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the convent.

Cella. The allegation in the appeal is that the allowance was excessive. Mrs. Cella's estate was appraised at $216,233.

FUNERAL OF JOHN DAVIS

The funeral of John Davis, 53 years old, 3700 Hartford street, vice president and general manager of the Peter Hauptman's Tobacco Co., who died at St. John's Hospital, Saturday morning, will be held at St. Pius' Church, 3300 South Grand avenue, tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. Davis was stricken with apoplexy Thursday afternoon while attending a ball game at Sportsman's Park.

He is survived by his wife and two children. Interment will be in SS. Peter and Paul's Cemetery.

INQUIRY WANTED IN DROWNING OF BRIDE

Coast Guard Officials to Demand Federal Investigation Into Artist's Story.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Coast guard officials announced today that the United States District Attorney at Milwaukee would be asked to investigate the death of Mrs. Anna Jones, whose husband, John Archibald Jones, was found clinging to an overturned boat several miles off Racine, Wis., yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left Chicago last month on a honeymoon trip in an 18-foot power dory built by Jones, who is a portrait painter and president of the Dill Pickle Club, whose clubhouse in a former stable in Tooker Alley is a gathering place for Chicago Bohemians.

Mrs. Jones was Miss Anna Mitchell, a New York artist. They eloped following Jones' divorce from Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the "I. W. W. Joan of Arc."

Coast guard officials say it would have been impossible for Jones to right the overturned boat three times, as he told them he did. As Mrs. Jones presumably lost her life outside the jurisdiction of shore authorities, they have referred the investigation to the Federal attorney.

Jones was rescued after clinging to the boat for more than 18 hours, but is in a hospital, where his condition is said to be critical.

Jones said his wife had struggled against the heavy seas for eight hours and that he finally had chained her to the center board of the boat, but that the waves had washed her into the water.

TINNER FATALLY INJURED WHEN AUTO STRIKES POST

August Graetzer Dies Following Amputation of Leg—Another Man Seriously Hurt.

August Graetzer, 41 years old, of 4720 Pennsylvania avenue, a tinner, was fatally injured, and Edward Gehrer, 38, of 4510 Minnesota avenue, a painter, was seriously injured today at 10:45 a. m. when an automobile truck driven by Gehrer struck a hitching block and post on Jefferson near Eads avenue. Graetzer died at 2:40 p. m. at the city hospital.

Gehrer said the truck swerved or skidded when he tried to pass around another truck. Graetzer's leg was severely crushed, his death following its amputation. Gehrer's right leg was fractured and his scalp cut.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO PARADE WEDNESDAY

Twenty-second Annual Convention Which Opened Yesterday to Continue Until Thursday.

The twenty-second national convention of the United Spanish War Veterans opened last night at the Planters Hotel, to continue until Thursday. At the opening session Mayor Kiel welcomed the veterans to the city and Commander-in-Chief William Jones of New York City responded.

The delegates are still arriving. Comander Jones expects about 700. In addition, many members of the organization, not delegates, are expected. The organization has a membership of 87,000, composed of soldiers and sailors who served in the Spanish-American War in Cuba, Porfo Rico and the Philippines.

Officers Submit Reports.

At the first business session today Commander Jones submitted his annual address, and reports were received from other officers and from the Credentials Committee and other committees.

Officers will be nominated tomorrow and elected Wednesday. There is a three-cornered contest for commander-in-chief. Commander Jones is not seeking re-election. The announced candidates are John J. Garrity, Chief of Police of Chicago, who was Colonel of the 132d Infantry in the world war; T. W. Kelly of Boston and J. K. Witherspoon of Seattle.

At the close of the Spanish-American War in 1898 several organizations of veterans were formed. In 1904 they were consolidated as the United Veterans of the Spanish War, and the first convention of the consolidated organization was held in St. Louis in connection with the World's Fair.

To Parade Wednesday.

There will be a parade Wednesday afternoon. It will start at 2 o'clock from Twelfth and Market streets and the route will be north to Washington avenue, to Broadway, to Market to Fourth and back to Washington.

After the parade there will be a steamboat trip to Jefferson Barracks, where escort to the colors and dress parade will be held, after which the delegates and guests will be treated to an army supper. The boat excursion will then be resumed and there will be dancing until 10 o'clock.

YOUTH SAYS HE WAS SHOT ON ROAD BY ANOTHER IN AUTO

Robert McCurdy, 18 years old, of 3445 Virginia avenue, is in St. Francis Hospital at Litchfield, Ill., with a bullet wound in his abdomen. His condition is serious.

He was found late last night lying in a road near the home of his aunt, Miss Melissa McCurdy, north of Bunker Hill. He said that early in the evening some one called him on the telephone and said "This is Groves," giving the name of a friend of McCurdy in Dorchester, 2½ miles away, and asked him to come over and spend the evening. McCurdy went, he says, and Groves told him that he had not telephoned. He stayed awhile and was walking home when, he says, an automobile with four men in it came up behind him. The lights were dimmed as it approached and a man standing on the runnig board called "Oh, Bob." McCurdy says he turned around and the man leaned over and fired and the automobile sped away.

He was picked up later by a passing automobile and taken to his aunt's home and from there to the Litchfield hospital. In a statement at noon today to Dr. C. H. Zoller at the Litchfield hospital, McCurdy said he recognized the person on the running board as a youth who has been spending the summer around Litchfield and gave the doctor the youth's name.

State's Attorney Victor Hemphill of Carlinville said today that young McCurdy's story of a pistol fight with robbers near his aunt's home last week had not been confirmed.

7% and Safety for Your Savings

Just how safe is the 7% dividend on Union Electric preferred stock?

Well, here is Union Electric's record of NET INCOME—dividend earnings—for a dozen years past:

Year 1908	$ 656,642.49
Year 1909	748,376.13
Year 1910	780,796.99
Year 1911	821,181.17
Year 1912	896,371.62
Year 1913	767,665.78
Year 1914	630,872.53
Year 1915	532,939.60
Year 1916	606,478.95
Year 1917	612,993.40
Year 1918	550,016.69
Year 1919	1,135,334.35
Year 1920 (6 mos.)	685,695.22

Net income needed to pay 7% on $3,000,000 of preferred stock outstanding and on sale, $210,000 a year. Ratio of net income to preferred dividend at this time, over 6 to 1.

Another safety factor: Union Electric is able to earn regular dividends selling first-class service at low rates because the Company is honestly capitalized; there is no water in our securities.

Still another safety factor: Union Electric possesses, deeply appreciates and zealously guards the good will of the great community it serves—good will earned by voluntarily reducing rates and improving service every year so long as rate reductions were possible, and by never asking for rate increases until increasing production costs made them absolutely necessary.

Cheap electric power for industries is one of the big factors in bringing new factories into the St. Louis district. When you invest your savings in Union Electric preferred you make sure of a regular and dependable 7 per cent income, and you become an active booster of Greater St. Louis' industrial growth.

PRICE: $100 a share for cash; $102 on a ten-payment plan, under which you draw FIVE PER CENT INTEREST ON INSTALLMENT PAYMENTS, and can withdraw all payments, WITH INTEREST, any time before final payment is made. You pay $10.20 per share cash down, and $10.20 per share monthly, with electric bills, for nine months. When last payment is made, you get your shares, and begin drawing 7% dividends—THE SAFEST 7% DIVIDENDS IN MISSOURI.

SALES OFFICES: Room 201 Union Electric Bldg., 12th and Locust Streets, St. Louis, and Union Electric's offices in Franklin, Jefferson, Perry, St. Charles and St. Louis counties.

MAIL ORDERS: Send bank draft, certified check, postoffice or express money order with mail orders. Prompt delivery of shares will be made by registered mail.

Send us your name and address, and let us send a salesman to explain this offer to you in detail.

150 FIRE FIGHTERS HERE FOR WEEK'S CONVENTION

Delegates From All Over U. S. and Canada Open Sessions at Marquette Hotel.

About 150 delegates from local unions of the International Association of Fire Fighters opened a week's convention at the Marquette Hotel today, coming from cities all over the United States and from several Canadian cities. Membership of the organization, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and which includes a local in St. Louis, is represented in four-fifths of the paid departments of the country, said the international president, Fred W. Baer, a former Lieutenant in the Kansas City (Mo.) Fire Department.

There are about 28,000 members, Baer said, in 200 cities, including 15 in Canada, and the Federal Fire Departments at Colon and Balboa Panama Canal zone. The Panama departments, which comprise 40 men, did not send a delegation to the convention.

Unionization Chief Business.

The chief business of the convention, it was said, will be to consider steps for the extension of unionization among fire fighters. The international was formed in 1918 in Washington, D. C., and this is its third annual convention. The first local union of firemen was formed in Pittsburg, Pa., in 1904, Chicago following several months later with a similar organization.

That 41 local unions were lost to the international during the last year is admitted by former Secretary W. A. Smith in a report submitted to the convention. These include the locals at Washington, D. C.; Cincinnati, Los Angeles and San Francisco, and at Boston and a number of other Massachusetts cities. In the list of locals lost the notation "withdrew" is made after those mentioned, except that in the case of Cincinnati the notation is "suspended" and of San Francisco "disbanded."

References to Police Strike.

In his report President Baer included a lengthy discussion of the situation in Washington, D. C., where Federal legislation compelled withdrawal of the fire department, and of the fire and police department situation in Boston. His discussion of the Boston situation was chiefly of the police strike.

Writing of the Boston police strike, Baer reported, "The narrative is but history repeating itself. It proved that in this year of grace, 1920, men will not submit to being 'hog-tied and gagged.'"

189 Locals on June 30 Last.

Former Secretary Smith reported that on June 30 last the association had 189 locals in good standing. He was compelled to resign from the association, being a member of the Washington (D. C.) Fire Corps, by reason of the Federal law.

President Baer was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter to summarize the work of the organization in the two years of its existence.

"Speaking broadly for all the cities represented, we have cut hours of work in half, bettered our financial rewards 50 per cent, increased the efficiency of the departments, and eliminated many autocratic local rules.

"We are working for the general adoption of the three-platoon system of hours that will give the men eight hours on duty and 16 hours off, with one day a week off.

Two-Platoon System Must End.

"Most of the cities have the two-platoon system now, with from 10 to 12 hours on duty and 12 to 14 hours off, with varying relief days. The average wage of the rank and file of fire fighters now is $135 a month. It would be hard to say what the average pay was before we organized; it was low.

"The best-paid firemen are in Newark, N. J.; Cleveland, Chicago and New York. Pay in those places runs from $2000 to $2200 a year. Possibly the worst pay is given in Roanoke, Va., where I understand the pay is $90 a month with constant service required, except one day off a week. Baltimore and New Orleans are among the big cities giving low pay. None of these cities have local unions now.

"Pay in St. Louis is pretty good now."

St. Louis firemen of the rank of first class privates were recently granted increases to $140 a month. Every third day is given St. Louis firemen for recreation.

RECOUNT OF BALLOTS IN FORD CONTEST DELAYED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. — The Ford-Newberry contested election case will go over without action of any kind until after the presidential contest is determined, according to the general opinion prevailing here.

As the situation exists a privilege and elections subcommittee, of which Senator Watson is chairman, completed all preliminary steps for recounting the ballots cast in the Michigan election on which the contest is based. The ballots were collected from the various precincts and now are here, carefully locked up in charge of the Senate sergeant-at-arms. It was intended to do this recounting long ago but the Chicago convention came along and then Watson's seat became so endangered by the work of Tom Taggart that he has had no time for anything but fence-mending.

The taking of testimony and other features of the inquiry are all slated to follow the recounting of ballots. Meantime the appeal from the Grand Rapids court which convicted Newberry of violating the election laws has been laid before the Supreme Court which meets a month hence. The hearing of arguments may be set for any time after the October term begins.

A Pageant of Fall Modes

DAME FASHION has outdone herself this Fall in her engrossing array of costume details and it is the pride of this store that it is able to present such a complete and authentic exposition of Autumn Modes.

Her Frocks and Gowns of wondrous cloth follow the vogue of slender lines and are trimmed as only the deft fingers of clever designers can do.

Her Suits embrace the slim lines to which every woman aspires and upon which Paris smiles. They are enhanced by fur and labyrinths of embroidery.

Her Wraps are formed of luxurious fabrics and are characterized by their loose and wrappy lines, voluminous collars or waistline capes, rich in embroidery or beautiful in fur trimming.

Her Furs are royal in Dame Fashion's realm this year. There are cape-collared coats, jaunty models, chokers and stoles which will enrich immeasurably the Autumn suit or frock.

Her Underthings are exquisite in their loveliness. The lingerie forms a delightful assemblage of fine silk or crepe de chine. Her negligees are truly fascinating affairs more charming and filmy than ever, billowing in lace and ribbons.

The French Room presents a delightfully comprehensive showing of new Millinery.

All the necessary details are here—gloves, hosiery, bags, fans, jeweled combs, all in charming array.

Then, too, soft, lustrous Satins and Silks unfold their shining lengths and all the best of woolen materials unfurl their glory.

Truly Dame Fashion has outdone herself and our display will satisfy the heart of the most fastidious woman.

TWO PLAYS HAVE WAR FOR BACKGROUND

"Little Women" Harks Back to Civil War, "Civilian Clothes" to World Conflict.

By a coincidence, war supplies a background for two plays which are revisiting St. Louis this week, although neither can be called a war play. "Civilian Clothes," which opened at the Shubert-Jefferson last night, has its scenes in Louisville and New Orleans, but draws its theme from an incident of the world war. The locale of "Little Women," which arrived last night at the American, is a Massachusetts village, but over the play hangs the shadow of the Civil War.

William Courtenay's quizzical humor, blarneying tongue and romantic ardors once more enliven "Civilian Clothes," as at the comedy's first visit here, last February. There are several changes in the cast, but the company remains for the most part a capital one, with Dorothy Dickinson as leading woman.

She has the part of a Kentucky belle who, while serving in the Red Cross in France, secretly married Capt. Sam McGinnis, D. S. C. She lost her heart partly to his uniform and to his decorations for gallantry, and partly to the vigor with which he boxed her ears on finding her serving chocolate too near the front line.

But the glamor swiftly evaporates when Sam appears after the war to claim his bride. He is now in mufti—in a suit of outrageous cut and checks, a raucous tie and bulldog shoes of violent saffron. Mrs. Sam regards her former hero and lover with horror; but he undertakes to cure her snobbery by the heroic measure of becoming a butler in his wife's own home. When a society vampire exerts her charms upon the butler, and particularly when he is offered a job as a civil engineer at $25,000 a year, the patrician bride discovers that other garb besides a Captain's uniform may enclose a real man.

Civil War Reminiscences.

Costumes and furniture of the Civil War period, shown in "Little Women," are hardly more reminiscent of a bygone time than are the prices charged for admission. The $1.50-top scale, which prevails for this engagement, carries the playgoer's memory back to "Way Down East" and "The Sign of the Cross," and to the Century and Olympic theaters. However, this is the second $1.50 attraction in the first three weeks of this season at the American, and it is made known that prices are not likely to be advanced over those of last season, even in the face of increased pay for all theater employes and increased railroad fares; and that, in some cases, there will be a reduction.

"Little Women," Marion de Forest's stage version of Louisa M. Alcott's book, was seen at the Olympic Theater six or seven seasons ago. Last night's audience found especial enjoyment in some of the lines spoken, when the devoted mother of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy was starting for Washington, where the husband and father, a Union chaplain, lay sick in a hospital. The inclusion of peach brandy in the supplies taken to the sick man, and the reminder of a time when $25 would take a person farther than the next State line on a railroad journey, were enjoyed. The love affairs of Meg, Jo and Amy, and the death of Beth, are the chief incidents of the play.

In the role of the ambitious Jo, second of the sisters, Edith May Clarke was the most pleasing of the players. The part of Amy, the youngest, was not so satisfactorily taken, and the girls' mother was too serious a personage. The male parts were acceptably played.

AUTO TAXES TO MEET ILLINOIS HIGHWAY BUILDING EXPENSES

Increase in Number of Cars to Offset Boost in Cost of Materials, Superintendent Says.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—High cost of road building materials, which has given rise to some apprehension that the State Division of Highways will be unable to complete the state-wide system of roads with the $60,000,000 voted for the purpose in 1918, will not cut into the program, but will be offset by the great increase in automobile fees, it is announced by State Highway Superintendent S. E. Bradt.

When the $60,000,000 bond issue program was proposed, he said, it was calculated that there would be about 600,000 automobiles in Illinois at the end of 1924. The number of automobile owners has grown so much more rapidly than anticipated, he continued, that that number is likely to be reached before the end of 1920. The number of automobiles in Illinois at present is 546,496, of which 485,200 are pleasure cars, and 61,296 are trucks. There are also 9914 motorcycles, which are taxed for the benefit of hard roads.

Automobile license fees, are assessed according to horsepower of the motor and range from $8 to $60.

NEW GRIFFITH FILM HAS ISLAND SETTING

William Farnum, Dorothy Dalton and Wanda Hawley on Other Local Bills.

David Wark Griffith's latest production, "The Love Flower," which opened yesterday at the New Grand Central, West End Lyric and Lyric Skydome, has beautiful scenic settings and calls for intense emotional acting by Carol Dempster and Richard Barthelmess, who have the leading roles. Most of the action takes place on islands in the south Atlantic.

This is a sort of combination love and detective story. Bevan kills his wife's lover. With his daughter, Stella, he flees to a remote island. Here the daughter meets young Sanders, the captain of a coastwise vessel. Sanders, after putting into a mainland port, unwittingly drops news of the man and girl on the island. Crane, a detective who has been searching for Bevan, takes passage on Sanders' ship and goes to the island. Here the drama develops rapidly and with surprising incidents. The detective, the young ship captain and Bevan and his daughter are the only ones on the island. Sanders aids the daughter in the effort to save her father from the detective.

William Farnum in "If I Were King," is the leading attraction at the Liberty. Those who admire Farnum will like him in this picture, in which he has the role of the vagabond, resourceful and hard-fighting poet, Francois Villon, one of the most picturesque figures in romantic history. The action gives Farnum an opportunity to show his skill at make-up, as Villon part of the time is in the depths of poverty and again arrayed in royal splendor as the court favorite of Louis XI of France. On the bill also is a revival of the Charlie Chaplin comedy, "The Immigrant." The first showing of the new Fox serial, "Bride 13," is shown.

"Half an Hour," done over for the screen from one of Barrie's plays, opened yesterday at the Kings Theater. This is a very intense British "society" drama in which the heroine is "sold in marriage" to a man she does not love. Of course, there is another man whom she loves and with whom she is about to elope when he falls dead while she is visiting him. The title of the play is based on the circumstance that after this timely happening she has just half an hour to go home and dress for dinner and thus prevent her husband from knowing of her absence. Miss Dalton does some good emotional acting.

At the Pershing and Mozart the attraction for the first half of the week is "Food for Scandal," in which Wanda Hawley is starred. It is an amusing farce comedy in which a young woman of an aristocratic, but needy, family becomes a chorus girl and achieves startling and painful notoriety through the activity of a press agent, who exploits her as "the kissing girl."

"Humoresque," with no diminution in its popularity, is continuing its indefinite run at the new Delmonte.

The feature at the Central is Katherine MacDonald in "The Notorious Miss Lisle."

OLDEST ACTIVE GERMAN M. E. MINISTER REFUSES TO RETIRE

The Rev. William Schutz Sent Back to Bunker Hill, Ill., Where He Began 50 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 13.—Eighty-six Methodist preachers were assigned to charges in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri here last night by Bishop William Quayle of St. Louis, in concluding the forty-second annual session of the St. Louis Conference of the German Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Rev. William Schutz of Bunker Hill, the oldest active minister in the conference, chose to continue in service, and was returned to Bunker Hill, where his ministry was started 50 years ago.

Eugene Wiffenbach, C. J. Stueckmann and John Helmers were named professors at Central Wesleyan College; W. C. Schultze of Quincy was appointed superintendent of the Old People's Home, and C. E. Stahmann of St. Louis, superintendent of the Missouri Children's Home Finding Society.

Church assignments included the following: Superintendent St. Louis district, A. L. Koeneke; St. Louis, Carondelet Church, H. Schlueter; Eden Church, F. W. Wahl; Elmbank Church, W. H. Wolfe, Memorial Church, C. Guenther; Salem, Gano and Nuelsen churches, W. F. Isler.

Colby Praises Catholic Relief Work.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Problems in the organization of relief work were discussed today by the National Conference of Catholic Charities. Secretary of State Colby, in an address last night, praised Catholics for the effectiveness of their relief activities abroad as well as at home.

CANDIDATES DISCLAIM KNOWLEDGE OF FRAUDS

East St. Louis Election Commissioners Unable to Ascertain Who Promoted Registration.

Disclosures that a large number of nonresidents have registered in East St. Louis for the express purpose of participating in the primary election Wednesday, as told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, has caused the various candidates to disclaim all knowledge of the false registration, and even the members of the Board of Election Commissioners are unable to ascertain in whose interest the frauds were committed.

Thomas L. Fekete Jr., one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for State's Attorney, said today that he believes the candidates should contribute to a fund for the arrest and prosecution of any of the fraudulent registrants who attempt to vote.

Louis Boismenue, chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners, said the investigation disclosed that the frauds were committed by negroes, at least the addresses given by the men are in negro boarding houses and homes. The board, on its own initiative, found that, of the registration during August, when 3300 names were added to the list, about 20 per cent do not live at the addresses given.

The Election Commissioners this morning prepared notices to be given each judge and clerk of election, requiring them to question every voter registered during August, to ascertain if the answers given comply with the affidavit made by the registrant when he had his name placed on the registration list. The majority of the men gave their ages as 21, thus being classed as "first voters." All registered at the office of the Board of Election Commissioners, and many were hauled there in automobiles. The members of the Board of Election Commissioners found that at the addresses given by the bogus registrants, a man left money for the occupant of the house, telling him or her to accept mail sent to the name which was used by the registrant.

Negro Shot to Death by Mob.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Sept. 13.—Will Echols, negro, recently convicted of the murder of Henry W. Davis, an aged night watchman at a lumber plant, was taken from jail at Quitman early yesterday by a small party of men, carried two miles into the country and shot to death. Echols, upon his conviction, was sentenced to be hanged last Friday, but his execution was stayed at the last moment by an appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

To all Users of Paper

Printers, Lithographers and Paper Merchants

Announcement by the President of the American Writing Paper Company

THE Printing Industry has entered upon a new era. Printers* are today setting themselves new standards of work. They are giving less thought to getting the order, more thought to producing results for the customer.

Records like the following are becoming more and more common:

$260,000 sales in four days through a letter suggested by a Printer.

60% mail order increase traceable to a Printer's idea.

A retail business doubled in one year—by the success of a Printer's plan.

32% of the cost of a job saved by a Printer's advice on standardizing the paper.

The organization back of the present-day Printer

To the United Typothetae of America, the national association of employing printers, great credit must be given for its part in bringing about the change.

Under the leadership of this organization and the National Lithographers' Association, progressive Printers and Lithographers everywhere are raising their standards of service, introducing better methods, effecting economies.

Ruinous price competition between Printers has given way to closer relations between Printer and buyer. This has been made possible largely by the accurate cost system that the United Typothetae of America has worked out and adopted as standard for its members. Costs are no longer mysterious juggling, in which every Printer makes his own guess. The Printer now can know exactly how much the job costs and can quote accordingly.

The 4,500 members of the U. T. A. do between 70% and 80% of the commercial printing of the country. The organization has branches in 60 cities. Its instruction courses are studied by at least 6,000 students—more than the combined enrollments of Yale and Princeton Universities.

The success of the U. T. A. now nationally recognized

The American Writing Paper Company wishes to take the lead in endorsing this movement toward better service. It has conducted a careful investigation in all parts of the United States, and has concluded that the work of the U. T. A. is one of the most important forces for good in modern business. All parties benefit—the Printer's Customer, the Printer, the Paper Merchant, and the Paper Maker.

The Company has therefore decided upon the policy of giving the support of its entire organization and its institutional backing to the movement.

The new responsibilty of the paper manufacturer

The American Writing Paper Company realizes that the modern ideals and methods of the Printer, which have made him a more analytical buyer of paper, mean added responsibilities for both the management and mill organization of the manufacturer of paper.

Paper is the prime raw material of printing, and the Printer is the man who should specify it.

But the Printer cannot trust entirely to his eye and hand. The buyer of steel must know its formula. When you buy an electric light bulb you know what voltage it requires. Just so Printers today feel that the technical facts behind the manufacture of paper should be given them as a basis of judgment—that so-called secrets should be eliminated.

These facts the manufacturer must supply. It is his responsibility to see that the Paper Merchant and Printer who handle his paper have the necessary facts for an intelligent decision.

$225,000 to discover the facts about paper

Anticipating this demand on the part of the trade, the American Writing Paper Company the beginning of last year set aside a fund of $225,000 to expand its Scientific Research Laboratory.

This Laboratory now occupies a four-story building, with a personnel of 55 chemists, physicists, experienced paper men, and staff. All the qualities of paper—transparency, color, thickness, tensile strength, folding strength, stretch, wear, printing quality—are analyzed. Every material and process is studied.

The ideas of the superintendents, foremen and mill men in the 26 mills give the scientists the starting points of many important discoveries. Then after these ideas have been perfected by the Research Laboratory, the mill men put them to practical test and bring them into successful operation.

One thousand of these mill men have been with the Company for more than 10 years; 500 for more than 20; many even longer. These men represent the craft skill in the making of paper that it has taken centuries to perfect.

Neither the scientific nor the practical men are alone sufficient. Their co-operation is ideal.

It is an old maxim that the buyer of goods must be on his guard. The Research Laboratory, working with the practical mill men, means that the manufacturer, the seller—not the buyer—is responsible. Because the facts are known, performance can be promised, and the buyer has definite standards by which to judge.

* * * *

The American Writing Paper Company is now publishing in the leading newspapers of the country a series of announcements calling public attention to the great improvements that have come about in the Printing Industry, and urging the buyer to adopt a new attitude toward the Printer—to consult the Printer more about the bigger phases of the work—to have greater confidence in the Printer's advice and ideas.

To every buyer of printing our suggestion is this:

Do not get twenty competitive bids from twenty Printers and give the work to the man with the lowest estimate.

Select your Printer on the basis of service rather than price. Employ him on the same basis as you would a doctor or a lawyer. Give him the facts about your business policies and methods. Furnish him with a basis for constructive criticisms and suggestions, and maintain a permanent business relationship with him.

Let your Printer co-operate and work with you rather than merely work for you.

Be open-minded to your Printer's advice.

Your Printer is the one best qualified to select the right paper for the particular job. He is in a position to help you effect real economies—improve quality—bring RESULTS.

Geo. A. Galliver

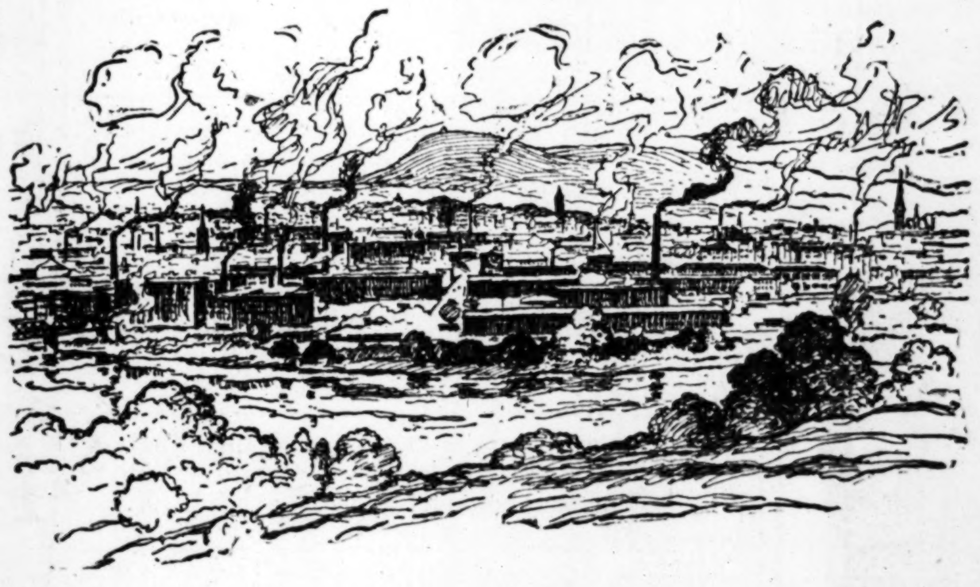
*NOTE. In general where the term "Printer" is used in this announcement, it refers not only to the commercial printer, but also to the offset printer, the lithographer, and the engraver.

The Printer is the creative force in the Printing Industry and should be the one to consult in specifying the grade and finish of paper to be used in any particular work.

It is the policy of the American Writing Paper Company to send its samples to customers through the Printers and Paper Merchants.



Holyoke, Mass., is the home of the American Writing Paper Company and is the center of the world's fine paper industry. The leading Paper Merchants in every city stock Eagle A papers.

French and Italian Ministers Declare at Conference That Accord With Great Britain Is Indispensable.

ADRIATIC AND SOVIET QUESTIONS TAKEN UP

Hope Expressed for Italian-Jugo-Slav Understanding by Direct Negotiation; Skeptical as to Bolsheviki.

By the Associated Press.

AIX LES BAINS, France, Sept. 13.—Premier Millerand of France and Premier Giolitti of Italy resumed their conferences over international questions, begun yesterday, when the Premiers met today with Count Bonin-Longare, the Italian Ambassador to France, and Camille Barrere, the French Ambassador to Italy, present.

Premiers Millerand and Giolitti at the conclusion of the morning session sent the following telegram to Premier Lloyd George:

"MM. Giolitti and Millerand met together at Aix-Les-Bains. Do not wish to separate without addressing in common to his Excellency, Premier Lloyd George, their very cordial and friendly greetings.

"The Italian and French Prime Ministers have once again had occasion to recognize the full accord of their general views and the primordial necessity of the close entente of Great Britain, Italy and France in arder to insure a settlement of European problems and the re-establishment of peace and normal relations between the peoples."

Premier Millerand this afternoon received Take Jonescu, Minister without portfolio in the Rumanian Cabinet, and then Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Premier of Poland. Afterward M. Millerand conferred with Premier Giolitti for half an hour and a common declaration was adopted. It will be made public tonight after the final meeting of the Premiers.

Yesterday's Conference.

At the first conference yesterday, the Premiers were alone· the secretaries entering the Mirabeau Hotel apartment only to supply documents.

The most important decision reached by the Premiers seems to have been the postponement or definite abandonment of the Geneva conference. M. Millerand announced that "this meeting was decided upon at Spa but has not yet been held. It is impossible at the present time, even from a merely practical viewpoint, for it to take place before the Brussels financial conference fixed for Sept. 24.

"On the other hand," continued the announcement, "France and Belgium have shown the interest they would have in seeing the reparations commission resume its role in the study of these questions. Finally, the Governments will have to consider what they have to do. Signor Giolitti offered no opposition to this policy."

"We Must End the War."

"We must end the war," said Premier Millerand to the Associated Press correspondent, at the conclusion of his afternoon conference with the Italian Premier. "The war must be ended. That is why we have given Poland the counsel of moderation which she seems disposed to follow."

At the conclusion of the first session, the French Premier received in turn the Italian, British, American and French representatives of the press and said to them:

"Our interviews have been most cordial and confidential. Naturally we have agreed that an accord between Italy, Great Britain and France is indispensable, not only in the interest of the three allied Powers, but for the maintenance of world peace. The treaty of Versailles must be enforced, as well as that of St. Germain. And the others, because they constitute an entity, and one of them cannot fall without the others being shaken. I am absolutely in accord with that point upon the formula accepted at Lucerne. Treaties must be applied with moderation by the victors and with loyalty by the vanquished.

"We also discussed the question of Soviets. Evidently each Government consults its internal policy before adopting a precise attitude. You know what the French policy is. The policies of our allies do not appear to be different in principle from ours.

Adriatic Question.

"Settlement of the Adriatic question occupied some of our time. Our position is unequivocal. Great Britain and France, at San Remo—and myself, before and after San Remo—have stated that neither Great Britain nor France has the right to interfere between two parties when a question concerns them alone.

"It is our duty to make all efforts to persuade our Italian and Jugo-Slav friends that it is to their interest and the interest of both countries, and also the world's, that this problem, too long deferred, be settled at the soonest moment possible in a spirit of equity and moderation."

The Premiers took up nearly all the questions of interest to their two countries in the spirit of harmony and good will. They agreed to recommend moderation to Poland in her victory in order that peace might prevail at the earliest date possible. But they were not sure that the Bolsheviki were desirous for an early peace.

An Extraordinary Sale of Fur Coats

At Savings Every Prospective Fur Buyer Will Do Well to Consider

Thousands of dollars' worth of beautiful Fur Coats secured at big concessions especially for this event. A sale months in the planning; a sale of the most wanted pelts, expertly made up into artistic and ultra-fashionable models; a sale that brings savings of 15% to 35% on each and every garment—and that provides a tremendous style selection.

The market on raw Furs "broke" several months ago—that's when we plunged heavily and bought the skins. Then we contracted for the making of the Coats at actual cost and less, as furriers were willing to swap dollars to keep their factories busy. Result—the greatest values it has ever been our privilege to offer or you to receive.

NEW REMEDY FOR UGLY HUSBANDS

A Calotab at Bedtime With a Swallow of Water—That's All. No Salts, No Taste, No Danger, Nor the Slightest Unpleasantness—Wake Up in the Morning Feeling Fine.

When hubby gets cross, mean, ugly, nasty—a chronic grouch, simply give him one of the nauseless Calomel tablets, the kind that do the work without the slightest unpleasantness. The next morning he will be the kind of husband he promised to be. Honest! I am not joking, it beats anything you ever saw for taking the meanness (biliousness) out of men and women, too. The next time you feel lazy, mean, blue, headachy or discouraged take a Calotab. One tablet at bedtime, with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no salts, no sickening after-effects. You wake up in the morning feeling fine, your liver clean, your system purified with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please and go about your business—no danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. We have authorized your druggist to refund the price, if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.

CHEAPER SHOES IN SPRING PROMISED; NO CUT IN WAGES

Revival of Business Expected to Follow Present Season Which Is Said to Be Worst in History.

50,000 WORKERS REPORTED IDLE

High Prices Said to Have Stagnated Industry—Dealers Now Overstocked and Demand Drops Off.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Cheaper shoes next spring, without any corresponding cut in wages of shoemakers, is the promise held out by Thomas F. Anderson, secretary of the New England Shoe and Leather Association, and a recognized trade authority. Lower hides and smaller profit for manufacturers will make prices lower by $1 to $2 a pair, he says.

The promise of lower prices to the consumer without wage cuts for the producer and the prediction that early winter will show a revival in the trade are the only bright lights in the most dismal season the shoe trade of New England has known in generations. Compared with other years, there is no trade this season; probably 50,000 shoemakers are idle or in other lines of work, and other tens of thousands are working but part time.

In but one center—Salem—has there been any reduction of wages. There 6000 shoemakers quit last June to compel shoemakers to continue paying a bonus of 20 per cent above the scale. This week they admitted defeat and took, in effect, a 16 2-3 per cent cut in wages. But few of the 6000 can now obtain work at the lower price. By January, it is expected, conditions, will have so changed that all will be at work.

Few Women's Shoes Made.

Old wage scales continue in other centers, but in those making women's shoes almost exlusively there is little work to do, and wage scales without work spell payless paydays. The centers where men's shoes are the rule are better off. Brockton, the big cener for men's shoes, is operating on perhaps a 50 per cent basis. Lynn and Haverhill, making women's almost exclusively, are doing next to nothing.

"The causes?" Anderson asked. "Mainly the depression in industrial centers and the general falling off in demand. There has been no market for shoes. Retailers have not bought, but one way or another have been trying to work off old stocks. Part of this has undoubtedly been due to reluctance to pay high prices. There never has been such a condition in the 250 years of the industry in this country.

"December or January will see business better. No matter what happens, this season is gone. The spring trade will be good, because the retailers will have to have stocks, and prices will be more attractive—$1 to $2 a pair lower. In the women's trade, fancy colors, blues, grays, browns and henna, to name a few, are expected to help the demand.

"Pulls will be lower because hides are lower, and that means 30 per cent less for upper leather and 10 per cent less for sole leather. Another factor in lower prices to the wearer is a realizing sense on the part of manufacturer and retailer that they must take smaller profits.

Wages Not to Be Cut.

"Wages will not be cut. At least, I know of no intention on the part of manufacturers to cut wages. I do not know that they want lower wages. But they won't pay higher wages. That era has ended. The tendency, if anything, will be the other way. Eventually, as other things come down, wages may, but attempts to lower wages need not be looked for now."

Salem has been dominated by newly formed unions. The same is true of Lynn and to a great extent of Haverhill. In the former city the unions have, after months of effort, been forced to abandon the attempts to obtain an agreement that would permit them to bar "unfair" machinery and materials from all factories, and have agreed to make wage scales to run for 18 months, during which time there must be no strikes. These new scales, executives of these unions said would in the end prove to be the old scales, though three months ago they planned to demand increases averaging better than 20 per cent in all classes of work.

"We have got to take what we can get," a member of the Joint Shoe Council said. "That is the old rates. The men will take them. We'll have trouble putting the thing through."

Not all of the trouble is in the union ranks. A considerable element in the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers Association would like to cut wages.

"This will not be done," a representative of the association said. "That would only make matters worse. What we want is stability and a market with a bottom to it. There's no bottom to this market now.

Lower Prices Scare Dealers.

"Why, some who sent men out with samples priced low to attract trade got nowhere. The low prices scared jobbers and retailers into thinking something was wrong, that a wave of price cutting was coming, and they refused to buy. If wages were cut they'd look for even lower prices. Furthermore, there would be a strike to make things more unstable.

"It would surprise our radical friends to know that the banks are opposed to wage cutting at this time as much as they are opposed to raising wages. They want stability."

Charles L. Bayne, general secretary of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, the oldest shoe operatives' organization, a branch of the American Federation of Labor, and rated as conservative, notes no tendency to cut wages.

"On the contrary," he said, "we have had some increases awarded our union by the State Board of Arbitration. The manufacturers are looking for business, not cheaper wages. We look for no difficulty in this respect.

"There is, however, a real scarcity of orders which means no work or part time work in a great many shops. Idleness, however, is largely minimized by a gentleman's agreement that the employes shall take turn and turn about at laying off. We expect better business this winter."

Secretary Anderson says this new business is already beginning to develop in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

"Those centers," he said, "very largely shoe the cotton, the corn and wheat belts. The farmers are prosperous and are beginning to buy. In this section we depend largely on the industrial centers of the East. Business has not been so good with them and we are hurt. Or to state it differently the revival begins on the farm and these nearest the farm feel it first."

FOE OF SUFFRAGE TO URGE WITHDRAWAL OF PROCLAMATION

Speaker of Tennessee House Contends Amendment Has Not Been Legally Ratified.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage announces that Seth M. Walker, Speaker of the Tennessee House of Representatives who led the opposition to the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment, left Nashville last night for Washington to urge Secretary of State Colby to withdraw the suffrage proclamation. Walker's action is based on his contention and that of other members of the Tennessee Legislature, that the amendment has not been legally ratified.

Walker will be met here by delegations of antis from Maryland, North Carolina, New Jersey and other states. From here the Tennessee delegation will go to Hartford with the antis to tell Connecticut how Tennessee did it.

The antis deny that Tennessee attempted to "rescind" or "withdraw" a ratification and maintain that ratification was never accomplished in Tennessee. They hailed with glee the statement by an official of the State Department that "the Federal Constitution empowers State Legislatures to act upon proposed amendments, either to approve or reject them. It does not empower a Legislature to change its mind and reverse itself after it had acted on an amendment."

Divorce Issue Up in Peru.

It Is Easy to Lose an Unsightly Complexion

Have you ever exclaimed as you beheld your complexion in the mirror. "If I only could tear off this old skin!" And, do you know you can do that very thing? Not to actually remove the entire skin all of a sudden; that would be too heroic a method, and painful, too. The wornout cuticle comes off in such tiny particles, and so gradually, it doesn't hurt a bit. Little by little the beautiful complexion underneath comes forth. Marvelous! No matter how muddy, rough, blotchy or freckled your complexion, you can surely discard it by this simple process. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax at your druggist's, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. The result will be truly marvelous.

Wrinkles can be gotten rid of by an equally simple method. By dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and bathing your face in the solution, every line will completely disappear. First the finer lines, finally even the deep crow's feet.

NEGRO FOUND SLAIN BY TRACKS

Body, Bearing Ax Wounds, Believed to Have Been Thrown on Railroad.

Van Williams, 39 years old, a negro, employed by the Polar Wave Ice Co., was found dead at 6 o'clock yesterday morning at Billon avenue and the Missouri Pacific tracks, near a boxcar which he had been using as sleeping quarters. There was a cut on the back of his head penetrating the skull, his left foot was cut off and he had several cuts on the body.

The body was found half an hour after an eastbound Missouri Pacific train had crossed Billon avenue. The police believe that Williams may have been assaulted and thrown upon the track. The wounds on his head and body, they say, evidently were made with a hatchet or ax. Search is being made for a negro who formerly lived in the box car with Williams.

Railroad Man Gives Good Advice

"Several years ago I was under treatment of a stomach specialist for five months, three weeks of which were spent in a hospital. Another stomach specialist told me I had gall stones and that an operation was necessary. I did not want to have this. I lost 45 lbs. in weight. Talking with a brakeman one day he told me of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and since taking it I have gained 16 lbs. and am feeling fine. I am advising others to try it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. TWO HOLDUP MEN CAUGHT IN STOLEN AUTO AFTER CHASE

Shot From Policeman's Pistol Punctures Tire of Fleeing Car—Victim's Valuables Recovered.

ROBBERS, BROTHERS, HAVE RECORDS

Youthful Highwaymen Tell Owner Where They Will Leave Machine and Police Wait for It.

Two youthful brothers, one a soldier, were captured last night after they had taken an automobile from its owner and robbed him.

William R. Hopkins of 2136 Oregon avenue was driving east in Florissant avenue, east of Union avenue, when his automobile bumped over some obtacle. He alighted to see what had happened. A flashlight was thrown in his eyes by a youth and another youth pointed a revolver at him. They compelled Hopkins to re-enter his car and entered it with him. They instructed him to drive into the county, and at a point near Wellston took $1.36, a gold watch and chain and a Masonic charm from him. They then instructed him to return to the city, stopping him again at Goodfellow avenue and Natural Bridge road, where they handed him 7 cents for street car fare and told him not to be a "snitch," that his automobile would not be damaged and that he would find it at the end of the Broadway car line. Hopkins took a street car to the Deer street police station, where he reported the robbery.

Police Watch for Auto.

Police set a watch at both ends of the Broadway car line. At 2 a. m. an automobile answering the description of Hopkins' car was observed going south on Broadway at about 45 miles an hour near the end of the car line. Two policemen occupying a commandered automobile chased the car for a mile to the Lemay Ferry road, where a shot from one of their revolvers punctured a front tire of the pursued automobile. It stopped and its occupants were arrested.

They were Joseph Wysocki, 19 years old, of 5085 Ruskin avenue, a solider on furlough from Camp Funston, and his brother, Eugene, 17, of the Ruskin avenue address.

Loot Is Recovered.

An army revolver and two flashlights were found in the automobile. One of the youths was taken in the car, which the police had commandeered, and one of the policemen entered the stolen car with the other youth. On the way to the station Eugene endeavored to throw a watch from the car. It proved to be Hopkins' watch. The chain and Masonic charm also were found. Eugene also possessed two rings. One ring answered the description of one of two rings taken Saturday night at Pope and Rosalie avenues, where a man and woman were held up.

The brothers have police records. Joseph was arrested about 25 times as a runaway and delinquent since 1913. He was committed to the Boonville Reformatory and escaped on Aug. 25, 1919. Eugene has been arrested many times as a delinquent and in connection with petty crimes. They admitted the holdup of Hopkins.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS OF WOOL AND MOHAIR HELD IN STORAGE

Texas Sheep and Angora Goat Raisers Discouraged With Market Outlook.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 13.—Although more than 4,000,000 pounds of wool and mohair were shipped from concentrating points in Texas to warehouses in Eastern market centers immediately preceding the date the advance of freight rates went into effect, there are several million pounds still being held by local storage companies at San Angelo, Kerryville, Menard and other towns of the Central Western part of this State.

In the warehouse of the Wool Growers' Central Storage Co. at San Angelo is stored 3,000,000 pounds of the spring wool clip and 275,000 pounds of mohair. The West Texas Wool and Mohair Association has 1,500,000 pounds of wool and 250,000 pounds of mohair stored in its warehouse at Mertzon.

All of this wool and mohair as well as that which was shipped to Eastern market centers will be held until market conditions improve, it is stated. Wool and mohair growers of Texas are much discouraged with the situation and very few additions are being made to their flocks of sheep and Angora goats.

New Minister Preaches Here.

The Rev. Dr. William Crowe preached his first sermons as pastor-elect of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Delmar and Union boulevards, yesterday morning and evening. He comes from Memphis, Tenn., and he will be received into the St. Louis Presbytery tomorrow at the fall meeting of that body to be held at Festus, Mo. He succeeds the late Rev. Dr. John F. Cannon at the Westminster Church.

POLICEMAN, HIT ON HEAD WITH CHAIR, ARRESTS THREE MEN

Patrick Stapleton, Once Assaulted by "Bottoms Gang" Leader, Breaks Up Fight in Saloon.

Sounds of a fight reached Patrolman Patrick Stapleton as he passed a saloon at Fourteenth street and Chouteau avenue yesterday at 5 p. m. He found five men in a general melee. When he endeavored to separate the combatants, one of them hit him on the head with a chair. He drew his revolver and used it as a club on the head of Joseph Purk, 21, of 613 Lombard street, who later was taken to the city hospital and will be charged with peace disturbance and interference with a policeman. Stapleton also arrested Irwin Gannon, 35, of 1209 Grattan street, and Fred Lieberman, 35, 2004 Rutger street.

About 12 years ago an assault by Tony Foley, at that time leader of the "Bottoms Gang," more recently proprietor of Campbell's Forest Home, upon Stapleton, resulted in his arrest by Stapleton and a sentence of five years in the penitentiary.

Rail Rates Up Today in Canada.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—The Dominion Government, in an official statement issued last night, declined to grant a stay in the ruling of the Board of Railway Commissioners, which authorized the railways to increase freight, passenger and sleeping car rates. The order goes into effect today.

Poincare Through as President.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Former President Poincare will not consider a call to resume the presidency, should President Deschanel resign. M. Poincare declares in writing to a provincial paper. "If, unfortunately and as seems utterly improbable," he writes, "a presidential crisis supervenes, I will not resume the office I formerly occupied."

CROWD APPLAUDS MUSICIANS' CONCERT

About 10,000 Hear Band of More Than 200 Pieces at Open Air Theater.

A concert band of more than 200 players, picked from the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association, which is a union of professional players of musical instruments, played a program in the open-air theater in Forest Park, from 10:30 a. m. to noon yesterday.

The hour of 10:30 o'clock in the morning was recognized as rather severe test of St. Louisans' love of band music and experimentation with transitory bodies of as many as 200 players often is an unsatisfactory musical hazard.

Before the hour of the concert arrived a crowd which, if seated, would have filled the 10,000 capacity of the auditorium, was on hand. However, a midsummer sun sent many to the pergola shade of the outer rims. Thereafter the vigor and unanimity of the applause seemed to indicate that Conductor Frank Gecks cleared all hazards.

At least, when, toward the program's end, Gecks, in a brief talk, inquired by indirect question the measure of its enjoyment, spontaneous applause swept the audience.

"I believe you would like this to become an annual affair," he observed. Redoubled applause was his answer.

Union's Birthday Gift.

Former Circuit Judge Charles Claflin Allen, who spoke following Gecks, referred to the concert as "priceless." It was given to the public without price by the union as a birthday gift on the thirty-fifth anniversary of its organization. Gecks said today that the cost of such a band assembled at union rates for such a program would be about $2000. In addition, the union paid $350 for the placing of chairs in the auditorium.

The program was selected to give each of the band's choirs opportunity to be heard and for several sonorous ensembles. The opening number was "Semper Fidelis" march, the same choice as that made by Sousa with which to enter Twelfth street with his 250-piece Great Lakes band during its wartime visit to this city.

The swelling volume of the march burst the confines of the auditorium and trickled out blocks away to the ears of late arrivals.

Audience Likes Carmen.

The overture from "Tannhauser," exhibiting the heavy brasses, came next. Gecks here chose as an encore, "Traumeri," to introduce his woodwinds, which later again appeared to excellent advantage in Friedman's 'Slavonic Rhapsody." The trumpet choir was chosen for exclusive organ-tone rendition of two sacred numbers, "The Chapel" and "The Lord's Day,' and in the closing march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever" Gecks displayed his trombones with more prominence than customary in the Sousa piece.

The audience seemed to regard a number embracing selections from Carmen with greatest admiration.

Allen, in his address, seized the very apparent enthusiasm of the audience, for an appeal for more music in the parks. Recently the number of concerts which have been given with public funds in the park has been decreased because of the lack of money. Allen declared that physicians long have recognized the psychological value of music upon community life. References to the excellence of the band's performance were taken by the audience as occasion for renewed applause.

Gecks said today that the band had had one rehearsal prior to the concert. He said that he could not definitely say that the concert would be an annual affair, though he believed that it had demonstrated the public approval of such performances.

Steamer Hostage for Fiume Loan.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A Fiume dispatch received in Rome says that Gabriele D'Annunzio has informed the Italian Government that he will release the American steamer Cogne on condition that a loan of 200,000,000 lire is granted to Fiume, says a dispatch to the Central News from Rome. The Cogne, bound for Buenos Aires, was captured recently by D'Annunzio's officers at Catania and taken to Fiume.

New $100,000 Church Dedicated.

The new $100,000 Euclid Baptist Church, King's highway and Minerva avenue, was dedicated yesterday morning with an address by the pastor, the Rev. Russell B. Whiteside. At the same services $30,000 was raised in a half hour to pay off the building debt. The church keys were presented, in an impressive ceremony, to George E. Egger, president of the church corporation.

Refugees 40 Days in Wilderness.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—Fifteen hundred refugees have arrived in Ismid, Asia Minor, from the village of Kirazli, after wandering 40 days in the wilderness and the uncharted valleys of the mountains at the mercy of bandits. They report having lost 1000 persons by starvation and other privations.

Ivory Garter
REGISTERED U.S. & FOREIGN

For what ails YOUR LEGS

NO sense going through your days with garters that chew and fret and twist your legs. Man, maybe you don't know it, but until you're wearing Ivory Garters you're plaguing your legs every hour of your waking day. Why, if you had half a hunch of the difference that Ivory Garters will make in your personal comfort and peace of mind, you'll throw away those old garters right now, even if you just bought 'em. And you'll count it money saved when you're free from those cords that bind and ridge and chew your legs; those hot, sticky pads that sweat and press your shins; that metal that rusts and rots away the fabric.

You're unfair to your legs if you don't right now go treat them to some real pick-me-up in a pair of Ivory Garters. And if you ask to know, Ivory Garters are made without a grain of metal, without a cord; without a pad. Every inch around is lively, clinging fabric that does nothing but gird the leg at a comfortable, natural angle that holds securely without slipping or sagging.

Ivory Garters wear so well, they get to be a habit. A pair will see the seasons in and out, and never drape around your shoes.

THROW your old hand into the discard and try a new leg comfort deal. Tell your men's wear dealer, "I want a pair of Ivory Garters", and you've found your garters for life.

SOVIET TRADE MISSION HITS SNAG IN BRITAIN

Placing of $375,000 in Hands of Labor Organ Attacked as Propaganda Move.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Times says the Russian Soviet Government's placing of $375,000 of "Bolshevik gold" in the hands of the Herald, the labor organ, temporarily has wrecked the work of the Bolshevik commercial mission in London at a moment when Leonid Krassin and Leo Kameneff, the commissioners, had high hopes of immediate resules.

Krassin and Kameneff, says the Times, had an appointment with Premier Lloyd George Friday afternoon, with the purpose of notifying him of the progress of certain trade relations. But on arriving at Downing street, the Premier's official residence, they were informed that the Herald's announcement that it had in its possession the Soviet gold had entirely altered the situation and that, until explained, it would be impossible to deal with any other subjects, in view of the undertaking given some time ago that while the mission was in this country no propaganda should be attempted.

Activity of Mission Suspended.

In the course of the interview, which lasted for three hours, Krassin assured the Premier that he and Kameneff were entirely ignorant of the Bolshevik offer to the Herald, and Kameneff said he was returning on Saturday to Moscow, where he would immediately consult his colleagues concerning the offer. Meantime, says the Times, the activity of the Soviet mission has been completely suspended.

According to the Herald's version of the interview between the Soviet commissioners and Lloyd George the Premier "fiercely attacked Kameneff for alleged breaches of faith regarding implied obligations not to interfere in British internal policies."

Lloyd George, the newspaper says, charged Kameneff with disposing of Russian precious stones in Great Britain, of being instrumental in giving the Herald $375,000, of having relations with the Council of Action, and of deliberately misrepresenting to the British Government the Russian terms for an armistice with Poland.

Kameneff Denies Charges.

Lloyd George, according to the Herald, expressly dissociated Krassin from these charges, but he intimated that Kameneff could not be trusted and also that if Kameneff had not been returning to Russia on his own initiative he would have been asked to leave the country. Kameneff positively denied every charge made against him.

The Herald adds that the Premier regards the political negotiations as definitely interrupted until he is convinced that Moscow is not interfering in British domestic policies, but says the trade negotiations will be allowed to continue.

Some of the morning newspapers assert that Kameneff will not be allowed to return to England.

ABANDONMENT OF PARADE ON LABOR DAY SUGGESTED

Union Urged Also to Discontinue Picnic—This Year's Cost More Than Total Receipts.

A suggestion that the annual parade of union labor on Labor day be abandoned was made to the Central Trades and Labor Union yesterday at a meeting at 2228 Olive street. Percy Pepoon, delegate from the Typographical Union, in making the proposal, said that parades were no longer held. "Political parties do not parade and there are no more parades on St. Patrick's day," he said.

There also was discussion of either abandoning the picnic for union labor on Labor day or combining the picnics of all union bodies. The Central Trades and Labor Union and the Building Trades Council this year united in a picnic at Forest Park Highlands, while the Metal Trades Union held a picnic in Mueller's Park. The picnic committee of the Central Trades and Labor Union reported yesterday that its receipts from the picnic were $379.92, while expenses were $437.50, a deficit of $57.58. It was stated that most of the attendants at the Forest Park picnic were women and children.

JAPANESE SHIPS ARE IDLE

Government Seeks Remedy for Serious Situation in Marine Circles.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Sept. 13.—Depression in the shipping business in Japan has become so serious that the Government has dispatched officials to Kobe and Osaka, the great shipping centers, in search of remedies. About 80 steamships are tied up at the principal ports of the empire. A prominent shipping official is quoted as saying that "the storehouses are choked with goods, but nothing is being taken out, so there is no need of steamers."

Dedication at Cemetery.

Dedication services were held yesterday afternoon at Memorial Park Cemetery by the associated lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of St. Louis and vicinity. Addresses were made by E. B. Garner of Springfield, Grand Master of Missouri Odd Fellows, and Mrs. Alys Dameron Weed on behalf of the Rebekahs. Others assisting in the ceremony were Ben Weidle, Grand Secretary of Missouri I. O. O. F.; the Rev. Benjamin Young, the Rev. James Hardin-Smith and Hiram Lloyd. A memorial tree was planted in memory of the Odd Fellows who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war

WRAY'S COLUMN

Leonard Where He Belongs?

BENNY LEONARD has moved along to the class where, according to some of his critics, he properly belongs—the welterweight division. This is revealed in the announcement that the lightweight "title holder"—champion under British, not American conditions—has consented to box Jack Britton, the welterweight champion, at Cleveland, early in October.

Leonard has, by force of his personality and wonderful ability, done what all the genius of Packey McFarland failed to accomplish during his day; he has lifted the maximum lightweight limit in this country from 133 pounds ringside to 135 pounds at 2 o'clock—at least to the extent of gaining popular indorsement as "champion" at a limit he has not made in years.

There is scarcely any doubt Leonard—Benjamin Leiner is his real name—is at his best at 140 pounds or over, ringside; and that this figure is a rank imposition on the young fighters now coming up who can and do make the legitimate limit recognized in this country for decades, until Freddie Welsh, the British title-holder, found it necessary to defend his laurels at the English limit and lost to Leonard.

Leonard May Stop His Rival.

THERE is no doubt about Leonard's fighting ability—he's a wonder. It is possible that he may even stop Jack Britton who, after all, is only a slightly exaggerated lightweight and one now in the sere and yellow leaf of 35 years. If these no-decision affairs between champions could be taken seriously, and if the money were large enough, it would even be a good bet that the "lightweight" not the welterweight title-holder would administer the finishing touch in the coming contest.

We would like to see Leonard win the welterweight title and surrender claims to the lightweight. The new New York law, however, which provides that the lightweight class in that State have a 135 - pounds - eight - hours-before-the-bout maximum, has catered to its champion in fixing this limit, and the rest of the States promise to follow the bellwether.

It's rough on Lew Tendler and the other genuine lightweight stars, who are thus extinguished because the champion has been able to force up the limit to suit his own convenience.

Georges Carpentier Arrives in U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.

DELEGATIONS from 25 French societies greeted Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight boxing champion, arriving here early today on the steamship Lalorraine. Carpentier was accompanied by Marcel Descamps, his manager, who has planned to start immediate preparations for the bout with Battling Levinsky at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on Columbus day, Oct. 12.

Many Default in Women's Tourney

Even the National Tennis Title-holder, Mrs. Wightman, Will Not Defend.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—The women's national tennis championship tournament opened here today with a majority of the high ranking players of the country competing. Mrs. George Wightman, the title-holder, announced that she would not defend her title in a challenge round, so that the winner of the tourney will become the next champion.

Today's results follow:

Women's Singles, Preliminary Round.

Miss Eleanor Tennant, California, won from Miss Coronna Wynn, New York, default.

Mrs. Robert Leroy, New York, won from Mrs. Gilbert Harvey, Philadelphia, default.

First Round.

Miss Vinette Willard, Philadelphia, won from Mrs. Barger-Wallace, New York, default.

BATTERSEA, AT 3 TO 1, WINS OMINUM STAKES

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Battersea, from stable of J. Rutgers Leroy, formerly belonging to the late W. K. Vanderbilt, won the Ominum Stakes, the French St. Leger, at the resumption of Metropolitan racing season at Auteuil. Sixteen horses started. The winner was ridden by Frank O'Neill, American jockey, and paid 3 to 1 in the betting.

ST. LOUIS SOCCERITES HELD TO TIE BY GAIS

GOTHENBURG, Sweden, Sept. 13.—The All-St. Louis football team and the Gais team played a three-goal tie game here yesterday. For the Americans, Brown made one goal and Marre two. Bjorkman, Jansson and Brojeson were the Swedish scorers. The game was a fast and even one.

Simmons Wins Net Title.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 13. Kenneth Simmons of Butte, Mont., won the Intermountain tennis championship singles, yesterday, defeating R. M. Scott of Denver, Colo., 6—3, 6—3, 4—6, 6—4, in the tournament held here. In the doubles final, Simmons and W. I. Rehr of Casper, Wyo., won two sets, 8—6 and 6—1, from Sam Neil and D. C. Roberts, both of Salt Lake. Final play in the doubles will be held today.

Veteran Racing Man Dead.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—George H. Estabrook, well known in racing circles, especially along the Grand Circuit, died here yesterday, aged 73 years. He was prominent in Colorado business and club circles. Three of his horses now are racing on the Grand Circuit.

St. Paul Wins by 22-Game Margin

American Association Flag Campaign Ends After Runaway Race by "Saints."

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 13.—St. Paul has won the 1920 championship of the American Association, its victory in one game of a double-header at Milwaukee yesterday furnishing the deciding points in the percentage column.

It was announced today that a postponed game with Minneapolis could not be played off, and this left only 22 games of the Saints' schedule, whereas they now have a lead of 22½ games over their nearest opponent, Minneapolis.

St. Paul has won an even 100 games out of 143 played. The locals also were 1919 champions of the association.

SHADE STOPS AUSTRALIAN WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPION

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 13.—Billy Shade, an American fighter, Saturday knocked out Tommy Aren, the Australian welterweight champion, in the nineteenth round.

Side Is Retired When Gharrity Knocks Four Baser Into Bleachers

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.

FRED MERKLE'S famous "touching second" bone play, hat cost a championship, paled into insignificance here yesterday in the game between Washington and the White Sox. The result was not as disastrous as in the Cubs-Giants affair, however, for Washington won the game.

Yesterday's play was the cause of tremendous uproar, and protests, but the umpires stood on the dcision, which deprived the Senators of two additional runs and reduced Gharrity's home run to a two-bagger.

Ellerbe had reached first base via an error in the fourth inning and two men were out. Gharrity came up and soaked the ball over Jackson's head into the bleachers. Ellerbe mistook the yells of glee from the bleachers as an indication that Jackson had speared the fly, thus retiring the side, so he doubled in his tracks after rounding third base and started for his position at short.

Meanwhile, Gharrity, trotting around the circuit, passed Ellerbe, thus automatically putting himself out under the rule which imposes that penalty for passing a preceding base runner who had not already been put out. Both umpires saw the play and simultaneously called Gharrity out, thereby causing the entire Washington team to spill vast quantities of hot air. They argued that since the ball was out of bounds it made no difference if Gharrity did pass Ellerbe; but the decision stood.

A. A. A. Nine to Play Overlands For City Title

Rivals in Final Qualify by Beating Braus and Tates in Semifinal Round.

Triple A and the Overlands yesterday were returned the winners in the semi-final games in the Municipal Baseball Association championship series and, as a result, will start a three-game series to decide the city title winner, probably next Saturday. Triple A nosed out the Alpen Braus, 7—6, yesterday, while the Overlands blanked the Tates, 3—0.

A crowd estimated at 10,000, the largest that ever witnessed a local elimination, was present at Fairground.

Of the two clashes yesterday, that between Triple A and the Alpen Braus was far the more interesting, with all the fireworks centered in the final frame. Going into the final round, the A. A. A. nine was leading, 4—2.

However, in the ninth inning, "Poge" Lewis, Triple A's star hurler, weakened and the Alpens pounded over four runs, giving them a 6—4 advantage.

Error Gives Winning Runs.

This lead failed to hold good as Triple A put over three and went into the final. With two out, Lewis walked. Dalrymple singled. F. Allsworth also hit and Lewis scored. Allsworth stole and when Wolhstadtler threw wild on Menges' grounder, both Dalrymple and Allsworth tallied.

The clash between the Overlands and Tates was a hurling battle between Walter Roettger and Harden, with the honors going to the former, who is a former Yeatman High School star. Roettger yielded only three safeties and fanned 15 batters. Two runs in the third proved enough to win for Roettger.

Rodovre Abeken announced yesterday that more seats would be erected for the final series.

WILES-CHIPMANS RETAIN LEAD IN M.-I. CIRCUIT

The Wiles-Chipmans, with Ebmeyer up, yesterday shut out Tricity, 9—0, and retained the lead in the Missouri-Illinois Trolley League. Ebmeyer hurled great ball, allowing only two safeties. His mates found Fehringer for nine raps. In the other contests, the Ben Millers defeated the Maxwells, 7—3; Belleville nosed out East St. Louis, 4—3, and Dupo won from Collinsville, 5—4.

The standings:

CLUB.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Wiles-Chipmans	13	5	.722
Belleville	14	6	.700
Dupo	11	9	.550
East St. Louis	10	8	.556
Collinsville	10	9	.526
Tri-City	10	9	.526
Ben Millers	4	13	.235
Maxwells	3	16	.158

St. Paul Team Winner.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 13.—The Northern Pacifics of St. Paul yesterday won the Western Amateur Baseball Association's championship by defeating the Glass Blocks of Duluth, Minn., 3 to 1, and the Northeast Merchants, Minneapolis, 2 to 1.

Argentina Ties Uruguay.

EVINA DEL MAR, Chile, Sept. 13.—Argentina and Uruguay played a tie game at one goal apiece in the second game of the South American football championship tournament here yesterday. Saturday, in the first game, Brazil defeated Chile, 1 to 0.

Two Surprises in Park Golf Event

Semifinals in the annual Municipal golf championship tournament will bring together L. J. Hamel and George Koob in the upper bracket, while Eddie Held and Frank Lynch will meet in the lower pairings.

Third-round play yesterday was productive of a couple of upsets in form. The 1-up victory of Hamel over Fred Conway was not expected, as Hamel's game has taken a decided falling off this year, while Conway is recognized as one of the real sterling shooters of the park club.

Eddie Held's demise of Frank Pep was also unlooked for. Pep shoots a stronger and more consistent game, although the youthful Eddie is coming rapidly. Yesterday, Pep had a number of bad holes on the outward trip and couldn't get onto his game. Held, with an 2, shot consistent golf.

George Koob came through with a 2 and 1 win over Vincent Nettler, getting medal honors for the day with a 78. Netteler got off to a lead, winning the first and third holes, and Koob could not even the count until the ninth green. On the return journey he was never down.

Miss Virginia Pep reached the final of the women's municipal title tournament by defeating Miss Julia Aitken, 3 up and 2. Sunday she will meet Mrs. R. J. Kohn in the title play.

Yesterday's results follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP CLASS, SECOND ROUND.

L. J. Hamel defeated Fred Conway, 1 up.

George Koob defeated Vincent Netteler, 2 and 1.

Eddie Held defeated Frank Pep, 1 up.

'TIS TOUGH.

The tired business man has a tough row to hoe. Due to the pressing demands on his time he can scarcely spend more than three or four hours every afternoon on the links.

And just as he is leaving the office at 2 p. m. for the day some pesky stenographer is liable to stop him and ask him to sign a letter.

The only wonder is that the t. b. m. hasn't struck for shorter hours and larger dividends.

"Nebraska Coach Has a Hard Task to Tackle." Head line. Why doesn't he let one of the tackles tackle it?

GOOD WORK.

The Philadelphia police department has barred Harry Wills and Sam McVey from future appearances in the local ring on account of alleged stalling. The worm personified in the long-suffering public shows signs of turning.

The worm, however, is a glutton for punishment and forgetting the hook on which it was impaled, soon returns for more.

The record for fasting stands at 45 days. Pretty fast record, considering there were no stakes.

President McCarthy of the Pacific Coast League has suspended Bill Rumler for five years. Practically a life sentence, baseballically speaking.

A nifty bit of team work, that,
If you know what I mean.

FORT WORTH CAPTURES TEXAS LEAGUE PENNANT

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 13.—The 1920 season of the Texas League closed with yesterday's games, Fort Worth having won the pennant by taking both the first and second half of the split season. Negotiations for a post-season series between Fort Worth and the winning club of the Southern Association are under way.

Ray and Vardon Win.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 13.—Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, British golf champions, today beat Templeton Briggs, Cincinnati, city champion, and Al Baumgartner, former city champion, 1 up, on the course of the Cincinnati Golf Club.

Four Mitt Shows In Four Days, on This Week's Card

Three of the Entertainments Have Been Announced for the Same Night.

Bob Martin, interallied heavyweight champion, and Ray Smith, his opponent in the feature bout at the Coliseum, tomorrow night, will work out here today. Sergt. Smith will unlimber at the Business Men's Gymnasium, while Martin is expected to do his stunt at the Lafayette Athletic Club.

Both men appear fit, although Smith is carrying a little overweight. Both men have been boxing regularly for some weeks and will be in good shape tomorrow.

The Future City card tomorrow night will include, besides the Martin-Smith encounter the following events:

Joe McMullen vs. Pete Macklin and Frankie Frisco vs. Young La Blanc.

McMullen and Macklin are widely known (locally at least) as wielders of heavy mauleys and as willing mixers. This should be a hard and punishing contest.

Frankie Frisco made a good showing his last appearance here when he outclevered a heavy and rougher foe in Young Hogan.

Croaking the Golden Goose.

The congestion of local boxing shows promises to result in the elimination of one or more clubs ere long. This week four entertainments have been announced: The Future City, the National Sporting Club, the St. Louis Athletic Association and the Lafayette A. C., respectively.

This city has not a sufficiently large fight following to permit of anything like that.

The next best card to the Martin-Smith bout is that of the St. Louis A. A., scheduled to take place in the open air at the Battery A drill yard. It's feature event is an eight-round go between Jack Lawler and Kid Bandy.

Lawler has been gaining some prestige about the country in bouts against high-class men. The Australian, Llew Edwards, gave him a boxing lesson at Milwaukee recently, it appears.

Lawler has appeared two or three times here and seems to have more class than Bandy, although he has some grave faults that will prevent him from being a top-notcher, at least under St. Louis rules. Bandy is a rugged, hard hitter who can give and take, and the match, therefore, ought to be one of the best held under the auspices of this club.

The end of the outdoor season is at hand, but, as the South Broadway A. C. is expected to open, there is little chance that competition will be reduced except through the process of elimination.

Kabakoff to Come Back.

The National Sporting Club's show at the First Regiment Armory is also of unusual class, in the matter of its feature event. Harry Kabakoff, at one time considered the leading St. Louis boxer, and whose last important contest was a hummer with Young Chaney at Detroit, will oppose Harry Fleming, a tough Tulsa product.

The appearance of Kabby in the four-round game is taken to mean an effort to begin at the bottom and box himself back into popular favor. Kabakoff is still too young to be counted out, as he is only 22 years old or less.

SOME LEADERS FAVOR ORDERING ANTHRACITE MINERS TO WORK

By the Associated Press.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Leaders of districts 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, meeting in Hazleton today, are reported to be in favor of adopting a policy of ordering all union workers back to their places. Such a step, it was said, however, will not be taken without a bitter fight among the union chieftains. Back of the reported plan to resume operations, it was said by some leaders, is the hope of the organization officials to prevail upon President Wilson to reopen the wage case.

They believe that if all men return and show a willingness to abide by their written contracts there is the chance that the President will look upon such action as other than a defiance of the Government and consent to bring the Scale Committee of operators and miners into a new conference. There was little change in the general mining situation today.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS FAVOR NEW CHURCH HERE

Meetings to Be Held to Organize New Congregation for Old Branch of Denominations.

A series of meetings in St. Louis to organize a Cumberland Presbyterian congregation is being planned. The Cumberland Presbyterians formed a separate denomination until a few years ago, when a merger was affected with the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., known as the Northern Presbyterian Church. The courts upheld this merger, as conveying the church buildings, schools and publishing house of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church to the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., but a large body of the members have refused, on doctrinal grounds, to transfer their membership in accordance with the terms of the merger.

These persons have restored the Cumberland Church, and have built new church edifices and a new publishing house. There are a number of the former Cumberland members in St. Louis who have remained out of the Presbyterian Church, and an endeavor will be made to learn whether the number is sufficient to build up a new Cumberland Church here. The proposed meetings are to be conducted by the Rev. James W. McLesky of Memphis and his father, the Rev. Dr. W. H. McLeskey of Nashville. The place and the exact time have not been determined.

MAX GREENBERG AND 3 OTHERS ARE RELEASED

Men Found Guilty of Theft From Interstate Shipment Return to City From Leavenworth.

SENTENCED IN 1917 TO SERVE 5 YEARS

Four Were Convicted on Evidence of Watchman Who Told of Hearing Conversation About "Money."

Max Greenberg, Ben Milner, Edward Powers and William Henfling have returned to St. Louis after being released Saturday from the Leavenworth Penitentiary on a commutation of sentence granted by President Wilson. They were found guilty in Danville, Ill., Sept. 17, 1917, on charges of theft from intenced to five years in the penitentiary.

A dispatch from Washington today said the commutation, ending the term of imprisonment at once, did not restore the voting privilege as would a pardon. The case was reviewed by Assistant Attorney General Stewart and his recommendation was concurred in by Attorney-General Palmer. The Washington dispatch said that an active part in the men's behalf was taken by Senator Reed and Congressman Igoe.

James E. Carroll, now United States District Attorney in St. Louis, was counsel for the prisoners in their effort to gain their freedom. He did not defend them at their trial. Carroll formerly was law partner of Congressman Igoe.

The men had served only a short time in prison. After their conviction they were taken to Leaconworth Sept. 23, 1917, but were released on a bond a month later, after perfecting their appeal to the Seventh District Appellate Court in Chicago. They remained free until March 23 of this year, when the Court of Appeals sustained the verdict of the lower court.

Watchman's Testimony Convicted.

District Attorney Carroll today said the conviction of the four men at Danville was due mainly to the testimony of Gilbert Fall, a railroad watchman in East St. Louis, where the boxcar theft was committed. Fall, he said, testified that he overheard a man alleged to have been an associate of the four prisoners talking about the robbery.

One of the questions put to Fall, according to Carroll, was "What did you hear this man say he did with the rest of the money realized from the robbery?" Fall's answer was: "He said he gave it to the rest of the boys."

Carroll said that after filing their appeal the four defendants heard that Fall had made a statement to Department of Justice agents that he was not certain that Greenberg, Milner, Powers and Henfling had any connection with the robbery. Carroll then obtained a statement from Fall that he had never said or intended to say at the trial that he knew the four men were participants in the robbery.

Recommended Pardon.

Carroll went to Washington last winter and laid the record of the case before the Federal Pardon Board, which recommended to the President that a pardon be granted. This action, according to Carroll, was taken because of the showing of the record that there was no direct evidence at the trial to show that the four men took part in the robbery.

At the time of their conviction by the Federal Court, Greenberg and Milner were awaiting trial in St. Louis on misdemeanor charges of attempted third-degree arson. They were accused of having been "torches" in an alleged arson conspiracy and to have been implicated in the attempt to burn the plant of the Christen Bellows Works, 121 Dock street, in September, 1915. Julius Bersch, an insurance agent, was convicted of complicity in the arson conspiracy and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

The arson cases against Greenberg and Milner were twice tried and in each instance the jury failed to agree. The cases were continued generally and Greenberg and Milner were discharged Dec. 15, last.

William Henfling, one of the pardoned men, was arrested March 15, 1919, and, with Abe Goldfeder, was charged with stealing 18 barrels of whisky from the Riesmeyer Distilling Co. Goldfeder was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and is out on bond pending a motion for a new trial. The case against Henfling was nolle prossed June 8 last, the stated reason being that Henfling was serving a five-year Federal penitentiary sentence.

FOREIGN BORN VOTERS TO CAMPAIGN FOR COX

Organization Representing 14 Nationalists Oppose Harding's League Stand.

Members of the Executive Committee of the National Foreign-Born Voters' League, organized four years ago and including 14 nationalities, will meet tonight at the office of Gus V. R. Mechin, president, at 810 Chestnut street, to complete plans for a campaign in behalf of Gov. Cox for President.

Mechin said today that the league had indorsed Cox because all of the 14 nationalities represented in it want a League of Nations, which they feel the Republicans are opposed to giving them, and because of the pronounced German friendliness toward Harding as the Republican nominee.

All of the nationalists in the Foreign-Born Voters' League were allies in the recent war, and Mechin said they resent the declarations of persons of German parentage against the administration, in their fight upon Cox, that they were deprived of their rights in the United States during the war.

Mechin said that he had read published dispatches from Berlin and New York expressing this German attitude and that the Germans had announced a plan to form German societies throughout the country to work for Harding. He said that the nationalities represented in the Foreign Born Voters' League do not want to see another German-American Alliance and, while perfectly willing to forget the war if the Germans do, they intend to watch every move the Germans make.

He said that a vigorous campaign will be waged in St. Louis and vicinity for Cox and a League of Nations, with meetings to be addressed by speakers in both English and the foreign languages spoken by members of the league. He said there are 18,000 to 20,000 members of the nationalities in the league in St. Louis.

The organization also plans to establish Americanization schools in the neighborhoods occupied by the foreign-born citizens, Mechin said.

Hears From Brother After 52 Years.

HANCOCK, Md., Sept. 13.—Receiving a letter from her eldest and only living brother, Johnson Bowles, whom she thought to have died, was the experience of Mrs. Rosa Bowles Dawson. Her brother, who is a veteran of the Civil War, coming out of the conflict with only a slight wound, is spending his last years at the Veterans' Home at Napa, Cal. On the western frontier he figured as an Indian fighter. Mrs. Dawson had not heard from her brother for 52 years.

292,000 MORE DEATHS THAN BIRTHS IN FRANCE IN 1919

In Same Period England Showed Excess of Births Over Deaths of 277,000, Germany 69,000.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—France is again intensely alarmed over its rapidly decreasing birthrate. The Journal Official has just announced that during 1919 the deaths exceeded the births by 292,000. If this continues the French race wil cease to exist in a few generations. It was a better showing, however, than in 1918, when the deaths exceeded the births by nearly 390,000. This exceptionally low birthrate was caused by the high cost of living and the loss of young men in the war.

In the same period England showed an excess of births over deaths of 277,000, and Germany had an excess of 69,000. This proves that England is now increasing in population at a faster rate than Germany, whose population is practically stationary. France finds some comfort in this. Brittany, Alsace-Lorraine and one of the provinces in the Pyrennes shows that the loss has been especially heavy in those provinces. This is true of the large cities. The Chamber of Deputies is considering new plans to encourage large families.

UNIVERSITY CITY MAYOR TO BE INAUGURATED TOMORROW NIGHT

Warren F. Flynn, Chosen at Special Election Last Tuesday, to Take Over City's Affairs.

Warren T. Flynn, Mayor-elect of University City, will be inaugurated at the city hall in University City at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. He was Tuesday to fill out the unexpired term of Mayor August Heman, who died July 3 last, and which ends next April.

It is planned to have the six members of the City Council present when Flynn is escorted into the Council Chamber by members of the Flynn-for-Mayor Club to be sworn in and to take over the municipal affairs from Acting Mayor W. W. Butts, a member of the Council.

Flynn then is to speak from the balcony on the Delmar boulevard side of the city hall to citizens of University City. A number of women also will speak, as women cast their first votes in University City at the election in which Flynn was chosen. There also will be a band.

MISSOURI COUNTY JUDGES TO MEET IN ST. LOUIS

Gathering to Discuss Finance Legislation at Call of Gov. Gardner to Be Thursday and Friday.

Legislation to remedy financial difficulties by many counties in Missouri will be the principal subject to come before the County Judges of the State in their meeting here Thursday and Friday of this week, in response to the call of Gov. Gardner.

This conference was called at the request of Oscar W. Hackworth, presiding Judge of the County Court of Wayne County, who has assurances from 290 of the 342 County Judges that they will attend.

Many of them already had planned to be here Thursday and Friday, to attend the meeting of the Missouri Good Roads Federation, which will complete its campaign plans in behalf of the $60,000,000 bond issue for a state-wide system of hard surface roads.

It is expected that the Judges will form a permanent association to enable them to make united suggestions to the Legislature on matters affecting administration of the counties.

Buffalo

Petey, listen hard:

When it's your good luck to butt into Buffalo, go to that store on Ellicott square where the dark haired clerk slips out Camels with both hands—plus a tank of talk on the side!

your's is Camels!

The thing that tickled me most was his sureness that I was after Camels! As soon as I had my coin on the counter and before I could say a word, he flashed me a package of Camels! When I asked him how he knew I wanted Camels he took a pull on his laugh stock and soaked me with this:—"Can't tell you old mayonnaise—I'm dressing!"

After he had waited on several other men who drew their Camels like I did, this salesman said:—"For a fact, most men here smoke Camels. They hit the popular taste! Camels have the right body and the right mildness and the right flavor. They're all right!"

And, Pete—he added this without a stutter:—"The more I see of the world and the more I learn about cigarettes, the more respect I have for Camels and Camels quality! I don't believe a better cigarette could be made at any price!" And, Pete—oh, Pete—listen to this gem: "And it's an odds on bet I'm a good judge. I've tried 'em all—and my taster is the jury box!"

The Jury box!

If that isn't a swell line of Camel talk I'll sell my shoes! But, Peter, that salesman is right! It's my belief that no cigarette in the world can be favorably compared with Camels—they're so smooth and mellow and delightful!

I'm herewith slipping between the sheets, old book. So, you tell 'em the rest—you're full of knowledge!

Sincerely
Shorty

18 HURT IN SUNDAY MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Man's Skull Fractured When Car Hits Bump and Overturns on Viaduct.

Eighteen persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents yesterday afternoon and evening.

Gas Thaler, 39, of 2724 Armand place, driving an automobile north on Minnesota avenue at Elwood street, at noon, struck a bicycle ridden by Edwin Healey, 13, 305A West Fillmore street. The boy's right leg and right elbow were fractured.

George Stourton, 41, of 4520 Wichita street, driving an automobile south over the Twenty-first street viaduct at 1:15 p. m., struck a bulge in the pavement with such force that the car was overturned. Stourton was pinned beneath it and his skull was fractured. Walter T. Grimmer, 42, 2812 St. Louis avenue, and Charles J. Lutterill, 33, 4533 Maffitt avenue, passengers, leaped clear but received cuts in falling.

Car Overturns in Ditch.

William Daully, 1727 Elliot avenue, was driving up the Calvary avenue hill at 6:45 p. m., with his wife, Florence, and their three children, Florence, Helen and William, when the engine stalled and the brakes failed to hold. The car backed into the ditch and overturned. They were all cut and bruised.

Albert Knabe, 42, 7018 Lindell boulevard, University City, was driving north on Arlington avenue at North Market street, with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Knabe, and his sister, Irene, at 1:30 p. m. He turned out to avoid colliding with an eastbound car and ran into a telephone pole. Knabe's right hand and leg were injured and his mother and sister were cut and bruised.

Truck Hits Street Car.

Lester Cordry, 42, 1710 Hickory street, driving a truck north on Eleventh street at 4 p. m., ran into an eastbound Bellefontaine car at Park avenue. With him were his wife, Rose, and Mrs. Minnie Veams and her daughters, Dorothy, 10, and Maud, 9, 1418 Grattan street. Mrs. Veams' shoulder was dislocated, Mrs. Cordry received a cut on the head and the others were cut and bruised.

Patrick J. Grogan, 29, 5232 Northland avenue, riding a motor cycle west on Easton avenue, turned out at Shawmut place to pass a wagon and ran into an eastbound Easton car which was stopping. He was knocked off and injured.

Mexico Mining Tax Drecree.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—Mining companies owing taxes for periods before Jan. 1, 1920, may have them canceled if they will pay taxes levied upon them for 1920 before Nov. 1, according to a presidential decree issued today. Another decree issued by the presidential office extends the time for filing claims for damages on account of revolutionary activities in Mexico until Feb. 6, 1921.

ROBBERS GET $3905 IN 11 BURGLARIES IN NIGHT

Two Men Hold Up Woman in Her Home, Take Jewelry and Cash.

Two men with revolvers entered the home of Mrs. Dolores McIntosh, 3304 Washington avenue, at 11 o'clock last night, and ordered her to accompany them upstairs, where they took from her bedroom jewelry valued at $150, a tan raincoat and $35 in cash.

William T. Fuetterer, 1141 Lawn avenue, president of the Battery Service Co., 3215 Locust street, reported that burglars got into his office during the night, worked the combination on the safe and stole $850 in Liberty Bonds and $10.50 in cash.

Three negroes entered the saloon of M. Peters, 2027 Clark avenue, just as Harry Peters, son of the proprietor, was opening the safe, at 7 p. m. They waited until the safe was opened and then covered Peters with a revolver, ordering Peters and a waiter to throw up their hands, and took $45 from the safe.

Charles Wagner, 2627 Elliot avenue, reported that burglars took jewelry and clothing valued at $365 and a check for $490 from his home. Neighbors said they saw a red truck, bearing the name of an East St. Louis business concern, standing in front of the Wagner home at 8 p. m. in the absence of the Wagner family.

Andrew J. Sullivan, 3655A Potomac street, reported the theft from his home of 10 $50 Liberty Bonds, $50 in War Savings Stamps and $40 in cash.

Jewelry and clothing valued at $700 were stolen from the homes of Ernest J. Hess, 3226 Magnolia avenue; Albert A. Ebert, 1075 McCausland avenue, and George Obst, 2329A Tennessee avenue, and the room occupied by H. C. Wedekemper, Louisville, Ky., at the Statler Hotel.

Jewelry and clothing valued at $175 and 150 bottles of wine were stolen from the home of Arthur E. Leussier, 3921 Flora boulevard.

Burglars took 600 yards of automobile seat covering, valued at $1000, from the storeroom of the Myar Manufacturing Co., 3026 Locust street, Saturday night.

OTTO SCHROEDER, 31, OF 2811 NORTH Elliot avenue suffered a fractured jaw and severe bruises at noon yesterday when a roll of paper, which he was helping to lower from a wagon at Sixth and Pine street, fell against him.

MONEY AT 7 PCT. AT EVE OF HEAVY DEMANDS FOR TAX

Stock Market Moves Uncertainly, With Rail Shares Reacting.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Money ruled around 7 per cent on the Stock Exchange today, despite the heavy impending requisitions on the money market for Wednesday's ing to the changing activities of proket, however, moved uncertainly. Despite some early display of strength declines alternated with advances during most of the day. There was little uniformity of movement, and prices evidently varied solely accor income tax payment. The stock marfessional traders. Railway shares were inclined to react.

$4,000,000 in Gold Arrives.

"Another sharp decline in sterling exchange carried the rate down 3¾ cents to $3.46, making a total loss of 10¼c per pound thus far in Sept. Exchange on Paris declined with sterling; it is about ½c per franc below the quotation of the end of August, nearly half of that loss having occurred within a week of the gold shipped from France against the Anglo-French loan payment. Four million dollars arrived today and $15,000,000 more is believed to be on the ocean. Cabled particulars of last week's French bank statement show that the gold received today came from that institution's own vaults, and not from 'balances abroad.'

"Some surprise is expressed in Wall street that these gold shipments do not cause recovery in exchange. It must be remembered, however, that the gold now arriving comes to extinguish a debt, and not to establish a new credit. Therefore, it cannot have the effect on exchange, which would be produced by gold imports under ordinary circumstances. The exchange market's present action certainly suggests that the $100,000,000 loan did not provide for all of the October payment in excess of what is covered by credits already established, and by prospective remittances of gold. The natural inference would be that the French Government is selling exchange on various European markets to make up the difference. Even Spanish exchange declined today, reaching the lowest rate on record.

New York Reserve Ratio Higher.

"Before the Federal Reserve system was established the New York banks at this time of year sent out every week to interior banks $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 in actual currency. Nowadays the transaction is effected in a different way; but the result is the same—a lowering of the New York reserves, and the New York banks' reserve ratio was already very low when the season began. Two weeks ago the further depletion of New York reserves was averted through New York's borrowing, from the Boston and Cleveland reserve banks, of $47,500,000 on its holdings of rediscounted paper. In that week the New York bank lost $20,000,000 from its own gold holdings, but increased its credit in the central gold fund $26,000,000. Last week another expedient was adopted; the New York Reserve Bank taking up $45,000,000 of short term treasury bills from private banks and selling them to the Cleveland and Boston reserve banks. The week's loss of $13,400,000 from the New York banks' actual gold holdings is thereby more than counterbalanced through a $25,400,000 addition to its credit in the central gold fund.

"These two expedients have brought New York's reserve ratio to 39½ per cent, as against 38⅝ a week ago, and 38½ two weeks ago. In the same fortnight the reserve ratio at Boston has decreased from 53⅛ per cent to 44⅝, and at Cleveland from 48⅞ to 46⅞. The average ratio for the whole reserve system has changed very little; it was 43¼ two weeks ago, 42½ a week ago, and is now 42⅞. The whole transaction illustrates the propmtness and facility with which a strain on credit can be distributed under our present system. It was essential that New York should be relieved, in view of that district's disproportionately great share in the present week's quarterly income tax payments."

Foreign Exchange and Domestic Money

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The feature of the foreign exchange market today was the absence of bids for substantial amounts, nearly all the buying being apparently on speculative account. Demand sterling dropped to 3.46 shortly after noon, the lowest touched since last March, and material losses were sustained in rates on France, Italy and Germany. Spanish exchange also showed pronounced weakness, falling to a new low record. Austrian was strong in the early trading, when crown cables sold at 52 cents.

BUYING ORDERS CAUSE ACTIVITY IN CURB MARKET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—An accumulation of buying orders over Sunday caused strength and activity in the curb market during the first hour today, but after the early demand had been satisfied, profit-taking sales caused a reactionary tendency, although many issues held above Saturday's closing. There was a demand from outside sources, and insiders also did more than usual. The professional element purchased at the start, but sold at the higher level.

White Oil was in good demand, being purchased for inside account and by the traders, and advancing two points, with a later reaction of about a point on heavy realizing sales. Simms moved up a substantial fraction and then dropped slightly. Guffey-Gillespie continued firm and fairly active. National Oil was higher on buying, following the announcement that construction work on the Tampico terminal and on the tank farm and terminal at Galveston was progressing rapidly.

In the miscellaneous list, United States High Speed Steel & Tool was the leader, being unusually active and advancing to a new high for the movement. The company's plant at Albany, which has a capacity for business amounting to $12,000,000 per annum, is now operating and is turning out high speed tools under a new process at a saving said to be 70 per cent, as the new process dispenses with the expensive forging methods. General Asphalt was in urgent demand in the early dealings but, after scoring an advance of 1½ points, reacted about a point on profit-taking. Indian Packing continued under pressure and again established a new low record. Submarine Boat was fairly active, but moved irregularly. A steady tone was displayed in United Retail Candy and Sweets Co.

The listing of the new French 8 per cent bonds came as a surprise to the curb. Before the official opening there were transactions involving approximately $100,000 of the issue at 101, but these trades were canceled when the listing announcement was made by the Stock Exchange. Other bonds were less active and held about steady.

Mining shares generally were firm with the bulk of the business being transacted in the low-priced issues.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Raw sugar quiet; centrifugal, 10.76c; refined new easy, and another refiner reduced prices to the basis of 15c for fine granulated. The demand is still light, and what little business is going on is in secondhand sugars, which are available from 14@14.50c. Trading in sugar futures was quiet. Active positions at midday were about 5 points net lower.

Sugar futures closed easy; sales, 1500 tons; October, 9.65c; December, 9.55c; January, 9.40c; March, 9.30c; May, 9.35c.

Coffee.

At London—Spot, copper, £9 17s 6d; futures 8 1-16c; futures steady; December, 8.45c; May, 9.25c.

CHOICE LIGHTWEIGHT HOGS ACTIVE ON STEADY BASIS

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Sept. 13.—Today's estimated receipts: Cattle and calves, 8000; hogs, 9500; sheep, 3000; horses and mules, 800.

CATTLE—Cattle run was fair in volume for an opening day and selling was somewhat slow in getting under way. Except for a few odd bunches of good steers and yearlings, most transactions reflected a lower undertone, losses of 15@25c being numerous. Veal calves sold about steady with close last week, a choice lot bringing the top price of $17.75.

HOGS—Choice light and handyweight hogs experienced a fairly active demand and sold at full steady prices, but stronger weights and offerings that were not even and thoroughly finished were generally 10 cents lower and slow. One short load brought $17.35. Fractional top was $17.25, bulk selling from $17@17.20. Pig market active and strong, best weights bringing $17.

SHEEP—Little change noted in the sheep and lamb market. Feeling slow and dull, with best lambs selling from $12.25@12.75, culls at $6.50 and fat sheep at $6.50. Prevailing prices on lambs are 75c lower than the high time last week.

HORSES—Auction supply of horses Monday comprised 400 head, a fair showing for an opening day. A fair number of buyers appeared on the yards early and indications were for a steady trade.

MULES—Several buyers were on hand at the opening of the mule market today, but they were slow in agreeing as to a price level and little business was transacted early. The few odd sales made, however, looked about steady.

K. C. Gets 40,000 Cattle.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—Cattle receipts here today are the largest of the year, according to the United States Bureau of Markets, which reports 40,000 cattle, including 6000 calves, at the Kansas City stockyards. Most of these are grasser steers. The largest previous receipts this year was 24,500 exclusive of about 4000 calves.

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special CVorrespondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Today's market was affected to some extent by the usual absenteeism at the Hebrew New Year. It was also influenced by a widespread disposition to await the results of the Maine election before entering upon new commitments. These two circumstances tended to restrict trading and make the movement of prices of less significance than it otherwise would have been. The price changes were very irregular. Oil stocks were very strong under the lead of the Mexican oils which felt the stimulus of the statement by the Department of Commerce that the oil territory in the United States is 40 per cent exhausted, that it will be entirely used up within the next 20 to 25 years and that Mexico, with only 12 per cent of its potential capacity exploited, promises to be "the oil reservoir of the Western Hemisphere."

Along with the oils, the railway shares were steady and some of them strong, the coppers were firm, and various specialties were from time to time bid up. On the other hand, there were evidences of renewed bearish activity in the stocks of companies which are either known to have had or believed to have a considerable earnings slump and whose business outlook for the next few months is uncertain. Among these were stocks of the leather concerns, some of the shipping shares and one or two of the sugars. National Cloak and Suit, which had begun to break toward the close of last week, fell sharply again, while the independent steel stocks were under pressure on the idea that the steel trade has not yet had its due reaction in comparison with other industries.

The statement by the president of the American Woolen Co. that the lower price schedules were having a very satisfactory effect upon demand and predicting a quick recovery in the woolen industry came in for some attention, as this has been one of the acknowledged weak spots in the industrial situation for the last three months. On the other hand, the idea of impending recessions in the steel trade had a more immediate influence on the trading, and it was the weakness in the steel group which weighed the general market down in the final hour. Republic Steel broke pretty badly, Bethlehem Steel and Lackawanna fell under pressure and Steel common got down below the low figure of Saturday. These declines had an unsettling effect upon the general list without there being any important selling. The volume of business in the late decline was comparatively small.

The Bond Market.

The new French Government 8s, continuing their advance, sold a fraction above 102 today, although later in the session this gain was partially lost. The exact results of the loan should be known by tomorrow. Liberty Bonds were a trifle lower, but their decline was unimportant. The Mexican 5s were unchanged at 42½, at which figure they were down 1½ points from their high, but the 4-percents were up a half point from Saturday, at 34. Belgian 7½s were unchanged at 97⅛ and there was no feature to the rest of the Government Bond Department.

Railway issues were generally strong, with a special demand for the Chiacago Union Station 4½s, whichc sent them up a point to 78⅛. New Haven convertible 6s of 1948 were also very strong, nearly a point higher at 77½. There was no change to speak of in recent favorites, such as the St. Louis & San Francisco and St. Louis-Southwestern issues. Erie convertibles were strong in sympathy with the strength in Erie stocks. Delaware & Hudson 7s were up over a point at 101½. Hudson and Manhattan incomes were strong, getting back to 23, or nearly the high of the current movement.

Erie.

The buying of Erie issues this morning was quite impressive. It did not appear, as similar buying did a fortnight ago, as part of a general bull campaign in railway shares. The strength in Erie did have some effect upon other rails, but it was obvious that these were moving only sympathetically, and that Erie was going up under special buying, presumably for a reason that did not apply to railway issues in general. The street has been talking for some time past that some big road is after the Erie. The Canadian Pacific has been talked of in this connection, but the rumor has been denied. Union Pacific has also been discussed as a possible purchaser to complete a vast transcontinental trunk line. Then, too, the Pennsylvania has been mentioned. These are all rumors which are simply mentioned for what they may or may not be worth. The thing is, the speculative street is inclined to place some credence in them, now that the law has been so amended as to permit railway consolidations.

International Agricultural.

The International Agricultural Corporation report to be made public this week will show that $2,000,000 has been added to the surplus. This sum, together with that already in the treasury, will constitute funds sufficient to pay off the back dividends on the preferred stock, which now stands at approximately $40 a share, and it is the belief that something will shortly be done toward getting rid of this debt. It is said that some sort of a deal may be made which will let the company pay off the back dividends on the preferred without taking away too much from the common and put the junior shares in line to share in the profits of the company. The fertilizer companies are back on a normal basis and are looking forward to continued good profits for a long time to come.

$4,000,000 in Gold Arrives.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Another installment of $4,000,000 in gold from France arrived on LaLorraine, making a total of approximately $20,000,000 in gold shipped here by France to be applied to her half share of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan maturing Oct. 15. It is understood that the French Government will send to this country a total of not less than $50,000,000 in gold.

COTTON OPENING WEAK; DECLINE INTO LOW GROUND

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The weak showing of Liverpool, reports of favorable weather in the South and the unfavorable labor situation at home and abroad seemed responsible for an active selling movement in the cotton market early today. The opening was weak at a decline of 25 to 58 points, which was rather better than due on the cables, and active months soon sold some 57 to 65 points below Saturday's closing, with October touching 27.93c and December 25.15c, while March and some of the later positions made new low ground for the season. London cables said that Manchester was depressed by the uncertainty of the coal situation and some selling was reported both here and in Liverpool on a private crop report making the mid-month condition 66 against 69 at the end of August.

The market seemed able to absorb a good many contracts after the opening decline, and prices turned steadier on the Western belt forecast for partly cloudy weather with showers. There may also have been some buying on private returns, indicating domestic consumption of 500,000 to 520,000 bales for August, against 503,000 last year, and prices recovered about half their loss, selling up to 28.22c for October and 25.53c for December. Early sellers were buying on the advance, but the South continued selling here, and when the demand tapered off around midday, part of the improvement was lost, with active months showing net losses of 40 to 55 points early in the afternoon.

Trading was less active during the early afternoon and fluctuations were rather irregular with active months ruling about 35 to 70 points net lower. October contracts were relatively easy under scattering liquidation, selling at 27.80c, or 70 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed steady: October, 27.95c; December, 25.45c; January, 24.15c; March, 23.45c; May, 23c.

HIGH GRADE BONDS—
Secure Safety and
7½ to 8½%
FOR THE COMING YEARS

We will be glad to furnish a selected list of Gold Notes and First Mortgage Bonds, giving description, rate of interest and YIELDING up to 8½%.

This list includes such 7% issues as Armour & Co., United States Rubber, Simmons Hardware Co., Laclede Gas Co. (St. Louis), Union Electric Co. (St. Louis), Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Goodrich Rubber Co., and Belgian Government 7½% and French Government 8% Bonds.

WHY ACCEPT LESS THAN
ON YOUR MONEY?

Take advantage of the present Market:

It is often better to sell 4% or 5% Bonds at a discount in order to buy High Income Bonds today and put your money to work at 7½ to 8½%, than to hold the Low Income Bonds until maturity and lose $30 to $40 a year in Income.

For example—a loss in income of 3% or 4% a year on $1000 means a loss of $300 or $400 in ten years.

NOTE—We will Accept at Par and Interest
Anglo-French 5% Bonds In Exchange for Other Bonds

Other similar BONDS maturing in six months to one year will also be accepted (subject to our approval) in exchange for other securities.

TALK OF LARGE EXPORT TRADE SENDS WHEAT UP

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—There was further buying of wheat futures by houses with export connections, and this led to talk of big export business and brought in buying orders from the "tailers on." The selling pressure early was mainly hedging by Northwest interests, but they soon got rid of their wheat and thereafter the offerings were rather small. During the last hour profit-taking caused prices to react. Export bids were a little out of line today. They were based on Saturday's closing premium, but the market today was relatively ½c to 1c better. Shipping sales were 5000 bu. The market closed 1⅝c to 2¼c up. Dec. at $2.49@¼, and March $2.44.

Country Buys Corn.

Corn was easy at the start, but heavy commission-house buying developed, much of it for country account. Late in the session the market lost much of its gain on realizing sales. The weekly forecast was for frost in the north and west portions of the Mississippi Valley, and this inspired some buying. The daily forecast is for mild weather over the corn belt for some time. Cash corn was 1c to 2c higher, with shipping sales of 16,000 bu. Country offerings to arrive were heavy, with 200,000 bu. booked. The market closed ⅝c to 2⅝c up; Sept. $1.40⅛@¼; Dec. $1.19⅛@⅜, and May $1.17⅛@¼c.

Oats Market Dull.

Oats were dull. The market was slightly higher early, but the close was easy. Locals pressed the selling side. Cash oats were 1c lower under moderate receipt. Eastern demand was slow with shipping sales reported at 60,000 bu. The market closed unchanged to ⅛c up, Sept. 63½c; Dec. 65¾@65⅞, and May 69c.

Provisions had a firm tone. The advance in hogs and buying of lard by the packing interests were factors. Realizing caused the market to weaken at the finish. Pork closed 10c to 20c up; lard 7c to 17½c lower and ribs off 7½c.

Kansas Starts Corn Cutting.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13.—Corn cutting has started in the southwest part of the State, says the weekly crop report issued today by the State Department of Agriculture. In other parts of the State, however, the corn is in need of warm, ripening weather and in the northern counties some anxiety is felt lest a frost occur before the corn has entirely matured, the report says.

PRICES TEND HIGHER IN LOCAL GRAIN MARKET

The grain market closed with prices on a higher basis, on the Merchants' Exchange today. The cash grains also were firmer, wheat being 2c higher. Lighter spring wheat receipts than expected was a bullish factor in the market.

A firm tone prevailed during the fore part of the session, but the range of prices was but moderate. New York reported export situation quiet as regards wheat but rye was said to be wanted. North American exports for the week were put at 8,944,-600 bushels. Rain was said to have fallen in Argentine over the week-end.

Possibility of frost in the northern corn belt at the end of the week created bullish sentiment in this grain which was responsible for the upturn in prices.

Receipts today were 363,600 bushels of wheat, including 196 cars local and 107 cars through; corn, 132,600 bushels, including 89 cars local and 13 cars through; oats, 184,000 bushels, including 80 cars local and 12 cars through; hay, 1931 tons, including 1404 tons local and 527 tons through.

Butter, Eggs and Poultry

Following are prices paid today by St. Louis commission houses to farmers and country shippers for round lots. Small orders are usually quoted higher:

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of our loving son and husband, Fred Mottert, who made the supreme sacrifice in France two years ago today, Sept. 13, 1918:

Peaceful be thy silent slumber
Far away in thy grave so low;
Though no more will join our number,
Though no more our sorrows know.
Again we hope to meet thee
When the days of life are fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Sadly missed by parents and wife,
MRS. FRED MOTTERT. (c)

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

A DOWN-HEARTED WIFE.—We cannot undertake to express opinions on subjects such as these.

L. H. N.—A one-cent piece of the year 1857 is worth 2 cents to 25 cents; a two-cent piece of the year 1864 is worth 2 cents to 10 cents.

S. M.—Your question is very vague. We presume you mean the thirteenth of President Wilson's fourteen points, which is as follows: Establishment of an independent Polish state, including territories inhabited by indisputably Polish population with free access to the sea and political and economic independence and territorial integrity guaranteed by international covenant.

A STEADY SUBSCRIBER.—The following is a recipe for hot-water gingerbread: 1 cup molasses, ½ cup boiling water, 2¼ cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1½ teaspoons ginger, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons melted butter. Add the water to the molasses. Mix and sift the dry ingredients, combine the mixtures, add the butter and beat vigorously. Pour into a buttered shallow pan and bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Chicken fat fried out and clarified furnishes an excellent shortening and may be used in place of butter.

ROSE KAIN.—Edward Everett Hale, American author, clergyman and philanthropist, was born of a well-known family in Boston, Mass., April 3, 1822, and graduated from Harvard at 17, and received an honorary degree 40 years later. He was a Unitarian pastor at Worcester, later becoming pastor at the South Congregational Church of Boston. In 1903 he became chaplain of the U. S. Senate. He became a journalist, story teller, minister, historian and antiquarian. A collected edition of his works, in ten volumes, was completed in 1901, but it represents only a small portion of his literary work, as he contributed voluminously to magazines and newspapers and edited several of them. "The Man Without a Country," which was published anonymously in the "Atlantic Monthly" in 1863, brought its author national reputation, and has become a classic. It has been justly pronounced "the best sermon on patriotism ever written." Speaking of sermons recalls the criticism often applied to Dr. Hale's stories—that the moral is too obvious; in general, however, the moral cannot be called obtrusive and hardly interferes with the general effect of the story.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

W. WILSON.—The Judge can parole the prisoner immediately.

J. JONETA.—Under the conditions you mention we think you can get your divorce in St. Louis.

CANTY.—A regular soldier is not entitled to a vote in a national election in this State.

MATCHOLDER.—A father is not responsible for a note made by his minor son without his parent's consent.

X. X.—The lawyer who draws up your will does not need to sign or seal it. A notary's seal, or the seal of a Justice of the Peace adds nothing to a will.

WORRIED.—The landlord can raise your rent after you have your fuel for the winter in the basement, unless he agreed not to raise it before you put in your supply.

R. W.—If you can prove the guaranty on the piano, and it is worth while, you might sue the company. You might also report the facts to the Better Business Bureau.

M. G.—Unless the people are creating a nuisance you cannot compel them to move, but you can bring pressure to bear on their landlord by a petition of neighbors who have been annoyed.

R. T. W.—If the deed to the land was to A and B jointly, probably A can still claim his share of the land, but he is liable for half of the taxes, etc., which B has expended on the land. Consult a lawyer.

SOL.—For desertion from the army in time of peace the limitation is three years; for desertion in time of war there is no limitation on the time in which the offender may be prosecuted.

F. J. F.—In a number of States you can register forms of advertising in the same way that trademarks are registered. If the advertisement had any literary or artistic merit it could be copyrighted.

WEST END.—Retail store keepers in residence districts are ordinarily permitted to have displays of their wares on the sidewalks in front of their stores. However, you might complain to the police on the subject.

B. R. R.—A husband must support his wife unless she has given him good cause for leaving her. If he does not do so, she can get an order from the Circuit Court requiring him to do so. If he has left her without cause he can be prosecuted.

REFORMED.—We do not have information concerning the probation law of California at hand, but we do not believe that you can be compelled to repay the money you took unless the Judge who tried you directed that as a condition of your being placed on probation. You cannot be tried in Missouri. You cannot be extradited unless the Judge revokes the order placing you on probation. We suggest that you write your lawyer in California on the subject.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

FRANK.—We would advise you not to do anything to your ankle if it is serviceable, and the only drawback is the cracking of the joint. Very likely the condition will, in time, remedy itself. If there is an impediment in walking, consult a surgeon.

MISS A. L.—We do not advise the use of drugs in fat reduction; they often are unsatisfactory and sometimes do harm. Depend on diet and exercise to accomplish this. Try first eating no fattening food for breakfast, taking only a cup of coffee or tea and a piece of fruit, and stick to this. In addition, avoid fats, sugars and starchy foods, get plenty of exercise and only barely enough sleep. The book "Eat and Grow Thin" is a useful guide in the selection of diet.

MINUS.—Evidently you are one of, unfortunately, a large number of people who only attend to their excretions when compelled to do so. The bowel can be trained by regular habits to empty itself regularly, and this training should be established and strictly adhered to. Purgatives should not be depended upon excepting to aid in the training at the start. Eat bran bread or bran cereals, and plenty of fresh fruit and green vegetables. Doubtless your fibroid condition contributed largely at the beginning in establishing your constipation by mechanical pressure. You must get out of the habit of depending on drugs and the bowel should move daily, not once in two or three days. Patience and persistence will give you results.

Missouri Chickens to Mexico City.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—Orlando E. Jones, blind chicken fancier of Jefferson City, has shipped 25 single comb Black Minorca chickens to M. S. Tamex G. Cia, at Mexico City, Mex. The chickens were shipped to an agent of the Mexican Government at Laredo, Tex., and will be reconsigned from there to Mexico City.

OUSTED SOCIALISTS RUN FOR NEW YORK HOUSE

Five Who Were Deprived of Seats Seek Re-election—Party to Amend Constitution.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A special election will be held here Thursday, Sept. 16, to decide whether the five Socialist Assemblymen ousted from the New York Legislature last winter for alleged disloyalty, shall be returned with the addition of another member of the same political faith.

Republican and Democratic leaders in the State's lower house have declared that if the five ousted men are re-elected, steps will be taken to debar them or to expel them again after they have taken their seats. The ouster last spring focused on Albany the attention of all parties all over the country.

The five Socialists who were expelled last year are all candidates for re-election. They are August Claessons and Louis Waldman of Manhattan, Samuel A. DeWitt and Samuel Orr of the Bronx and Charles Soloman of Brooklyn. Nat Rubin is the Socialist candidate of the Nineteenth Brooklyn District for the seat vaacted by the death of Assemblyman John Damico. In each case the Socialists are prosecuting their campaigns vigorously.

Efforts have been made by Republicans and Democrats to agree on fusion candidates in opposition to the Socialists, or failing this, to have one of these two parties make no nominations.

To save their Assemblymen from another expulsion if elected, Socialists of the State have announced that they would amend their constitution, striking out several of the articles which were cited in the ouster proceedings of last year as rendering the Socialists unfit to sit in the Assembly. A referendum vote is to be taken by the party on these proposed changes before the election.

Two of the provisions of the Socialist constitution which party leaders say will be amended are those prohibiting members from voting for military appropriations and providing that the party may force resignation of its representative in case he fails to obey their instructions.

Miss Sasse to Speak for Harding.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Nine women Republicans left Chicago last night for Oklahoma City, Ok., where they will divide into smaller groups and make a speaking tour of the State in behalf of the candidacy of Senator Harding and Gov. Coolidge. The tour will last a week. Miss Alma Sasse of Missouri is in the party.

FINED FOR RUNNING DICE GAME

Two Others Are Assessed $5 Each for Playing.

Nick Alcarto, 114 Russell avenue, was fined $25 in police court today on a charge of conducting a dice game in the rear of a poolroom at 809 Wash street.

Twenty-six others were arrested in a police raid Saturday night. Of these, Santo Gioe of the Victor Hotel and Sam Spinello, 1017 North Eighth street, were fined $5 as the men actively playing when the police entered. The others were discharged.

Charles Tetoni, 920 North Ninth street, was fined $25 as conductor of a game of "7½" which the police found in progress at the Young Men's Italian Club, 918 Wash street, yesterday afternoon. Nineteen others taken in this raid were released.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY (Missouri Dental College)
Now in Its 55th Year

Offers a Four-Year Graded Course of Dental Instruction Unsurpassed in America.

This school is co-educational. Thorough training in the fundamental sciences of the first year is given right on the campus, where teaching facilities are unexcelled.

We particularly desire young men and women of broad general education, as Dentistry offers them unusual opportunities. This institution offers special facilities for general training in this profession.

One year of college work, in addition to four years of high school work, will be required for matriculation in 1921.

With acknowledgments to K. C. B.

A bird like this makes a model husband

HER NICE new husband.
STEPPED OUT of the house.
WHISTLING LIKE a bird.
WHICH ALARMED young wife.
ESPECIALLY WHEN.
SHE FOUND she'd picked
THE WRONG package.
AND INSTEAD of oatmeal.
HAD GIVEN him birdseed.
BUT DON'T think from this.
THAT EVERY guy.
YOU HEAR whistling.
HAS NECESSARILY.
BEEN ROBBING the canary.
OTHER THINGS inspire.
THE ALMOST human male.
TO BLOW through his lips.
AND MAKE shrill noises.
A RAISE, for example.
OR A day off when.
A DOUBLE header is on.
OR AN everyday thing.
LIKE A good drag.
ON ONE of those smokes.
THAT SATISFY.
WHICH CERTAINLY are.
THE REAL birdseed.
FOR MAKING men.
TRILL THEIR pipes for joy.
SO LADIES, if hubby.
GOES AWAY whistling.
YOU NEEDN'T worry.
ALL'S SWELL.

WHEN you say that Chesterfields "satisfy," you're whistling. You know—the instant you light one—that the tobaccos in it are of prime selection, both Turkish and Domestic. And the blend—well, you never tasted such smoothness and full-flavored body! No wonder the "satisfy-blend" is kept secret. It can't be copied.

In packages of 20 protected by special moisture-proof wrapper. Also in round AIR-TIGHT tins of 50.

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Send coupon. Make this simple, pleasant home test. See for yourself the results.

We Invite You

To see how really clean teeth shine

All statements approved by authorities

Your teeth are coated with a film. When fresh the film is viscous—you can feel it with your tongue. Later it forms a cloudy coat. It enters crevices and stays. It dims the teeth, and now we know that it causes most tooth troubles.

There is now a way to end it. Write us today and we will send you a 10-Day Tube. Get it and see what it does for your teeth. Learn what film removal means.

Old ways don't end it

Old ways of brushing do not end film. Millions of people know that. Teeth discolor and decay despite the daily care.

The reason lies in film. It clings and hides, and very few escape its damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing—some have grown alarming. And all because we knew no way to daily fight the film.

A new dental era

Dental science has for years studied to combat film. Ways have now been found to do it. Able authorities have proved those methods by many careful tests. Now leading dentists everywhere are urging their daily use.

These methods have been combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions of people have come to employ it. You can see the results wherever you look—in glistening teeth, in teeth you envy, maybe.

A new dental era has begun, due to these discoveries. And these are benefits everyone should share. So you are urged to let this 10-Day Tube show what Pepsodent can do.

Brings five effects

Pepsodent brings five distinct effects. All are apparent, some are quick. A few days' use will leave no doubt about them. And a little book will tell you what each one means to you.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva to digest starch deposits that cling.

The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied at once. This is to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Every application brings the Pepsodent effects. Together they mean tooth protection like you never had before.

Watch these effects. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Compare your teeth now with your teeth in ten days. Then judge this new-day method by what you see and feel and know.

Men who smoke will see a quick, conspicuous change

Tobacco stains the film-coat on the teeth. So men who smoke will see a great change quickly. But millions of teeth have that same film-coat with a lesser stain.

Children's teeth are most affected by the film. Young teeth seem most subject to decay. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be daily applied from the time the first tooth appears. Otherwise, decay is almost certain.

Pepsodent brings to women whiter, prettier teeth. But that means cleaner teeth and safer. The luster comes from constant film removal and the high polish given to the teeth.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

From a Fellow Traveler.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to him who signs himself "One Who Has Traveled Both Roads," allow me to express an opinion—fallacious it may be—but still an opinion.

Our contemporary, I might say, has allowed discontent and despondency to dominate his outlook on life. With an asset, a powerful asset, in his favor—a university education—he fails to appreciate that life is a battle—a survival of the fittest. He bemoans the fact that he must do menial labor when convention cries out that he should not—and, he should not. It rests entirely with the man himself. Is he cognizant of the numerous college men about him who have achieved success, founded upon their trained minds, and that he, as one of a trained mind, should be "up there"—all things being equal and with the proper amount of sand in his makeup?

Does he realize that he is failing to meet his debt to humanity—that same humanity that made his education possible? And, bemoaning still, does he harbor the idea that anyone forced him through college? Why lament fate when that human degree of control has not been exercised? Does not Henley in his "Out of the Night That Covers Me," convey to him at least a feeble lesson when he says:

I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul and the rest?

My advice to our "Traveled Friend"—and I bear in mind what has been said of receptions accorded free advice—would be to change his outlook on the road of life, attempt to realize that there is something philosophically true in, "Nothing is either good or bad but thinking makes it so." Brace up, give the other fellow credit, pick out your own flaws and set about to remedy them. That's the spirit that wins battles and pushes the pigskin over that last yard to a touchdown.

Parole of Dorothy Flournoy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I note in your paper of Sept. 4 your editorial concerning the parole of Dorothy Flournoy by Walter C. Goodson, Acting Governor of Missouri. I hope that you send forth more of the same kind of editorials and criticism. Dorothy Flournoy was present in Carthage while two young desperadoes held up the jailer, and while they and the prisoners escaped, she was caught and held for investigation, and it was several days later before it was found out that she was in the deal. When she was arraigned in Circuit Court she pleaded guilty and received her sentence. The whole affair was a bit of daring outlaw tactics. Had the Acting Governor wanted to investigate the case he could have found out the facts from the Prosecuting Attorney of Jasper County.

J. B. STEINER,
Assistant Prosecuting Attorney.

Telephone Operators' Raise.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Recently the Public Service Commission granted an increase in telephone rates in order to maintain a higher standard of efficiency and better the service. It was generally understood the operators were the ones to be most benefited by this increase in rates. However, it now develops the operators were given only a very small portion of this increase, in fact, just enough to make them discouraged and dissatisfied. At the same time the company is calling upon these girls for superhuman efforts in order that the service will be better, such as to substantiate the increase in rates.

The girls have looked upon this affair with very much interest and after the Public Service Commission had decided in their favor they felt sure they had someone over them who would protect their interests and see that they would get what is justly due them, but it seems that the lion's share goes to someone else.

A READER.

The City Morgue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

An item in Thursday's paper talks of building the new morgue at the city hospital. As a taxpayer, I am very much opposed to that location. The new morgue should be near the center of the city and as near as possible to the present location. I am surprised at the City Plan Commission. The city has plenty of ground around the city hall and could build a suitable morgue which ought to be near the Coroner's office, the Board of Health and the Central District Police Station so when strangers are looking for the unknown dead they could get their information in a radius of a block. No large city has its morgue near or connected with any hospital, must less a city hospital. The morgue should be absolutely under the control of the Coroner and away from the city hospital by all means. Citizens ought to protest against that location.

A TAXPAYER.

OPEN THE BOOKS.

The Senate investigating committee has brought out much valuable information, some of it corrective of earlier testimony and pointing to still more valuable information. But there ought to be no need of an investigation. The committees of both parties should open their books to the public.

As political bodies seeking public confidence and trust as administrators of government, they should be frank with the public. They should come before the bar of public opinion with hands clean of corruption, of surreptitious effort to buy the election.

Both profess innocence. Both declare that they are collecting only enough funds for the legitimate purposes of the campaign. They should prove their innocence by placing all their books and papers before the public. They should seek opportunity to submit their books to the Senate committee and the public.

It is particularly incumbent upon the Democratic committee to show their books. The Democratic candidate for the presidency has made charges of collecting a corruption fund and of corrupt purposes on the part of the Republicans. Assuming that his charges are true, he has no right to make them unless his own party's hands are clean.

It is his duty to show that the Democrats have no corruption fund and are collecting no more than is necessary to conduct a legitimate campaign.

It is his duty to insist that the treasurer of the Democratic National Committee and all the agents and officers of the party make public every collection and expenditure of the campaign and every document bearing upon campaign collections and expenditures.

If the Democratic committees make a clean breast as to campaign funds, the Republican committees cannot refuse to do so without confession of corrupt purposes. Gov. Cox and Senator Harding should issue these instructions at once.

Full, voluntary publicity would simplify and expedite the Senate committee's work. It would sit as a recording body to verify the statements and strengthen them with an oath of accuracy. This course would in a measure make up for the lack of a law compelling publicity which should be in the statute books before the next presidential campaign.

Of course, the Senate committee should continue its work. If we do not have complete, verified, voluntary publicity, publicity must be forced by a pitiless probe.

BEAUTIFYING THE BALLOT.

When the women started after the vote it was predicted that if they got it they would pay for it with the loss of their justly celebrated refinement, acquired through aeons of votelessness. Warning was given by men who had become hardened by much voting that the women would get the same way if they were allowed to vote.

But the vote has come to the women, or rather the women have gone after the vote and have got it, and the prediction has not been fulfilled and the warning is found to have been uncalled for. The women have the vote and they are still as refined as they were before. Moreover, the promise made by proponents of equal suffrage that women would exercise a refining and estheticising influence on politics and politicians has been kept.

The prophets of evil have been confounded and the heralds of a fairer political day have been vindicated in East St. Louis. The Board of Election Commissioners, men, selected yellow as the color of the Republican ballot for the primary election. Some may say that in so doing they proved themselves men of discernment and discrimination, but never mind about that. Yellow, as a color, is harsh and uncompromising and unesthetic, no matter how accurately symbolic the Democrats may say it is in conjunction with a Republican ballot. It would have remained yellow to the bitter end and the primary would have been an unlovely thing, if it had not been for the women. They heard about that yellow ballot and hurried around to the commissioners to see if the thing couldn't be called orange or lemon drop or something. What joy was theirs when it was shown to them. "Why, it is goldenrod," they chirped, "and isn't it lovely."

So the yellow ballot became "goldenrod" and the beneficent influence of women in politics, hitherto only a promise, became a fact.

CHANGING THE LABOR DAY DATE.

An agitation to change the date of the labor holiday from the first Monday in September to May 1 has already progressed to the stage where referendums are being taken in important local federations of labor bodies. The only reason assigned for the suggestion is that it would make our holiday correspond with the date observed by workers abroad. The September holiday is the "bosses' Labor day," advocates of the new date say. "Let's have labor's Labor day on May 1."

Just what is meant by "bosses' Labor day" is not clear. Not the only objection to May 1 is that it is associated with all sorts of extremist action, including violence, in some European countries. In most of our industrial centers the season on that date is not as far advanced as in many parts of Europe and the change might be expected to bring greater handicaps in disagreeable weather than the present date. Undoubtedly one reason for the holiday's rapid growth in popularity is that it comes midway between Independence day and Thanksgiving day, in a long stretch that otherwise would be holidayless in our calendar. May 1 is too near to Memorial day, which is closely followed by the supreme patriotic anniversary in July.

In all but perhaps a half a dozen states, the first Monday in September is now a legal holiday. The delay and effort that would be imposed in changing the statutes of so many states alone furnish a sufficient argument against the change. It might result in lack of uniformity, with two Labor days, one in the spring, observed by some sections, and a second in the early fall, observed by other sections.

NEW TYPE OF MEXICAN EXECUTIVE.

The analysis Novelist Ibanez made for us of President-elect Obregon was not wholly favorable, and yet recalled some of the strength and other qualities of Elizabethan-age characters. Among the events he helped to shape, the uprising at a time when Carranza might have been replaced by constitutional means within a few months, and the tragic fate of the old First Chief are, of course, blots on Obregon's career, which previously had much to commend it to Americans.

Irrespective of the balance of right and wrong in his record, it is impossible not to feel an interest in a Mexican leader who says that Latin-America's need is more familiarity with the toothbrush and less familiarity with the rifle. Gen. Obregon followed a bloody path to the presidency, but his personal platform omits the usual Latin-American rodomontade about libertad and independencia and declares for summoning the Mexican people to the schoolhouse rather than to the battlefield. "I prefer any day," he says "a good electrician, machinist, carpenter or farmer to a soldier."

This new type of Mexican President is of Irish-Indian descent, 40 years of age and thoroughly acquainted with the shortcomings as well as strong points of his countrymen. He indicates that he knows what is the matter with Mexico and the remedies that should be applied to her ills. Americans are willing to believe that he will administer successfully the proper treatment.

"ALWAYS A CAMPAIGN ON."

"There is always a campaign on where Will Hays is in charge," said Treasurer Upham on his second appearance before the Senate committee, in explanation of the collection and disbursement of more than $1,000,000 by the Republican National Committee between Dec. 18, 1918, and July 12, 1920. And, by way of reminiscence, Mr. Upham remarked that "an hour after he (Hays) was elected Republican national chairman he telephoned me by long distance and asked me to try and raise some money."

A mere sidelight this, perhaps, but revealing another facet of the interesting Republican chairman's character. That Mr. Hays is a dynamic person is known of all. Lethargy flees his presence. Inertia departs when his name is announced. Fatigue and he are strangers. The fervor of the zealot is in his impassioned eloquence. An idealist who "can pronounce the name of Abraham Lincoln to bring tears to the eyes," said Meredith Nicholson once in a character sketch of his fellow Hoosier. He gives the impression, too, of being almost too finely fibered for the hurly-burly of politics; more at home in the cloistered calm of a library than along the broad highway.

But Mr. Hays can grapple with facts and loses no time in grappling, either. Immediately on assuming the chairmanship he called for money. On the further authority of Mr. Upham we learn that, during what was previously a time of profound political peace, when, as Senator Kenyon observed, there was no campaign going on, the Republican National Committee collected and expended more than $1,000,000.

No parallel for such off-season expenditure can be found, even in the days when politics frankly wore the dollar mark. The Whitneys and the Hannas were super-financiers, but they did lay off between battles. It is different now. There was rest for the wicked in the bad days. There is no rest at all for the righteous now.

"There is always a campaign on where Will Hays is in charge."

THANKSGIVING.

WINDS of summer, rain of spring,
Hush your music while I sing
Songs that thrill with happiness.

Winds of summer, rain of spring,
Warm soft winds that thrill and sting,
Winds of summer, slim soft throats
Echo still your tender notes.

When the sun is sinking fast,
And the cares of day are done,
Winds of summer, thus we run
With our tales of happiness.

Out into the garden, deep,
Where the roses red, asleep,
Nod on tall and sturdy stalks,
Whispering down the garden walks,
Flitting here and peeping there,
Comes a maiden, dark of hair,
Shy and sweet, with stately tread,
She holds communion with the dead.

Winds of summer, rain of spring,
Every hour of the day
You have made some faint heart happy
With your gladsome melody.
You have called forth joyous summer,
Bid her bless the fields and wood,
And now the summer's o'er, we thank you
For her joy was our own good.

THE TWO VOICES.

IN the hurly-burly concerning the League
There are two voices heard;
The first is the voice of the stay-at-home,
Who speaks the balanced word.

He declares that the League should be cast to the void,
That it's hollow and harsh in tone,
That we among nations must be a recluse,
And rejoice that we are alone.

The next is the voice of the man who has been
Out there in the battle's hell,
Who has seen the horror and madness of war,
More fearful than mortal can tell.

He says that fighting forever must cease,
Else all that is holy will die,
That the League was proposed for the peace of the world,
And at least should be given a try.

Shall we listen, then, to the windy man
Who winds his wordy way,
Or listen to him who fought for his land
And the dawn of a better day?

WM. G. BOWLING.

Some people are wondering whether we are going to be able to regain our former position as one of the great sea-trading nations, notwithstanding we have the ships as a consequence of the war. We imagine we are, if we can have manufactured goods to send in them to foreign ports. Otherwise we can't do anything with a big merchant marine. We are the world's greatest creditor nation, and only foreign trade can save us from stagnation. Stagnation has set in already at Detroit, where mechanics without work are getting out by thousands. England, which knows more about sea trade than any other country, collected her debts on the continent after the Napoleonic wars in the manufactured goods of conquered nations and sold these goods all over the seven seas. It was that stratagem which made England's merchant marine the greatest in the world. The United States ought to be increasing her industrial output against the necessity of selling in foreign markets. We are beginning to see it, but very slowly. It is a realization that dawns. It does not come up like thunder, as the poet says the sun does on the road to Mandalay; but the dream of reviving our former status as sea traders will go down like a house of cards unless we get into foreign trade. The most favorable sign that we are going to get in is that several commissions are even now in foreign countries finding out what we can sell there. One of these is a congressional committee which is in China. Another has just returned from Japan. The Senatorial theory that we are not a part of the wide world is not very much thought of where it has been thought about.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

EUROPE'S INDUSTRIAL PARALYSIS.

H. N. BRAILSFORD, English Publicist, in the New Republic.

UNDER the pressure of the competitive motive, the victorious allies, crippled if they did not quite ruin the productive capacity of Central Europe. The aim of capitalist industry is not maximum production, but maximum profit. Sometimes the two may coincide. Often they clash. Brazil, for example, has an organized system, regulated by law, by which part of the coffee crop is destroyed every year, if it exceeds a fixed level, in order to prevent a fall in prices. The logic of tariffs is based on the same reasoning. Capitalism does not aim primarily at the abundance of cheap goods. It aims at high profits and great accumulations. A shortage may even serve better than plenty, and its history is full of cases in which trusts and rings have organized a shortage and thriven on it. When the allies ruined or at least paralyzed German industry, they were acting in the spirit of such a ring. For a time, and for limited groups of capitalist producers, these tactics may mean immeasureable gains. To the whole body of consumers in the world, and even to the consumers in allied countries, this policy was treason. It was an irrational, uneconomic policy from the standpoint of the general good. Never before has the shortage of goods, produced by deliberate political sabotage, confronted us with the question "Can capitalism continue to supply the world's needs?"

BLAMING IT ON THE TELEPHONE.

From the Columbus Dispatch.

IF WE accept the opinion of a man prominent in German politics as to the cause of the recent world war, that event offers the most notable evidence of the truth of the proverb "Haste makes waste." He says that the telephone caused the war. His reasoning is that in 1914 communication between Berlin and other capitals of Europe was too easy and rapid; that the diplomats were able to converse with each other, instead of writing their communications, and that they did not sufficiently deliberate before speaking. Had they been required to write old-fashioned diplomatic notes, in the delivery and answering of which much time is consumed, they would have thought twice before they expressed themselves once and, keeping their heads, would have averted war. While this theory does not accord with all the facts, it no doubt contains an element of truth. The haste with which men and nations do things has made them less thoughtful. Circumstances are not weighed as carefully in the balance, and there is often less wisdom in the course adopted.

ADVERTISING THE CHURCHES.

From the Pittsburg Sun.

THE announcement that a Methodist Episcopal church in New York City is to erect a great electric sign on Broadway, calling attention to its service, is likely to cause some surprise. A few graybeards may shake their heads in disapproval of the idea of the church resorting to the methods used by chewing gum manufacturers and theaters to advertise their wares and attractions; they will consider it undignified. It is an unusual departure, to be sure; but there will be far less criticism than would have been the case if the scheme had been proposed 10 years ago. Advertising has come to be generally recognized as a legitimate function not only of commercial concerns, but of all organizations which seek the patronage of the public. The advertising art is almost as old as civilization. The ancients used posters and placards freely to announce games and festivals, and to direct attention to the baths and taverns. The walls of the most frequented sections of Pompeii and Herculaneum are covered with notices, painted in red and black. In view of its antiquity it is curious that advertising has been regarded with suspicion until recent years, and even yet it considered "unethical" by the practitioners of some of the learned professions.

THE NOTORIOUS MISS ANSTRUTHER by E. W. HORNUNG...

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

HAT was at the very end of a season, and Lord Nunthorp did not see his notorious relative again for some months. In the fol- ing February, however, he heard her sing at e evening party; he had no chance of talking h her properly; but he was glad to learn that could find her at a dance the next night.

Well, Midge," he was able to say at last, as sat out together at this dance. "How many posals since the summer?" She gravely held three fingers. Nunthorp laughed consum- y.

Any more scalps?" he inquired.

his was ancient pleasantry. It referred to expensive present with which some young had paved their way to disappointment. It a moot point between Miss Anstruther and noble kinsman whether she had any right to in these things. She considered she had every t, and declared that these presents were her y compensation for so many unpleasantnesses. pretended to take higher ground in the mat- But it amused him a good deal to ask about "scalps." She told him about the new ones. And I perceive mine—upon your wrist!" Nun- rp exclaimed, examining her bracelet; and he genuinely tickled.

Well!" said she, turning to him with the nkest eyes, "I'd quite forgotten whose it was— estly I had!"

e was vastly amused. So his bracelet—she absolutely forgotten that it was his—did not ke her feel at all awkward. There was a lthy cynicism in the existing relations between se two.

he had nothing very new to tell him. Two out the last three had proposed by letter. She fessed to being sick and tired of answering s kind of letter.

I'll tell you what," said her kinsman, looking spired, "you ought to have one printed! You ld compose a very pretty one, with blanks for name and date. It would save you a deal of e and trouble. You would have it printed in wn ink and rummy old type, don't you know, rough paper with coarse edges. It would look rming. 'Dear Mr. Blank: Of course I'm atly flattered'—no, you'd say 'very'—'of course, very flattered by your letter, but I must con- s it astonished me. I thought we were to such friends.' Really, Midge, it would be rth your while!"

Miss Anstruther did not dislike the joke from him; but when he added: "The pity is you did not start it in the very beginning, with young Ted Miller," she checked him instantly.

"Now don't you speak about him," she said, in a firm, quiet little way; but he appreciated the look that swept into her soft eye no better than he had appreciated it six months before.

"Why not?" asked Nunthorp, merely amused.

"Because he meant it!"

Nunthorp wondered, but not seriously, whether that young fellow, who had gone in first, was to be the one, after all, to carry out his bat. And this way of putting it, in his own head, which was half full of cricket, carried him back to their last chat, and reminded him of a thing he had wanted to say to her for the last 24 hours.

"Do you remember my telling you," said he, "when I last had the privilege of lecturing you, that you sang iniquitously well? Then I feel it a duty to tell you that your singing is now worse than ever—in this respect. No wonder you have had three fresh troubles; I consider it very little, with your style of singing. Your songs have much to answer for; I said so then, I can swear to it now. Your voice is heavenly, of course; but why pronounce your words so distinctly? I'm sure it isn't at all fashionable. And why strive to make sense of your sounds? I really don't think it's good form to do so. And it's distinctly dangerous. It didn't happen to matter last night, because the rooms were crowded; but if you sing to one or two as you sing to one or two hundred, I don't wonder at them, I really don't. You sing as if you meant every word of the drivel—I believe you humbug yourself into half meaning it, while you're singing."

"I believe I do," Miss Anstruther replied, with characteristic candor. "You've no idea how much better it makes you sing, to put a little heart into it. But I never thought of this. Perhaps I had better give up singing!"

"I'll tell you when my turn comes round again," said he, leading her back into the ballroom. "I'll think of nothing else meanwhile."

He did not dance; he was not a dancing man; but he did think of something else meanwhile. He thought of a young fellow with a pale face, darkly accoutered, with whom Miss Anstruther seemed to be dancing a great deal. Lord Nunthorp hated dancing, and he had only come here to sit out a couple of dances with his amusing relative. He had to wait a good time between them; he spent it in watching her; and she spent it in dancing with the pale, dark boy—all but one waltz, during which Nunthorp removed his attention from the bow to its latest string, who, for the time being, looked miserable.

"Any more scalps?" he inquired.

"Who," he asked her, as they managed to get possession of their corner in the conservatory, "is your dark-haired, pale-faced friend?"

"Well," whispered Miss Anstruther, with grave concern, "I'm very much afraid that he is what you would call the next man in!"

"Good heavens!" ejaculated Nunthorp, for once aghast. "Do you mean to say he is going to propose to you?"

"I feel it coming; I know the symptoms only too well," she replied, in cold blood.

"Then perhaps you're going to make a different answer at last?"

"My dear man!" said Lord Nunthorp's sisterly little connection; and her tone was that of a person rather cruelly misjudged.

The noble kinsman held his tongue for several seconds. Man of the world that he was, he looked utterly scandalized. Here in this fair, frail, beautiful form, lay a depth of cynicism which he could not equal personally—which he could not fathom in another, and that other a quite young girl.

"Midge," he said at last, with sincere solemnity, "you horrify me! You've often told me of this kind of thing, but this is the first time I've seen you with a fly actually in the web; for I don't think I myself counted, after all. That boy is helplessly in love with you! And you were smiling upon him as though you liked him, too." Nunthorp was touched tremulously upon the arm. "Was I?" the girl asked him in a frightened voice. "Was I looking like that?"

"I think you were," said Nunthorp, frankly. "And now you calmly scoff at the bare notion of accepting him. You make my blood run cold, Midge. I think you can have no heart!"

"Do you think that?" she asked, tremulously, as though he had struck her.

"No, no; you know I don't; only after seeing you look at him like that"——

"Honestly, I didn't know that I was looking in any particular way." Miss Anstruther added, in a lowered, softened voice: "If I was—well, it wasn't meant for him."

Lord Nunthorp dropped his eyeglass.

"And it wasn't meant for you, either," she added, smartly enough.

Lord Nunthorp breathed again, and ventured to recommend an immediate snub in the pale boy's case.

When he had led her back to her chaperon, he felt easier on her account than he had been for a long time. It was obvious to him that the biter was bit at last. The right man was evidently in view, though he was not there at the dance, which was hard on the white-faced youth. Perhaps she was not the right girl for the right man—perhaps he refused to be attracted by her. That would be odd, but not impossible.

That is a woman, through and through, reflected Lord Nunthorp, out of the recesses of a recherche experience. But Midge would most certainly make him care; she was fascinating enough to capture any men—except himself—if she seriously tried; and he sincerely hoped she was going to try, to succeed, and to live happily ever after. For Nunthorp had now quite a paternal affection for the girl, and he wished her well, from the depths of his man-of-the-world's prematurely gray heart. But he did not like a little scene, with her in it, which he witnessed just before he quitted that party.

"My dance!" said a boy's confident, excited voice, just behind him; and the voice of Miss Anstruther replied, in the coldest of tones, that he "must have made a mistake, for it was not his dance at all."

"But I've got it down," the boy pleaded, as yet only amazed; his face was like marble as Nunthorp watched him; Miss Anstruther was also slightly pale.

"She's doing her duty, for once," thought Nunthorp, to whom the pathos of the incident lay in its utter conventionality. "But she plays a cruel game!"

"You've got it down?" said Miss Anstruther, very clearly, examining her card with ostentatious care. "Excuse me, but there is really some mistake; I haven't got your name down for anything else!"

For an instant Nunthorp held himself in readiness for a scene; he half expected to see the boy, whose white face was now on fire, snatch the card from her, expose her infamy, tear up the card and throw the pieces in her face. His face looked like it for a single instant, and Nunthorp was prepared to protect her if he did. But the boy went away without a word.

Nunthorp met the girl's eyes with his. He knew she was looking for approval; he knew she had earned it, by preventing one poor fellow from going the whole humbling length, and he was glad to think that she had taken his advice; but the glance he gave her was very grim. He could not help it. He went away feeling quite unlike himself.

CYNIC'S SERMONETTE.

WHALES can swim at the rate of ten or twelve miles an hour."
At least,
That's what the newspaper says.
And, perhaps, it's right.
But I'm not a whale!
And, for years and years, I've been perately trying and TRYING to rn how to swim!
And, every summer, a different n has offered to "teach me."
And, every time, the cheerful vol- teer has grasped the back of my thing-suit, and held me like a kit- , that the family didn't want,
And said, "Now kick!"
And I'd always kick, and go down d foremost,
And splutter and choke and strug- and sink—and be "rescued,"
And find myself clinging fatuous- around the man's neck!
And I'd be raving MAD—
Mad at myself, and at the water, d at the man, and above all, at rybody who dared to laugh!
And so, at last,
I determined to go 'way off by elf, and simply SWIM—if it wned me!
And, little by little, my courage me, and I reached the point where could paddle around with my feet the ground, and was getting very nceited about it,
When a Human Fish, in a purple k bathing-suit and Titian hair, shed past me, and turned around LAUGH, and to sing out,
"For Heaven's sake! Don't strug- so! You can't swim UPRIGHT! t lie on top of the water and re- —as though you were in bed.
"You CAN'T sink—if you aren't aid.
"God don't make you that way!"
And I DID it—exactly as she d!
And lo, I floated like a leaf, on top the waves,
And pulled myself gently along ough the velvet water, with my pped hands—and swam, and swam d SWAM,
Without an effort!
And it was heavenly!
And suddenly, it seemed to me,
That it's just that way with FE—
If you'll only relax, and stop uggling and straining, and get- mad, and holding onto yourself, clinging to other people,
And remember that you CAN'T k—if you're not afraid—
"GOD DIDN'T MAKE YOU THAT AY!"
"You'll find yourself floating on of the troubled waters
And GETTING somewhere—with- an effort!
And, I know that this sounds like sermonette,
Which is very amusing—coming m a "cynic!"
But "God didn't make me that ."
And, sometimes, the "silver lin- " shows through!
the waters of life seem like
And I HAVE to admit,
That the world's all right!

Coat Suits Have Reached Highest Degree of Perfection

American Tailored Suit Strikes a Happy Medium Between the Masculine English Model and the Feminine French.

BY LOUISE M. KELLERS.

THE tailored suit has attained its highest degree of perfection and appreciation in America, and this despite the fact that its extraction is almost wholly English, its artistic development French, and its adoption well-nigh universal.

The English woman has been content to stick to the masculine lines of the original utilitarian model; the French have gone to the other extreme in markedly feminizing its tailleurs; but the Americans have struck a mid-course, profiting from the severity of the English type and the fussiness of the French, and evolving a style excellently adapted to the figure lines and the more active life of its own women. These models have succeeded so well that now even the French designers speak of the "American suit" as worthily distinctive, and to be kept in mind when they make up tailleurs to be sent to this country.

One hears on all sides of the lengthening of both the coat and the skirt, and one actually sees the former wherever authentic fashions are shown; the latter, however, is merely a thing of relative comparison. In Paris the skirts are said to be making a desperate effort toward gradual and graceful descension; in America skirts are actually shorter than the former American standard, in so far as tailored garments are concerned, and as to width they are narrow in the generality of models.

Certain extreme styles are shaped on circular lines, wide and falling in godet suggestion, with close-fitting coat flared from waist to knee to strengthen the bell silhouette. It may be that a retrogression in tailored models has set in as elsewhere, and that whether we like it or not we are to be transported two decades backward, or the models brought thence to meet modern style exigencies.

The tailormade being basically modeled on the masculine garb, it is logical to find among the new models a suit reminiscent of Beau Brummel's foppish attire. The straight-line skirt is completed by a coat cut widely away across the front below the waist and coat-tail back, which flares gracefully. The essential touch of white is impressed not in frilled front but in a great ruff of white muslin, really the finish of the little blouse that is otherwise not in evidence until the coat is removed.

Then there is the redingote, a riding coat, literally, with wide revers, high collar and frilled waistcoat effect, greatly favored by the French designers, among them Worth, Beer, Premet, and Bernard. Such models have much to recommend them, as they issue from out the artistic and romantic past, associated alike with the heroes and the villains of revolutionary France. The cape-suit is here, too, a bit flippant, perhaps, but contributing a softening attribute to a tailored foundation. Usually, it is hung from the back only, being for ornament rather than use.

Suits built on sacque or lounge principle, or on that of the frock coat, the cutaway, or the tunic, all find representation. In several instances, the tunic is of irregular length, narrow-belted, and weighted with fur. The latter, it must be borne in mind, is emphatically in evidence in one form or another on all the new suits. High fastenings, shawl or "highwayman" collars are ously lustrous satin-like nap, and among other noteworthy features. A few models show three-quarter sleeves, but they are the rare exceptions.

In fabrics there is a revival of broadcloth finished with a marvel- particularly favored in dark blue. This color, as well as the fabric, by the way, seems headed toward a renewed vogue after several quiescent seasons. All the Rodier weaves and their numerous American translations (the long list of velours and duvetyns) are again being taken up for suit composition. Several of the new Rodier fabrics are altogether too fanciful in color and in design for purposes other than waistcoats, facings, and like trimming effects. Unquestionably, we shall see a great deal of velvet, even before the season is fairly started, sometimes embroidered in crude colors, embellished with fur or trimmed with cellophane applique motifs.

Three-piece costumes are very much emphasized in the French collections. The idea is that of the dress with matching coat, and the dress becomes a sort of two-piece effect because of the prevalent use of a contrasting fabric and color for the bodice part. Generally, such triple alliances are inclined to dressy results and have little in common with the more practical tailor-made for average wear by the average woman.

This calls to mind the many attractive coats that have been created as the topmost feature of the new season. In fabrics they are akin to the suits, and this is also true of their fur trimmings, their collar details, and even the sleeve formations. Striped worsteds are liked by way of novelty, and some of the new models boast a series of little capes that are extremely youthful and attractive. Belts are optional, and the same may be said of pockets. The latter we accept now as a matter of course and, therefore, they are not as conspicuously shaped nor as flauntingly placed as in other seasons. Linings may be monotone or otherwise, the former being considered a little more desirable. If one prefers, she may elect to wear a cape affair in place of the separate top coat. The former are offered on new lines, neither too voluminous nor too scanty, and in practical as well as elegant materials, such as satin, velvet, and dull embossed satin-velvet effects.

Because the blouses are now built of materials once reserved for suits and dresses, with the object, no doubt, of giving a three-piece effect to the ensemble, it is proper to speak of them in connection with suits. This season we are to have blouses of velvet, of duvetyn, of metallic tissues, of brocades, of satins, chiffons, beaded nets, and lace. And the overblouse seems to have precedence of the tucked-in-the-waist variety, although the latter has been by no means retired. There are models absolutely burdened with a wealth of embroidery and others that express faith in leather or wool applique work. Those who like short sleeves may indulge that penchant, and for the others there are long-sleeved blouses variously contrived to infuse novelty and charm.

The white blouse will always be in fashion, and there is a distinct place for the hand-made lingerie type, favored by fastidious women. In colors, the feeling is for bisque, dove gray, Nattier blue, brown, navy, and terracotta, as well as certain of the green nuances. All of these are in accord with the suit colors. The dull colors, in waists, are frequently posed over a white, flesh, or tan foundation by way of "illuminating" them and making them more becoming.

Blacky the Crow's Sharp Eyes.

BLACKY THE CROW doesn't miss much. Blacky is one who believes that the more one knows about one's neighbors and what is going on around one the better able one is to get the most out of life, and Blacky lives up to that belief. Little goes on in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows or in the Old Pasture or around the Smiling Pool or up at the Old Orchard that Blacky misses. And it is largely because he has two of the sharpest eyes and knows how to use them.

Now, Blacky is one of those who know that man is the one who is most to be feared by the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, so he makes it his business to keep watch of all that goes on among the human folk who live near him. Every day he visits Farmer Brown's barnyard. That is to say, he goes where he can see what is going on there. Very early in the morning, before anybody in Farmer Brown's house is up, Blacky will sometimes actually walk about in the barnyard, but at other times he is satisfied to sit in the top of a tall tree, far enough away to be out of reach of a terrible gun yet not so far but that those sharp eyes of his can see everything to be seen. Or Blacky flies high over Farmer Brown's barnyard, those bright eyes studying everything below.

This was what he was doing on this particular morning. He had come out of his way a little for the sake of doing it. As he flapped along rather slowly his sharp eyes glanced from side to side all about searching for something new. There is nothing Blacky delights in more than in finding something unfamiliar. His memory is as good as his eyes are sharp and he knows instantly when anything has been changed or moved about. It is a sort of game to him and he takes delight in it.

As he lazily flapped along on this particular morning he saw nothing unusual until he came in full view of the hen yard. "Huh!" exclaimed Blacky, "that box wasn't in that corner yesterday morning. I wonder who put it there. I wonder what it is for. Hello, there is a doorway in one end. Farmer Brown hasn't any little chickens. He wouldn't keep them in that kind of a box if he had. At least he never has."

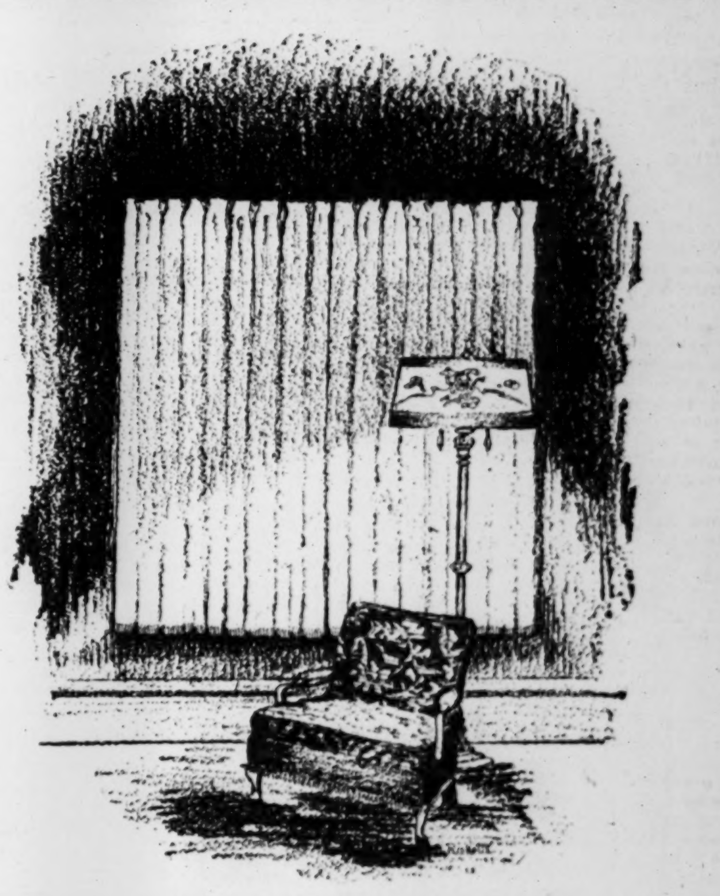
Blacky made a little half circle as he flew that he might see the doorway of the box better. As he did so a funny little head was poked out and as suddenly pulled back. Blacky was so surprised that he almost forgot to keep his wings moving.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Blacky right out loud. "Did I see what I thought I saw, or did my eyes play a trick on me? I certainly thought I saw a young rabbit, and it looked very much like one of Peter Rabbit's children. But how could one of them be in that hen yard? It must be I was mistaken."

By this time Blacky had passed beyond the hen yard. He looked this way and looked that way to make sure no one was watching him. Then he turned and flew back over the hen yard. This time he saw nothing but the box. There was no sign that any one was living in it. Blacky flew to the top of a certain tall tree. There he perched. From Farmer Brown's he looked like nothing more than a black speck. But far away as he was Blacky could still see that box in the hen yard, and he didn't once take his eyes from it.

Presently he saw a head poked out cautiously. All was quiet in that hen yard. Then out of that box hopped a half-grown rabbit wearing a brownish-gray coat. Blacky's eyes twinkled. "It is," he exclaimed. "As true as my grandfather's coat was black, 't is that lost youngster of Peter Rabbit's!"

Blacky took one more good look and then started for the dear Old Briar-patch as fast as his wings could take him.



Casement Cloth

is an absolutely satisfying fabric for casement window treatment.

It possesses precisely the amount of color to create character while maintaining a neutral effect in any surroundings.

The weight and texture of Casement Cloth suggests handsome silk hangings, yet the cost is but a fraction of the price of silk.

It is hard to imagine a home too handsomely appointed for the use of Casement Cloth at the windows, and, still, the moderate price brings its delightful effectiveness and durability within the reach of those who are furnishing only average homes.

Casement Cloth is easily laundered and returns from a proper tubbing with all its original beauty.

We sell Casement Cloth by the yard, or we make the curtains for your windows—and we make them correctly, both from the standpoint of decorators and makers of fine draperies.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

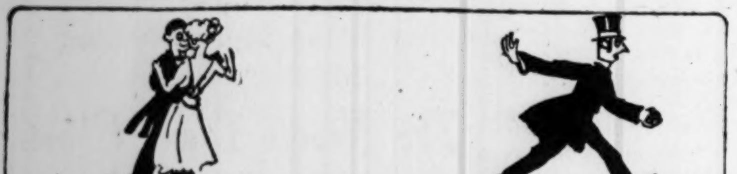
NO HOPE.

When grandma's minister decreed
The minuet a revel,
Which, if persisted in, would lead
Directly to the devil,
Although she hastened to obey,
Her feet she didn't fetter;
She knew that waltzing would display
Her ankles better.

When mother's parson aired the view
That hugging and embracing,
Which those who waltz are prone to do,
Is utterly debasing,
She vowed that she would dance no more
A measure so besotting;
And, her decorum to restore,
She took to trotting.

When dominies of yesterday,
In phrases tense and torrid,
Denounced the trot as too risque
And trotting folk so horrid,
And solemn resolutions drew
With horrified whereasing,
Girls saw that trotting wouldn't do,
And fell to jazzing.

And though the jazz may be a crime
(As moral persons view it),
We know until the end of time
The modern maid will do it.
For while we look at her askance,
We know no way to stop 'er,
Because we cannot find a dance
That's more improper.



LISTEN TO IT ALREADY.

If money talks, this is going to be a garrulous campaign.

What Do You Make of It, Watson?

"Bemused waiting had come to the young man. He watched the livid wizardry of the heat lightning, the swift come and go of the ragged cloud pageantry, whose wark masses above the horizon continued to display themselves against the quiver of repeated blue-white flarings. How weirdly beautiful and strange! Another mystery! Yes, to be sure. Mystery, mystery—by day or by night, mystery ever abides here. A land of astounding caprices, where stern, untamed nature knows nothing of small pettiness, but is always majestical—equivocal, too—a prodigal besides! Only see, for example, what a living gemmery the wastrel has now cast abroad into the night through the utter ocean reach of all this prairie vastness. The illimitable dark, remote and near, is wondrously athrob, not merely with a few slow sparks, orange and emerald, but with an amazing jeweled drift of them, all space, thrilled with them, the unstarred and black blue night pricked full of them—a pulsating wilderness of little lovely fireflies."
